RESERVE BANKS RENEW THREAT AGAINST BULLS

Federal Reserve Advisory Council Upholds Warning as Stocks Take New Tumble.

ALL MEMBER BANKS TO CURTAIL LOANS

Use of Reserve Credit for Speculation Must Be Prevented, Statement of Board Declares.

Washington, February 15.—(AP)—Strongly indorsing the action of the federal reserve board in its effort to restrain the use of federal reserve credit in speculation, the federal advisory council at the conclusion of its two-day session today recommended that member banks be asked directly to cooperate in curbing such loans.

In a statement issued late in the day, the board made public the action of the council. The statement said:

"The federal advisory council, at a preliminary meeting yesterday, made the following minute which was delivered to the federal reserve board at the quarterly meeting of the board and council this morning:

"'The federal advisory council approves the action of the federal reserve board in instructing the federal reserve banks to prevent as far as possible the diversion of federal reserve funds for the purpose of carrying loans based on securities. The federal advisory council suggests that all member banks in each district be asked directly by the federal reserve bank of the district to cooperate in order to attain the end desired.

Is Strong Warning

The recommendation of the council was a surprise in that it went a step further than the board had gone. The communication of the board made public February 7 was addressed to federal reserve banks and, if the suggestion of the council is followed, all member banks in each reserve district will be asked to cooperate with the board in preventing use of reserve credit as security on speculative loans. The board's action in announcing the recommendation of the council also was one that seldom has been taken.

The federal advisory council is composed of one member from each federal reserve district who is chosen by the board of directors of the federal reserve bank of that district. The council acts in an advisory capacity to the board with power to recommend changes in discount rate, to make suggestions regarding discount business and other matters before the board.

The members of the council, all of whom were present at the sessions yesterday and today, are:

STOCKS TUMBLE AGAIN AS LOANS STIFFEN.

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL,
Associated Press Financial Editor.

New York, February 15.—(AP)—Concerted action by banking authorities to force a reduction in brokers' borrowings, reflected in the calling of $60,000,000 in bank loans, a flurry from 6 1-2 to 10 per cent in the call money rate and higher charges on bankers' acceptances and time money, brought about heavy liquidation on the New York Stock Exchange today. Prices of active issues dropped $2 to $12 a share. Trading was only

BAPTIST MISSION BOARD ASSAILED IN CARNES CASE

North Carolina Committee Calls for Resignation; Christie Invites Critics To Face Board.

On the heels of a resolution signed by Dr. J. Powell Tucker, of Raleigh, chairman of the executive committee of the general board of the Baptist state convention of North Carolina, and concurred in by members of the board, bitterly condemning the home mission board for its handling of the Carnes case, Dr. Luther Rice Christie, of Atlanta, president of the board, addressed a letter to the North Carolina official, denying any mishandling or malfeasance and demanding that the critics of the board come to Atlanta and make specific charges in person.

Dr. Christie's letter was coincidental with the compilation and the preparation for mailing of a complete report of the board's action in its sanction of Clinton Carnes' guilty plea and the subsequent sentence of five years which was meted out to him. The material included statements by Judge Arthur Powell, special counsel for the board; W. W. Gaines, the board's attorney; Ernst & Ernst, the firm of auditors employed by the board, and Dr. Christie, its president. A copy of the complete report was not obtainable Friday night, but it was said to contain a comprehensive history of the case and the circumstances which led to the board's final action. It will be broadcast, Dr. Christie stated, to Baptist state secretaries and to Baptist officials, generally, throughout the south.

Dr. Christie Sends Letter.

The sharp letter to Dr. Tucker was precipitated, Dr. Christie declared, when a statement made a few days ago by the North Carolina official, denouncing the action of the board and demanding that five of its members immediately resign their posts, had been officially "brought to his attention." Dr. Tucker's statement was similar to the resolution passed Friday by the North Carolina executive committee.

"I demand," the letter read, "that you supply me with the names of the five members of the board whose resignations you ask as well as with the additional facts which you must have but which are not now in our possession. We have no information on hand which could lead one to the conclusion that any of our members has been guilty of misconduct. If it is shown that any member of the board has been guilty of any unworthiness, we will demand his instant resignation, without pressure brought on us from other organizations."

The letter concluded by inviting Dr. Tucker to Atlanta for the purpose of laying before the board any new information he might have in his possession, and assured the Carolina official that his railroad fare to and from Raleigh would be paid, as well as any expenses he might incur in Atlanta in order that "all the facts in the case, if they are not already known, may be brought to light."

According to news dispatches, the North Carolina executive committee condemned "without reservations" the action of the home mission board in "its handling of the Clinton S. Carnes case."

Board Is Assailed.

The action of the board was characterized as "a flagrant miscarriage of justice," and, a statement declared, "all members of the home mission board who participated in the handling of the Carnes case, having forfeited to such an extent the confidence of the denomination at large, should be required to sever their connection with the board."

The statement goes on to say that the mission board "for several years

Envoy of Britain Says Country Eager For Arms Parley

IS PRELIMINARY TO 1931 MEETING

(Copyright, 1929, by United News.)

Washington, February 15.—(United News.)—One of the most important steps in years towards further world disarmament was taken here today.

Setting a precedent, Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the United States, in an interview with the United News, made public a formal and considered statement announcing negotiations will soon be opened in a further effort "to reach an agreement between the principal naval powers of the world for the limitation of naval armaments."

This statement from the British diplomat, which is believed to have been made only after careful consideration with the British government in London, may well prove to be the most important move for disarmament since the call for the famous Washington conference, as in the new effort all care will be taken to avoid a failure such as that at Geneva.

"It would therefore seem," said Sir Esme in his statement, "that everything points toward an early resumption of negotiations, and, with a far better understanding of the needs of the respective parties than existed at Geneva in 1927, there should be a very good prospect of their being brought to a satisfactory conclusion."

Sir Esme Howard's statement in reality constitutes the first step in further disarmament negotiations and there is every expectation that it will be followed rapidly by a series of developments leading in the near future to another international conference on limitation of naval armaments.

The statement also is expected to prove the signal for important statements by leaders in the principal naval powers of the world, which will keep the disarmament question in the foreground of world discussion.

The ambassador's statement also constitutes the initiative that American officials expected would come from Great Britain to reopen the disarmament discussion following the

MERRITT INDICTED ON NINE CHARGES

J. L. Hamilton, His Alleged Aid, Is Named in Two True Bills Returned by Grand Jury.

Nine indictments charging Alvin E. Merritt, 25-year-old husband, with various offenses ranging from criminal assault to robbery, and two indictments charging J. L. Hamilton, a friend of Merritt, with criminal assault and robbery, were returned Friday by the Fulton grand jury in its investigation of the north side "fiend" case.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin said that the grand jury will continue its investigation of the "fiend" case later as the necessary information is furnished to him by police.

The two men, who have denied the charges, were arrested after the police department had stationed men in that section of the city in an effort to apprehend the mysterious marauders.

A police detective who traced the ownership of a hat lost by the assailant of one of the women and a pair of trousers he was believed to have ripped while scaling a barbed-wire fence in fleeing from the scene of one of the crimes, arrested Merritt, the father of an eight-months-old child, in the apartment he occupied in that section.

Hamilton, who was with him at the time, also was taken into custody. Merritt, questioned about his whereabouts three nights before he was taken into custody, when five women were attacked in rapid succession, told the authorities that he had been drinking at the time and that he did not remember anything except an accident to the automobile in which he was riding.

On three successive days following his arrest, a total of 21 women identified him from a line of other prisoners as their assailant.

The indictments were returned a few hours after the grand jury began its investigation of the cases. Four charged Merritt with criminal assault, three another statutory offense and two others accused him of burglary and robbery.

Hamilton was indicted on charges of criminal assault and robbery.

Len B. Guillebeau, Atlanta attorney, Friday night conferred at the tower with Hamilton and a number of his relatives. Mr. Guillebeau said that he had not yet been engaged to take the case, but that a decision would be reached today.

LINDY ARRIVES AT CHARLESTON ON WAY NORTH

IS LUNCHEON GUEST ON GEORGIA ESTATE

Famed Flier Stops on Coffin Estate for Brief Rest and Hurries Away to Capital.

Charleston, S. C., February 15.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh landed at the Charleston navy yard at 5:15 o'clock this afternoon. He will spend the night with Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully, and take off at daybreak for Washington. The possibility of other stops before reaching the capital will be governed by weather conditions. He deemed it advisable to stop at Charleston because of unfavorable flying conditions today.

In his usual reticent manner, Colonel Lindbergh declined to make definite comments on either of the two major subjects mentioned in connection with him at present—his engagement, and the possibility of his being made an under-cabinet officer.

"I have nothing to say about that," he said in answer to a question on his engagement.

"There is no authority for that. Don't misquote me," he replied to a question about the cabinet post.

Colonel Lindbergh said he is on his way to Washington and New York, declining to state just what he is going to do in those cities. Shortly he will set out on a western tour to inspect progress of the establishment of the Trans-Continental Air Lines, of which he is an official.

WASHINGTON WORRIED AT FAILURE TO ARRIVE.

Washington, February 15.—(AP)—The failure of Charles A. Lindbergh to land at Bolling field here tonight as was expected caused army aviation officials to keep a close watch of the air for several hours until word of his stop at Charleston, S. C., was received.

The field officials kept the night flying beacon light and field lights at full force in the expectation that the flying colonel would arrive at any time. Despite the failure of Lindbergh

S. S. 'DANK' CARTER DIES AT HOSPITAL

Multi-Millionaire Owned More Than 37,000 Acres of Land in North Georgia.

S. S. "Dank" Carter, of Lulu, Ga., multi-millionaire land owner, banker and one of the most prominent citizens of Georgia, died Friday night at a local hospital following an illness of about a month. He was 75 years old.

Mr. Carter owned more than 37,000 acres of land along the Chattahoochee in north Georgia, said to be one of the largest plots of ground individually owned in the state. In addition he had many other properties throughout north Georgia.

He was president of the Lulu bank, a post he occupied since its organization 26 years ago. He was widely known and loved throughout the state and he made hosts of friends.

Mr. Carter made his huge fortune at the place of his birth. He never visited extensively nor lived in any other section than in Lulu and Belton, twin cities, where he was born. It was in Lulu that he began his career, first as a school teacher.

He left this profession to enter the mercantile business and was proprietor of a store at Lulu. Later he took over a business in Toccoa and in 1904 was one of the principal figures in the formation of the Lulu bank. He was elected president, a post he held until his death.

During his mercantile and banking occupations, Mr. Carter was a steady investor in Georgia real estate, and soon became one of the biggest financial figures in the state. He never married.

He was an investor in cotton and his interests in this staple contributed greatly to placing him in the multi-millionaire class.

Mr. Carter became ill about a month ago and was brought to a local hospital, where he died quietly Friday night.

The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Ed Bond and Condon company, where it will remain until Sunday. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

He leaves two nephews, Scruggs Rogers, of Dahlonega, and W. F. Teck, of Murrayville, and six nieces, Mrs. I. K. Carter, of Belton; Mrs. C. A. Jones, of Murrayville; Mrs. T. W. Tate, of Dahlonega; Mrs. A. H. Garner, of Lulu; Mrs. E. F. Whitworth, of Lulu, and Mrs. S. B. Rogers, of Gainesville.

PROHIBITION HEADS DECLARE HOOVER DISAPPOINTS THEM

Assert President-Elect Is Decidedly Cool to All Suggestions on Dry Enforcement.

BY BASIL MANLY.

Washington, February 15.—Prohibition leaders who have visited President-elect Hoover at his Florida headquarters are returning to Washington greatly disappointed at the coolness of their reception, it was learned today.

One of the leaders of the dry forces, who has just returned from Miami but was unwilling to permit his name to be used, told the writer that he found Mr. Hoover quite ready to discuss an investigation of the workings of the prohibition law but unwilling to consider recommendation for making the provisions of the Volstead act more drastic or for large increases in the number of prohibition agents.

"Noble Experiment."

Hoover, it appears, continues to regard federal prohibition as a "noble experiment" and is preparing to view the problem from a coldly scientific viewpoint. This is not at all acceptable to the leaders of the dry forces who had expected to find him in full sympathy with their plan for broadening federal prohibition legislation and increasing the size of the enforcement division.

According to this informant, the president-elect had very little to say but seems by his very silence to convey an impression of coldness toward the proposals which were laid before him.

In spite of the fact that Hoover as a candidate was guarded in his utterances on prohibition and at no time proclaimed himself an enthusiastic supporter of the eighteenth amendment and Volstead act, prohibition leaders became convinced that because of their ardent support during the campaign they could rely upon the hearty cooperation of the Hoover administration in carrying out their plans to make the dry laws more drastic.

Drys Disappointed.

They were greatly disappointed when it became clear that Andrew W. Mellon was to be retained as secretary of the treasury in spite of their protests. Nevertheless, attributing this decision to the influence of the so-called "financial interests" they continued to believe that on matters of legislation they would have the ear of the president-elect.

Recent conferences in Florida have, however, convinced them that they may have even less success in approaching the white house during the next administration than they have had during the past eight years.

While no threats are being made it appears probable that the dry forces may express their resentment at what they regard as a lack of appreciation of their support during the presidential campaign by opposing certain of the minor appointments which Mr. Hoover is expected to make. It is not now believed that they will attempt to interfere with the nomination of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon or any other cabinet officer but there are indications that opposition from this source may develop against the appointment to certain key positions in the treasury department and the department of justice unless those who are named are entirely satisfactory from a prohibition standpoint.

REPUBLICANS TRY TO DEFEND LEASES

Senate Split Along Party Lines Appears as Motion To Censure Work Is Brought to Floor.

Washington, February 15.—(United News.)—Republicans and democrats glared at each other across the center isle of the senate today as debate started on the Walsh report censuring interior and justice department officials in connection with the renewal last year of a Sinclair royalty oil contract.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, veteran oil investigator, is seeking adoption of his report although it was rejected by the republican majority and approved only by the democratic minority of the public lands committee which conducted an investigation. The majority did not file a report.

It appeared from today's debate that the senate as well as the committee will divide on strictly party lines.

Hits at Donovan.

Dr. Hubert Work, former secretary of interior, now chairman of the republican national committee, and William Donovan, assistant attorney-general, probable choice of President-elect Hoover for attorney-general, are particular targets of Walsh's censorious report. It contends that Work was negligent in renewing Harry Sinclair's lease for oil from the Salt Creek, Wyo., field, let by former Secretary of Interior Fall, and that Donovan was culpable for delaying so long the

Doctors Are Praised as King Resumes Smoking and Eating

:: MONARCH IS NOW ABLE TO SIT AT TABLE ::

London, February 15.—(United News.)—Eleven miracle workers in top hats and frock coats received the grateful applause of the British empire tonight when it was announced King George had advanced so far in his recovery that he was able to enjoy smoking again and could cut his own food.

At the same time, it was learned the king was gaining weight.

It is revealed now that on at least two occasions the king's life was despared of by all, even Queen Mary's indomitable courage breaking as the physicians shook their heads over the British ruler's condition. The doctors performed one of the miracles of modern medicine in bringing the king through the crisis of an illness which, nine times out of ten, would have proved fatal.

Since his removal to Bognor, on the southern coast, the king has improved steadily despite the inclement weather. His weight was greatly diminished at the time of his removal there and the increase at present is considered most encouraging.

The physicians who attended the king made more than 500 visits to Buckingham palace.

The physicians believe the training the king received as a midshipman in the royal navy and his vigorous exercising played an important part in the battle. The strength in his slight body was especially helpful as it is admitted a large man would have been in even greater danger in such an illness.

Probably no patient has ever had such expert knowledge brought to his bedside. This included that the best medical advice available in Britain and such treatments as the ray therapy method or "sunlight" treatment. Repeated chemical tests of the king's blood were made and, in addition, a special apparatus was installed in the sick room to overcome the effects of London fog.

The eleven miracle men are quiet, rather uncommunicative figures who stood constantly in the shadows of the great drama during the last few months.

Lord Dawson of Penn and Sir Stanley Hewett, who share responsibility for the case as a whole, are men of grave demeanor and their long vigil told greatly on their physical condition. Sir Stanley could pass better as army officer than as surgeon apothecary to his majesty.

The other nine played important parts in the battle, passing repeatedly in and out of the picture at the palace. They are Sir Hugh Rigby, surgeon, with deep-set blue eyes and long slender, delicate fingers of an artist; Dr. Francis E. Shipway, anaesthetist, who held the king's life in his hands when he prepared for the operation on his majesty's chest; Sir Farquhar Buzzard, grey-haired, slightly stooping, with a perfect bedside manner; Sir Humphry Rolleston, bluff and hearty with the appearance of a sailor and a cheering manner; Dr. L. E. H. Whitby, bacteriologist; Dr. Graham Hodgson, X-ray expert; Professor E. C. Dodds, who advised on the administration of calicum; Dr. Frank D. Howitt, ultra-violent ray expert, and his co-worker, Dr. Robert S. Woods.

The Prince of Wales today paid his royal father his first visit since the latter's removal last week to Craigweil House.

The prince motored this morning from Southampton, where he arrived earlier by boat after a one-day stay in France. He came in a closed car which he drove himself, his favorite Cairn terrier by his side.

He found the king doing well in his new quarters, despite the cold weather handicap. The official report said his majesty had passed a good night and his condition remained satisfactory.

The prince first sought his mother, Queen Mary, and then went to his father's room where he remained for some time. He planned to return to London by automobile this afternoon.

MELVILLE E. STONE DIES IN NEW YORK

Founder and First Manager of Associated Press Succumbs in 81st Year of Age.

New York, February 15.—(AP)—Melville E. Stone, for more than a quarter of a century the directing genius of the Associated Press, and since his retirement from the general managership in 1921 its counsellor, died tonight at his home, 170 East Seventy-fifth street. He was in his eighty-first year.

He is survived by his widow; one daughter, Elizabeth Creighton, and a brother, Professor Ormond Stone, formerly of the University of Virginia faculty. Two sons, Herbert S. and Melville E., Jr., preceded their father in death.

With Mr. Stone when he passed away were his wife and daughter.

Mr. Stone had been in failing health for the past four months and his death was not unexpected. He was in the hospital for the past four months and his death was not unexpected. He was in the hospital in December for treatment and had been out but little since his return home, just before Christmas. He had been very ill all day and passed away quietly at 8:50 p. m. Death was due to hardening of the arteries.

Melville Elijah Stone was born on August 22, 1848, in the village of Hudson, Ill. He was the son of Rev. Elijah Stone, a Methodist clergyman, and Sophia Creighton Stone. Mr. Stone had a notable career as a journalist for more than half a century. The 26 years he was general manager of the Associated Press, and when he resigned that office in 1919 he adopted high standards of workmanship and editorial principles. He founded the first penny newspaper in the west, the Chicago Daily News, and as a result of his efforts the first fast mail train upon which second class privileges were provided, was run.

When Stone was 20 years old he spent a month or two on the Chicago Republican. The paper did not last long, and his father brought him an interest in an iron foundry and machine shop in Chicago, to which city the family had removed. The business prospered until the plant was destroyed in the great fire.

In 1869 Mr. Stone married a Chicago young woman, Miss Martha J. McFarland, daughter of John Stuart McFarland. To them were born two sons, Melville E., Jr., and Herbert Stuart, and a daughter, Elizabeth C.

In 1871 Mr. Stone took charge of the Chicago Republican, and in the next few years he held important positions on several Chicago newspapers. On January 1, 1876, in partnership with two others, he founded the Chicago Daily News as a penny paper. It was a success from the start. Later Mr. Stone bought out his two partners and formed a new partnership with Victor F. Lawson. In 1881 Mr. Stone and Mr. Lawson founded the Chicago Morning News. In 1885 Mr. Stone discovered Ottmar Mergenthaler struggling to finance his invention, the linotype machine. Mr. Stone organized a syndicate which gave the inventor $300,000 for his patents. He

ANDERSON URGES BONDS FOR ROADS

Macon Editor Will Outline His Plan Today; State Auditor Calls for Government Reforms.

"I am more convinced than ever that Georgia's greatest need is a system of roads," declared W. T. Anderson, editor of the Macon Telegraph, and exponent for many years of state highway bond issue Friday night in discussing needs of the state. Mr. Anderson, who was scheduled to address the night session of the southeastern citizenship conference, but whose lecture was postponed on account of inclement weather will speak before the conference at 9 o'clock this morning in the auditorium of the Theology building, at Emory, and will propose a plan to the conference whereby Georgia can build the good roads it needs.

"I have not changed a bit in my convictions on the subject of roads," he said. "If anything, all my investigations have served to increase my conviction that for Georgia to have schools, industry, and other evidences of progress, a complete system of highways is imperative.

Georgia Ready for Bonds.

"The people of Georgia will vote bonds for better roads. They would jump at the opportunity, if they were only given a chance. Why, 90 counties already have indebted themselves to the extent of twenty-one million dollars in building their own roads, and they are paying for it by ad valorem taxation. These counties and many more would be more than glad to adopt some system for completion of the roads, if the state legislature would only put the question before them. I expect to tell the citizenship conference my plan for a better highway system, based on exhaustive research."

The fourth day of the conference dealt principally with the question of state government. In the discussion groups of the morning the condition of government in Georgia and in other states were laid before the conference by Sam J. Slate, government student and state auditor of Georgia, and Walter F. Dodd, expert in state government of Chicago. In an address before the conference at 12 o'clock, Mr. Slate stressed the unweildly system of government in Georgia, and suggested ways in which reform could be brought about.

Changes Urged By Slate.

"Our organization has grown too top-heavy and unweildly with excessive overhead expense, overlapping of departments, jealousies, and lack of coordination," he said. "Now this situation must be brought direct to the people to get relief so that the legislature will feel compelled to begin a plan comprehensive enough to be readily understandable by the humblest citizen. The legislature is the best judge of how to manage this, and the problem calls for the united strength, wisdom, and skill of all members. If I may be pardoned for a suggestion, the suggestion would be as follows:

"In order to plan wisely and effectively the legislature should take the

STATE'S ATTORNEY DEMANDS CLOSING OF SPEAKEASIES

Slain Racketeer Revealed as Prominent Optician Who Catered to Gold Coast Society.

REWARD OF $25,000 WILL BE OFFERED

Police Accused as Killers in Effort To Prevent Identity as Hijackers and Gang Accomplices.

Chicago, February 15.—(United News.)—The doom of Chicago gangland was sounded tonight when State's Attorney John A. Swanson, who has called a conference of all law-enforcing officials to discuss yesterday's massacre of seven gangsters, ordered every "speak-easy" beer flat, gambling house and dive to be closed "tight" immediately.

"Every police captain in the city will be held to strict accountability for conditions in his district," Swanson said. "When I took office and promised to wipe out racketeering and vice in Chicago I was promised the cooperation of the police department and I must have it. These vice conditions still exist and are responsible for the holocaust that occurred in our territory yesterday."

Gold Coast Uneasy.

Meanwhile the heads of Chicago's polite society rested uneasily as one of the slain men, Dr. Reinhart H. Schwimmer, prominent optometrist, was alleged to have often declared he purveyed drinkables to residents of the "Gold Coast" and Lincoln park section.

The gravity of the situation was reflected in the group of officers in the room of the state's attorney, including Commissioner of Police William F. Russell, Sheriff John E. Traeger, deputy commissioners of police and the captain of every district station in Chicago. Not a smile was seen as Swanson addressed the officers.

Following the conclusion of the conference, the state's attorney announced he had recommended that the Cook county board of commissioners vote a reward of from $20,000 to $25,000 for the arrest of the men who murdered seven gangsters in "Bugs" Moran's garage in North Clark street.

Business Men Demand Arrest.

The powerful Chicago Association of Commerce tonight demanded an immediate grand jury investigation to determine whether police officers were involved in the massacre.

The organization of leading business men met at the conclusion of the first day's investigation into the massacre—a day which brought a charge that two police officers were among the invading gangsters—and adopted the resolution. Copies were forwarded to Mayor William Hale Thomson, State's Attorney Swanson, Governor Louis L. Emmerson, Attorney-General Oscar Carlstrom, United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson and the chief justices of the various court divisions.

The first evidence to link residents of the "gold coast" with a gigantic rum ring came when Dr. Karl Meyer, medical warden of the county morgue, identified the body of Dr. Reinhart H. Schwimmer.

Underworld Is Mum.

According to investigators Dr. Schwimmer, while practicing his profession had also been in league with the booze ring. This discovery led to even more startling developments which brought to light the strange story of the doctor's double life.

Mrs. Lucy Powell, who claimed his body, told authorities how Schwimmer

SALMON RECIPES OFFER NEW, TASTY LUNCHEON DISHES

The following delightful recipes featuring salmon will be of interest to housewives, offering suggestions for new and tasty dishes for luncheons or parties:

Baked Salmon Rabbits.

Cut bread into six slices 1-3 inch thick and trim crusts. Place on a baking sheet and over the bread lay a rather thick slice or cream cheese. Over the cheese place a thick slice of ripe tomato. Sprinkle with sale and pepper and place 1 tablespoon of flaked salmon on top of each slice of tomato. Lay 2 very thin slices of bacon over all and put into a very hot oven. Bake until the cheese melts and the bacon crisps and curls.

Salmon Squares.

Flake meat of a can of salmon, dust with a little red pepper and salt. Add 1 teaspoon each of onion juice, lemon juice with vinegar, 1 teaspoon of minced olives, 1 teaspoon chopped pepper, minced white of a hard boiled egg and 1 tablespoon washed capers. Fold in enough mayonnaise, made without mustard, to moisten the mass; spread lightly on buttered toast squares. Put the egg yolk through the ricer, garnish on center of each square, and dust with a little paprika. Serve on small individual plates on crisp lettuce.

Salmon Salad Croquettes.

Can of salmon, 3 hard boiled eggs, 1 cup finely minced celery, 1 large white potato, boiled and cooled; sprinkle well with paprika and add a bit of onion juice. Mix well with just enough French dressing to form into croquettes. Roll each croquette in finely ground nut meats and serve on lettuce leaves with salmon dressing made from 1 cup of salmon rubbed through a colander into a plain mayonnaise dressing.

The great antarctic blue whale, which sometimes grows to a length of 100 feet, is in danger of becoming extinct.

It is estimated that nine women out of ten in this country use face powder.

Steering Committee To Meet Monday Night To Lay Plans For Fulton-DeKalb Merger

DeKalb Commissioner Nash Voices Opposition to Plan But Says He Will Help If Plan Is Voted.

Steps looking toward a proposed merger of Fulton and DeKalb counties were being considered Friday by members of a steering committee appointed Thursday night at a meeting of 12th ward residents. Councilman W. E. Saunders announced that the committee would meet at 8 o'clock Monday night at his home, 27 Saunders, N. E., to form plans for meetings with similar committees appointed by other bodies.

Commissioner L. Y. T. Nash, of DeKalb county, Friday voiced his personal opposition to the proposed merger, although he stated that if the citizens of DeKalb county vote for the merger, he will cooperate in carrying out their wish in the matter. Mr. Nash said that he is opposed to slicing a portion of DeKalb county and adding it to Fulton, on the ground that such a move would be vastly unfair to DeKalb county.

DeKalb county is one of the largest in the state, with twice the area of Fulton county, and it has more than 1,600 miles of public roads, Mr. Nash said, in expressing the opinion that the merger would be impractical.

Merger of the two counties was advocated Thursday night at rallies at East Lake school and the Emory university auditorium. Citizens of Druid Hills favor the merger, according to resolutions adopted at the Emory meeting, in order that fire protection may be obtained for that section, the city of Atlanta having served notice that its fire service will cease to Druid Hills after March 15.

Virogen Keeps Your Body Cells Young

In spite of eating three or four meals a day—giving the human engine plenty of fuel—many people continue to degenerate into premature old age, lose strength, vigor, ambition. Why? Because modern cooked food does not contain ENOUGH of the vital minerals and other nutriments needed to maintain perfect health and preserve youthful vigor.

Physicians tell us that a lack of these life-giving minerals in the blood stream results in some form of physical weakness, such as anemia, sallow, pimply complexions, wrinkles, unsightly hollows, obstinate constipation, soft teeth, loss of appetite and a general rundown condition.

Effects of Virogen

A noted New York hospital physician first wrote the Virogen prescription. In hospitals and private practice, before its introduction to the general public, it proved a builder of rich, red blood, firm flesh, bone and muscle and an indispensable factor in the correct functioning of the body.

During the first few days of the treatment the appetite and digestion shows improvement; there is an appreciable increase in the general tone, strength and endurance of the nerves and muscular system. The complexion takes on a better color, indicating improved blood. Quickly there develops a feeling of improved general health and strength, which has its influence in steadying the nerves and imparting the power of endurance. In cases where impoverished blood has resulted in loss of flesh there is a gradual increase in weight, the result of improved digestion and assimilation.

Virogen is a scientific vitalizing blood food, in highly concentrated tablet form—NOT a patent medicine. Contains no harmful, habit-forming drugs or narcotics. It is entirely different in formula and results from any other tonic preparation on the market.

Looks Years Younger

Don't be only half alive! Virogen does wonders in making men strong, virile, and in making women charming in vibrant health! Get a package today from Jacobs' or any good drug store in Atlanta. If you do not quickly feel its strengthening, healthful, invigorating effect your money will be cheerfully refunded. By mail, $1 a box. Guardian Health Products Co., Dept. 18, Atlanta, Ga.

AUGUSTA RESIDENT IS CALLED TO DOOR AND SHOT TO DEATH

Augusta, Ga., February 15.—(AP)—M. H. Sid Wiley, 50, head weaver of the Enterprise Manufacturing company, was called to the door of the mill workroom today and shot down by his visitor. He died within a few minutes, and police began a search for W. W. Wood, fire department captain.

Witnesses said Wood called Wiley to the door and conversed with him briefly, two shots rang out, and Wiley fell.

An inquest was arranged for this afternoon.

E. H. Griffin Honored.

Bainbridge, Ga., February 15.—E. H. Griffin was named chairman of the Decatur County Agricultural board and H. G. Bell, secretary, at the annual meeting of the organization Wednesday, when Agent D. E. Sawyer entertained the directors and a few friends at a big barbecue dinner.

PARK CONCESSIONS BRING CITY $50,000

Chosewood Will Pay in Form of New Building at Grant Park.

Award of concession privileges under contracts by which the city of Atlanta will receive more than $50,000 within the next five years, featured a meeting of the parks committee of city council Friday afternoon. Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, chairman, presided.

Concessions at Piedmont and Grant parks, Atlanta's largest municipally owned recreational centers, went to Charles L. Chosewood, Jr.

Mr. Chosewood will construct a stand to cost $32,000 at Grant park, and the building will become the property of the city. In return Mr. Chosewood will have concession privileges at the two parks for a period of five years.

The building will serve as a compliment to the park committee of council and Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, each of the entrances carrying the name of a committeeman or of the mayor.

It will be located near the cyclorama and will add much to the architectural beauty of the park, according to Mr. Chosewood.

Mozley park concessions went to J. L. Leach for $3,875 over a five-year period; Oakland City and Maddox park privileges were awarded to T. C. Shreve and H. G. Hubbard on a joint bid of $2,000 and $1,500 respectively. Candler park concessions went to Al Martin on an agreement to maintain the new clubhouse. This will mean a material saving to the department, it was said.

Action of the parks committee was based on rulings of City Attorney James L. Mayson, who declared that the decision was final and council did not have to pass on decisions inasmuch as the parks committee is a chartered committee of council.

Mr. Mayson ruled that the committee could accept services or a new building in lieu of money for the concessions privilege.

MUSIC SORORITY GIVES CONCERT AT BRENAU MONDAY

Gainesville, Ga., February 15.—(AP) Active members of Mu Pi Epsilon, honorary music sorority, will give an interesting program at 8:30 o'clock Monday evening in Brenau auditorium. The program will consist of solo and concert numbers.

Florence Weygandt, contralto; Geraldine Powers, violinist; Margaret Gann, violinist; Louise Jones, organist; Eliza Holmes, pianist, will participate. An interestig feature will be a group of numbers arranged for two violins, piano and organ. Mrs. Weygandt will sing the aria from "Samson and Delilah," "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" and "Trees," by Oscar Rasbach.

Mu Pi Epsilon will present another interesting program February 28 when officers will be elected. That occasion will include numbers by Mrs. Corinne Turnipseed, Dr. Ben Potter and Morris Ruger. Miss Mary Whitson and Mrs. E. B. Michaelis will speak.

JOHN D. WALKER ASKS FOR IMMEDIATE TRIAL

Macon, Ga., February 15.—(AP)—John D. Walker, held in Bibb county jail for federal authorities on charges of misappropriating bank funds in Georgia more than a decade ago, today asked for a speedy trial in any middle Georgia United States district court.

When arrested in New York late last year, Walker requested trial in the Macon district court, and his case was transferred from the southern district.

In a letter to United States District Attorney W. A. Bootle the former head of a chain of 107 Georgia banks said he did not care where the trial was held provided he could face the court in the near future. It was understood, however, that he preferred trial in the Columbus, Ga., division the first week in March.

Walker specifically is charged with misappropriating $9,000 in municipal bonds at Sparta, Ga., 11 years ago, and is held in jail here in default of $25,000 bond.

Dried buffalo meat, known as pemmican, was used as food by Indians and trappers of the far north.

SHIVERS SCHOOL BID ACCEPTED BY BOARD

Plumbing and Heating in Ten Schools Will Cost $75,121.

Members of the Atlanta school board Friday afternoon rejected a series of individual low bids for plumbing and heating work on ten Atlanta schools and voted to award the entire contract to W. G. Shivers at a blanket figure of $75,121.

The decision was predicated on a communication from Mr. Shivers setting out that his original bid carried several stoker units and that others did not. When he reduced his bid the amount of the stokers he was approximately $1,700 lower than the individual low bidders for the work.

Amendment Permitted.

City Attorney James L. Mayson ruled that the board had a right to permit Mr. Shivers to amend his bid by striking the stoker estimates from it, as the board already had stoker unit bids before it.

The total bid is $6,274 lower than the first bid offered by W. S. Loftis, and which were rejected when bids were readvertised.

Members of the board declined to concur in a recommendation of the joint contact committees of the board and the bond commission regarding allocation of $3,000 of the saving thus affected to completion of the McLendon school in the tenth ward. Roy D. Warren, commissioner from the tenth, made a hard but unsuccessful fight to force the recommendation through.

List Recommended.

The following equipment list recommended by the committee was approved by the board:

Atlanta Stove Works—Stoves for Morningside ..	$ 243.28
Georgia Power Co.—Cooking Stoves—Bass Junior High	432.00
Davison-Paxon Co.—Shades for Morningside	114.77
M. Rich & Bros. Co.—Shades for Bass Junior High	289.20
Total	$1,884.33

A meeting of the bond commission is slated for Monday morning on the recommendations of the board. The papers will go to the school committee of city council Monday afternoon for approval, and if sanctioned will go to council at its regular semi-monthly meeting at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Schools in which the heating and plumbing is to be installed are Commercial High, Inman, Peeples, Home Park, Howard, Ragsdale, Slaton, Highland, Kirkwood and Moreland.

Music Association Drive

:: 10 O'CLOCK TO BE LAST HOUR TO JOIN ::

To Come To Close Tonight

Mrs. Wilmer Moore with her famous Big Ben set for 10 p. m. Saturday when the alarm will ring declaring the close of membership in the Civic Music association for one year.

Highly favorable progress in the drive for 3,000 members for the Civic Music Association of Atlanta was reported at a late hour Friday afternoon and the hope was expressed that the campaign would come to a satisfactory close tonight.

It was pointed out that absolutely no memberships will be accepted after 10 o'clock tonight and that anyone desiring to avail themselves of the opportunity of joining the association would have to do so by that time or wait until next year. Membership carries with it the privilege of participating in all activities of the Atlanta Music club, which is sponsoring the drive, and in addition, gives admission to all concerts sponsored by the association throughout the year. There will be no single tickets sold to these concerts, it has been pointed out.

Miss Dema Harshbarger, president of the national association, who has been in the city for the past week, assisting in the campaign, has made dozens of speeches before various organizations throughout the city and will continue this up until the last minute tonight. She has ten engagements for today.

Headquarters of the drive are being maintained at Phillips & Crew Piano company and will remain open until the last minute of the drive. Those desiring to join have been urged to send in their applications for membership without waiting for solicitation, remembering that no memberships will be accepted after 10 o'clock tonight.

Fill out and mail with check payable to "Atlanta Music Club" so it will reach headquarters, Phillips & Crew Piano Company, by 10 p. m. Saturday, February 16.

FRANKLIN NEWSPAPER DESTROYED BY FLAMES

Franklin, Ga., February 15.—(Special.)—The News and Banner newspaper and job printing plant of this town was totally destroyed by fire early this morning. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

According to reports, no one had been in the building during the night and when the blaze was discovered, the plant was locked and had not been opened for the day.

The building was a modern structure and fire spread so rapidly, nothing could be saved. The fire is believed to have started underneath the building.

The News and Banner had been published in Heard county for 45 years by the Hon. P. T. McCutcheon, editor and proprietor. He was formerly state superintendent of printing and is a former president of the Georgia Press association.

The plant was well-equipped with linotype and power presses and was valued at $8,000, with only about $2,500 in insurance being carried. The current issue of the paper had just been printed and was ready for distribution today. It also was destroyed by the flames.

An unoccupied residence and a frame store near by were also destroyed. They were valued at $2,500 and no insurance was carried.

SUSPENDED AMERICUS BANK HAS FUND PLAN

Americus, Ga., February 15.—(Special.)—At a meeting of 125 depositors of the Planters Bank of Americus held here today, it was voted almost unanimously to approve a plan whereby the assets of the suspended bank may be turned over to the Citizens Trading and Investment company for liquidation.

The corporation was recently organized to assist in lifting the bank's affairs out of the hands of the state banking department.

Costs, approximating $5,000, have already been run up by the banking department in its handling of the suspended institution, and $25,000 in preferred claims will be also paid off by the trading concern in the event the plan is approved by the superior court, to which it is soon to be submitted.

L. G. Council, former president of the bank, and C. M. Council, former cashier, will personally guarantee payment of all claims of depositors, where such claims are not paid off by the trading company under the plan outlined at the meeting today.

Under this plan, apparently 100 per cent payment of all depositors of the suspended bank is assured within the next year or 18 months.

The bank had net deposits at the time of suspension, approximating $260,000, which will be liquidated under the trading company's plan provided 80 per cent of the depositors indorse the plan.

HOUSE SHOALS REPORT IN INDEFINITE STATUS

Alleged 'Rump Session' O. K. on Cyanamid Bid Brings Controversy.

Washington, February 15.—(AP)—A parliamentary tangle resulted today from the submission by Representative Reece, republican, Tennessee, of a favorable report by a majority of the house military committee on the Madden bill to lease Muscle Shoals to the American Cyanamid company.

Chairman Morin, Pennsylvania, had filed a statement with Speaker Longworth saying the action of the majority membership in voting out the bill without first being called together by the chairman and without the presence of the chairman was illegal and irregular.

Reece declared that it was the regular meeting day of the committee, that a quorum was present and that "it was no rump meeting."

The reported bill was placed on the speaker's desk awaiting a determination of the question.

"The matter of the report will come in the house tomorrow" said Reece, "either in the form of a parliamentary inquiry by me as to the status of the report, or as a question of high privilege why the report has not been placed on the calendar of the house. The speaker says he has not reached a decision on the matter."

Notes Amendment.

The Reece report called attention to an amendment to provide for the recapture by the government of the entire lease properties in case of a failure of the company to continuously produce the required amount of fertilizer.

The report said acceptance of the terms of the lease as contained in the bill would result in the production of cheaper fertilizer for farmers, and the production of "sufficient nitrate in a form suitable for explosives to supply the needs of an army of a million men.

"The depreciation, guarding and maintenance expenses at the nitrate plant have reached a total exceeding $5,000,000," said the report. "This long delay in establishing a national policy governing the Muscle Shoals property has resulted in furious financial losses to the government.

"The Tennessee river is one of our most promising inland streams. Few rivers of the country afford the opportunity for combining navigation improvement with the development of water power in any such effective and continuous way as it proposed on the Tennessee."

Another Bill.

With Reece and Morin at odds over the procedure adopted in reporting the Madden measure, Mrs. Langley, a republican member from Kentucky, took occasion during the day to introduce a bill relating to the Muscle Shoals project. The measure would authorize operation of the properties by the Farmers' Fertilizer corporation, and is similar to a proposal submitted by Reece in 1927.

It would create a corporation under the name of the Farmers' Federation Fertilizer corporation and would designate John W. Newman, of Versailles, Ky.; A. P. Sandles, of Ottawa, Ohio, and A. L. Sponsler, of Hutchinson, Kans., as the incorporators of the corporation.

The corporation would be authorized to issue debentures for construction and equipment to cover the cost of rehabilitation and new construction of the fertilizer plants and also the construction and equipment of dam 3 and Cove creek dam to relieve the government of further appropriations for the project.

Under the measure the project would be leased to the corporation for 50 years at a rental of the power plants of $17.52 per kilowatt year of 8,760 kilowatt hours.

Solons Mix Hard Words; Tennessee Senate Thrilled

Nashville, Tenn., February 15.—(AP)—A bitter factional fight in the senate of the Tennessee general assembly came to an unexpected head today when Senator John Brown, of Shelby county, with a closed pocket knife in his right hand, advanced upon Senator A. H. Wiggs, of Perry county, while a mixed gallery gasped in surprise and fear. Brown was stopped directly in front of the press table and returned to his seat by the sergeant at arms, other senators and newspapermen.

Just before Brown started his interrupted rush, he had hurled a curse at Wiggs, using "common, double-dealing, lying" and other adjectives to make the noun in the shouted sentence extremely personal.

Wiggs retorted, "You are another."

Senator Scott Fitzhugh, also of Shelby, joined in the exchange of personal remarks with Wiggs and said the Perry county senator lacked courage when Wiggs stood beside his seat after Brown had cursed him.

The occasion for the outburst, the most violent of this session, which has seen several bitter personal attacks, was a statement by Wiggs that the Shelby county delegation was "slobbering over Sam Bratton" after voting against him for speaker of the senate.

Bratton was elected by administration votes, but has joined the Shelby senators and other insurgents in opposing a redistricting bill.

CANADIANS SUE MICHIGAN MAN FOR LIQUOR DEBT

Monroe, Mich., February 15.—(AP)—Two suits believed to be unique in American court history since the ratification of the Volstead act have been filed here against George D. Cousino, garage proprietor.

Cousino is being sued for $6,000 Amherstberg, Ontario, liquor exporters, by T. J. Beniteau and A. A. McGills, for amounts they claim are due for two shipments of liquor. Beniteau's claim is for $2,500 and McGills' is $3,500. They declared Cousino purchased the liquor between Christmas and New Year's, but failed to make payment.

WALKER PLANNING TRIP TO FLORIDA TO REGAIN VOICE

New York, February 15.—(AP)—Mayor Walker today was contemplating a trip to Florida in search of his voice.

Hardly able to speak above a whisper as the result of an attack of influenza which kept him within doors several days, he yielded the chair to President McKee of the board of aldermen yesterday during a long session of the board of estimates.

Friends are urging the mayor to take a short vacation in Florida. He has not decided whether to go, but it was said if he did, the trip probably would be timed to permit him to witness the big fight at Miami Beach, February 27.

WOMAN PASSENGER ON BIG ZEPPELIN SAILS FOR AMERICA

Bremen, Germany, February 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Clara Adams of Tannesville, Pa., the only woman passenger on the returned trans-Atlantic flight of the Graf Zeppelin, has started back for the United States aboard the steamship Stuttgart. Mrs. Adams has been visiting in Germany since the flight.

CLAMOR FOR HIGHER TARIFF DUTIES GROWS

150 Witnesses Plead for Protection as Sundry List Is Considered.

Washington, February 15.—(AP)—Appeals for higher tariff protection grew by leaps and bounds today as the house ways and means committee turned to the sundry or catch-all schedule in continuation of its revisions hearings.

Approximately 150 witnesses showed up to plead for assistance in meeting competition in goods of varied description imported from abroad. Wearing apparel of all kinds, imitation jewelry, construction materials and even the lowly button were covered in the requests for higher duties.

Four days are expected to be required for the hearings on this schedule.

Complaining of increasing importations of straw hats, George Wolf, of New York, representing the hat institute, and Martin Lawler, of the United Hatters of North America, speaking for the workers, proposed an appreciable heightening of duties on these goods.

Higher Duty on Hats.

Distributing straw hats to the committeemen for their inspection, Wolf urged a reclassification of the hat paragraph with compound duties of $4 a dozen and a 70 per cent ad valorem on men's sewed straw hats, and $4 and 50 per cent on woven straws. He said imports amounted to 50 per cent of the domestic production in 1928 and that nearly all came from Italy. Lawler said American wages in the trade were about a dollar an hour as against 5 to 9 cents an hour in Italy.

L. E. Whittaker, of Lockland, Ohio, proposed specific duties on asbestos shingles which he said were equivalent to a 100 per cent ad valorem rate as compared with the present 25 per cent duty. He also complained of growing imports and said prices had declined about one-third in the last seven years.

H. C. Meyer, of New York, cited large imports of Spanish and Japanese imitation pearls of the cheaper grade in petitioning for higher combination duties over the present 60 per cent ad valorem rate.

Opposing any change in this duty, D. J. Gallert, of New York, representing the Novelty Jewelers' association, declared the major part of the Japanese goods did not compete in the American market, going only to the 5 and 10-cent trade, while American manufacturers produced a higher grade line.

Proposals for and against higher duties on toilet brushes were advanced respectively by Samuel F. Dixon, American Brush Manufacturers' association, and C. L. Thomsen, National Council of American Importers and Traders.

Dixon cited foreign articles underselling products and asked a duty of 65 per cent and 2 cents a brush. The rate is now only 45 per cent. Thomsen listed imports valued at $1,800,000 against a domestic production of about $45,000,000, and asked that the present rates be unchanged.

FRENCH PRESIDENT SAVES THE HEAD OF YOUNG WOMAN

Paris, February 15.—(AP)—President Doumergue today saved the head of another of four women condemned to the guillotine, commuting to life at hard labor the death sentence imposed upon Madame Josefa Kures, convicted of strangling a young child in the Bois de Boulogne.

Only a week ago the bachelor president similarly commuted the death sentence of Blanche Vavre.

The guillotine still hangs over the head of two other women.

FLU TOLL IN ENGLAND MOUNTS IN PAST WEEK

London, February 15.—(AP)—Deaths from influenza in 107 large English towns numbered 967 last week, against 621 and 321 for the two previous weeks.

London alone showed 331 dead against 198 the preceding week. The figures brought the total of influenza dead since January 1 to 2,340; there were 714 in the same period in 1928.

Deaths from bronchitis and bronchopneumonia were double those of last year, there being 1,981 since February 1 as compared with 973 for the same period in 1928.

In view of the increase in the epidemic particular interest was attached to advices from Berlin of a cure for the disease. Dispatches said that Professor Louis Lewis, toxicologist, and Paul Schuster, neurologist, of the University of Berlin, had discovered a symptomatic remedy.

The drug is described as an alkaloid of creeper or liana indigenous to Mexico and Equador where it is used by Indians as a narcotic. It was said to be particularly beneficial in treatment of cerebral influenza.

The discovery, however, is regarded as in its initial stage. Geographical distribution of the plant is yet to be determined and the doctors themselves know of only 1.2 grams of the drug throughout the world.

Seine Frozen Over, First Time in Years, Amazing to Many

Paris, February 15.—(AP)—Men walked on ice in the Seine in the neighborhood of Paris today for the first time in many years. Opposite the French foreign office the river was frozen for more than a third of its breadth and the ice near the shore easily supported the weight of a man.

There was a slight letup in the cold overnight, but the weather bureau predicted renewed cold with the possibility of a heavy fall of snow. The Atlantic coast ports are now feeling the full force of France's coldest and most rigorous winter since 1895 with snow, heavy gales and extremely low temperatures everywhere.

"WHAT AILS TENNESSEE?"

Some score of years back a small town Kansas editor awoke one morning to find himself, like Lord Byron, famous overnight for having printed a scorching editorial on "What's the Matter with Kansas?" He had the satisfaction of seeing his fellow-citizens, blistered and sore from reading his editorial, whirl in to pull Kansas back into her proper place in the national procession of progress.

Now, it seems that Tennessee is suffering from the hookworm of political anemia, so evident as to arouse that astute editorial pathologist, Colonel Lapsley Walker, of the Chattanooga Times. He has carefully diagnosed the ailment of the sovereign patient and "What Ails Tennessee?" as he sees the symptoms, are—

"An honest, but spineless governor.
"A hare-brained legislature.
"Unscientific and reckless taxation.
"A statute book full of fool laws.
"If the state did not have the wonderful natural resources it has and did not have the splendid leadership of men in business and industry, it would go broke and be forced to take the bankrupt law."

That is a short and stiff indictment of conditions, always sure to produce pessimism, depression and paralytic inertia in any constituency; and, unhappily, Tennessee is not the only American commonwealth that is afflicted with one or more of those baneful conditions.

Sam Jones, the famous evangelist, once said of a popular and stalwart Georgia governor that "his backbone is like the center-pole of a circus tent!" Surely that is the sort of backbone the governor of any American state should have. Governor Al Smith, of New York, had such a one and it was a first asset of his political fame. A governor with a cotton string for his spine is a total loss to the people who made the mistake of electing him.

"A hare-brained legislature" is neither a novelty nor a freak of nature. It is all too common in states that have antiquated systems of representation and such states will be cursed with such legislatures until they establish honest democratic representative governments.

Many of the states have awakened to the vital need of reforming their taxation systems upon scientific bases of equity and proportion. Some have already achieved the reformation and others are in the way of doing so. Tennessee should be progressive enough to accomplish so valuable a reform. Georgia needs such a revision and readjustment. And it is much to be hoped that both these sister states will soon redeem themselves from their archaic and unjust tax systems.

CHICAGO AND HER GANGS.

The Thursday inter-gang massacre in the heart of Chicago has brought from the officials of the city a 'steenth declaration of "a war of extermination" of the outlaws who are making brutal assassinations a fine art in the western metropolis.

And the gangsters, racketeers and beer-flatters smile sardonically and say nothing in retort. They seem to feel a rather normal security for their lawlessness so long as police and politics are partners.

If Chicago can and will make gang life in that city intolerable and exilic it will give a thrill and a contagious example to other cities of the land. But the job demands more nerve, fearlessness and persistence than has yet been shown by any of the Chicago police administrations.

The people of Chicago have shown on other occasions that they do possess a civic conscience and can be aroused to enforce vital reforms. They so demonstrated in their elections of last year and the reformers whom they elected are now in office and power. It remains only, therefore, to be seen whether the promises made to the ears of the law-observing citizens of the great city are to be cowardly broken to their hopes.

The last resort of proclaiming gangsters to be public outlaws "without benefit of law and clergy" may yet be the only remedy for present perils to life, liberty and property in Chicago. If that must come, let it come!

FINANCING ENFORCEMENT.

The report by Secretary Mellon that he can see the possible good use of $2,500,000 additional money to augment the forces of prohibition enforcement will probably be accepted by congress and the extra funds voted.

But Secretary Mellon and the congress know equally well that even the $16,000,000 to be employed in the next fiscal year will not enforce prohibition in any satisfying fashion. The government is fighting against not simply vagarious gangs of rum-smugglers, moonshiners and bootlegers, but against a widespread and stolid revolt of public sentiment against the drastic forms of the Volstead act and of the measures employed to execute it.

Grant that the opposition is quite probably a minority of the people, yet the wisest statesmen of the republic since its foundation have always advised against endeavors to enforce laws which manifestly invade indefeasible personal sanctities. As Judge Sibley so cogently and correctly said, in his recent university address, "the right of a majority to make a law is incontestable, but the wisdom of making it may, nevertheless, be strongly questionable."

The $16,000,000 may employ more officials and cause the making of more arrests and court cases, but after all we may be sure that when it shall have been spent the aggravating enforcement problem will be unsolved and more acute than ever.

OUR GREEK ASSOCIATES.

Nearly seven years ago a body of cultured and patriotic Greek citizens of Atlanta organized a philanthropic order for their Americanized compatriots and named it the "American Hellenic Educational Progressive Association," now popularly known as the "Ahepa" by its initials.

Fraternal accord and cooperation of Americans of Greek extraction for civic improvements, educational advancement, business leadership and constructive citizenship are the highly commendable objectives of the order, which has gained extensive favor in the American-Hellenic circles of the nation.

Tomorrow afternoon the new officers of the mother lodge, Atlanta chapter No. 1, will be installed in Taft hall, with the aid of visiting supreme officers, Governor Hardman, Mayor Ragsdale and other distinguished fellow-Georgians.

It is a tall white plume over the casque of the Greeks of Atlanta that they were the founders of so beneficent an order as Ahepa. But the act was characteristic of the fine intellects, cultured ideals and fraternal patriotism of our Hellenic fellow-citizens. As Atlantans they have grown steadily in strength, business enterprise and civic consecrations. They are held in the highest esteem by our entire community. So that it is not a wonder that the Ahepa they nobly conceived is now a famous and popular order in America and praised for its achievements by the Greeks of the globe.

The American Museum of Natural History has curators in Florida studying the fossil mammals, which, we hope, is no reflection on the statesmen and wiseacres on the heels of Mr. Hoover.

At this season of automobile shows we expect some manufacturer to display a front seat that will hold three people more uncomfortably.

Paris.

The inhabitants of Miskole in Hungary are flocking with their sick to visit a young man named Joseph Szanto, who is believed to have witnessed a miracle on Christmas eve, reports the Observer. Szanto, who is 19 years of age, is a shop assistant of Protestant religion and lives in a slum. On Christmas eve, having a severe headache, he was unable to sleep. He declares that while lying in bed he was visited by an angel, who announced the appearance of the Master, and that when the bells began to ring for the midnight service his room was filled with a bright light, from which the figure of a man emerged and came to the bedside. According to his story, the apparition touched his hand, saying: "Your soul is pure and your body is pure; I leave you this cross, by which I saved the world, that the people may know that I have appeared to you," after which it disappeared, leaving the sign of a cross marked on his little finger. The story has had a deep effect on the neighborhood, but as Szanto makes no claim to any supernatural power, and merely exhibits the mark of the cross which remains on his finger, the police are at a loss how to interfere with the crowds who visit him daily. Father Kalman Berta, of the Minorite order, states that Szanto has asked his advice as to how to consecrate his life to good works, and that he has suggested his entering a monastery. In the meantime, it has been decided to keep Szanto under medical observation, to ascertain whether his mental condition is entirely normal.

Stealing and Voting.

The question was raised at a recent soviet council whether a person who possessed a small holding of land and occupied himself with theft as a sideline should be exempt from the right to vote. The electoral district committee sent the following answer: "The occupation of stealing, if not the main source of income, is not a reason for losing the right to vote." This "occupation of stealing" is not confined to isolated individuals. Comrade Tomsky, in his annual report to the Pan-Soviet Trade Union congress, painted a gloomy picture of the conditions prevailing in trade-union circles, especially assailing the higher officials. He declared that in the course of six months he had discovered embezzlements amounting to more than half a million roubles of the funds of trade unions, and that most of the offenders were trade-union presidents. Comrade Tomsky demanded that all embezzlers should be shot. Comrade Kroll, a member of the central organization, objected to this, since it would mean the abolition of the majority of the communist party. He declared that unsatisfactory labor conditions were due to political measures on the part of the authorities. In the middle of his speech he was deprived of his membership in the central organization and hurled into the street.

Health Talks

By Dr. Wm. F. Brady.

THE THEORIES GOOD DOCTORS SHARE.

Reader asking me to recommend a nose and throat specialist appends a rider: "Is it too much to ask that the doctor you recommend practices as you teach about the infectious character of cri?" The correspondent goes on to describe what a glorious comfort it is to be free from worry about the children's wet feet, changes of clothing, and so on. Ah, but so many mothers just can't be happy unless they are constantly worrying over such bogies.

A very good pediatrist—you know that means baby specialist, only the pediatrist himself prefers to be called a child specialist, since folks are children until they begin voting, and babies are just miniature people—the child specialist, then, has probably received some desirable patients, thanks to my good opinion of him. However, I know that he knows that I know how to get good sound ideas about feeding and care over to the mothers, and do it first; for this good pediatric man got plumb annoyed at one time and wrote me with some acerbity that I was cramping his style with my egregious propaganda of candy for kids. It seemed that just as soon as he opened up with his line of dietary counsel, the progressive young mother would stop him with "Oh, but doctor, we always give Gerald plenty of sugar and pure candy as dessert, because Dr. Brady says. . . ."

Well, then, let the pediatrists snap out of it. That's all I shall say about it this time.

Some of these good specialists I recommend may be hot numbers in their own limited sphere of influence, but they should remember that I've got the stuff. They know perfectly well that I am always open to reason, but they had better remember that I have no respect at all for mere authority. I do not mean to be egotistic or conceited, but in a pure medical or health question, a question of opinion, concerning a general subject (not a technical or special one) I defer to no other physician. My own opinion, in my opinion, is quite as good, in fact I find it a shade sounder and more sensible in many instances than the opinion of any other man. At any rate, it will explain why I get a bit hot under the collar when some wise one inquires the name of my authority for this or that opinion. I am the best authority I know, or at least as good an authority as there is, on any question of general medicine and health.

Wants Information On Carolina Pioneer Families

"Carolina Pioneers," the book issued for private circulation a few years ago by Annie Wade Miller, of Macon, is an historical and biographical study of the descendants of Thomas (Landgrave) Smith and the Rev. Pierre Robert, leader of the early migration of French Huguenots to the Colony of Carolina.

The book has met with such appreciation and interest that the author has decided to extend her work to a number of collateral lines, including the Staffords, the Maners, the Dixons and others. Mrs. Miller will be glad to receive authentic data concerning these families. The new work will be illustrated by many rare and interesting photographs of early Charleston.

Mrs. Miller's address for the next few months will be Mrs. Annie Wade Miller 608 Drayton street, Savannah, Ga., and she asks that information concerning the above families be sent her there.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL.

Personal Notes of Notable Men Who Have Earned Our Honors and Gratitude.

Today is another birthday for my beloved pastor of decades ago, Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Kendall, one of the dearest, sweetest-spirited Christian saints that Georgia has ever known. The simple mention of his name brings cherished memories to thousands who have known his loved personality, his power as a preacher of spiritual gospel, his ever-readiness to give time and help to those in need, and his wonderful ability to cheer and comfort the sick and sorrowful.

It has been my fortune to know thousands of preachers, personally, in all the states of the union. Among them were men of great piety, splendid culture, charming eloquence and fascinating accomplishments, but none of them ever won more of my affection than this meek, manly and ministering "Tom" Kendall, of the north Georgia conference.

If I were as rich as some of the Atlantans whose children he has baptized, whose sons and daughters he has married, and whose dead he has tenderly committed to their tombs, "Uncle Tom" should never want a necessity of a comfortable old age. Since he was "laid off" by the conference he has continued to "go about doing good," especially to the sufferers in Grady hospital, without salary or emolument.

This is a splendid day for his friends to remember this grand old ambassador of our Lord, isn't it?

The Passing of Dr. Cleveland.

Sadness oppresses many Atlantan and Georgian spirits because of the passing "into rest" of Rev. Dr. Thomas P. Cleveland. He lived to a more than scriptural age and has been gathered by the inevitable reaper as a full shock of ripened corn.

Those who had intimate acquaintance with Dr. Cleveland remarked his possession in high degree of those attributes and graces which "mark the perfect man," as humans go, and distinguished him as a preacher of stalwart righteousness and a citizen who shirked no public duty that appealed to his militant civic spirit.

Dr. Cleveland walked and worked in an aura of courage, charity and unselfish service. His aspect commanded respect and admiration and contact with him in any arc of activity was to absorb from his inspiration and integrity of purpose.

Early in my own ministry he came to me as a friend and standby of strength and steadfastness. My debt to his encouragements could not be paid in his lifetime here, but somewhere in that other life which never grew dim to his faith and hopes I trust our spirits will meet and words not be needed between us. He cannot then fail to know the sincere reverence and gratitude that I gave to him during our long faithful and beautiful friendship. In him the Kingdom above has gained one of its sturdiest saints.

The First Citizen of 1929.

If I could be the Mussolini of Atlanta for only one day with the authority to say "Who's Who" I would assemble the citizenry and nominate Dr. Joe Jacobs for decoration as "the first citizen of Atlanta for 1929."

I would not do that because "Doctor Joe" is a good doctor of medicine, and a good deployer of beautiful drug stores, or a good godfather of Atlanta's celebrated Barns club, or the general, genial "jolly goodfellow" that he always is, but because he is a liberal, loyal Atlantan who has established a cause of justice and honor for the state.

Against a prejudiced and persistent propaganda Dr. Jacobs, after years of its prosecution, has established the indubitable honor for Dr. Crawford W. Long of being the original discoverer of ether as an anesthetic. He pioneered the movement that placed Dr. Long's statue in the statuary hall in the nation's capital, and now he has succeeded in having a chapter reciting the history of Dr. Long's immortal discovery printed in one of the series of readers used in the public schools of the state.

Certainly those are unselfish and patriotic services that entitle Dr. Jacobs to honor and gratitude that no one can challenge.

Our Honor "Jim, the Penman."

The Georgia press institute which is to be holden in Athens next week strongly attracts this scribbler, but my crippled locomotion will prevent my going over there, I fear. But the able editors of the state can bear my absence without tears, I know.

The thing I started this page of writing to say is that the inkster boys and girls who foregather in the institute will miss a big bet if they do not drag my esteemed chum, Jim Nevin, editor of the Georgian-American, over to Athens and make him tell them what he knows about the history, vicissitudes and victories of Georiga journalism.

Jim knows the game "from alphabet to izzard" as scarcely any other editor in Georgia knows it. To change the figure, Jim has played the newspaper symphony on all the keys of the telegraph-sounder, the typewriter and the linotype, so to speak. The "fresh fish" in the profession will miss information and inspiration if they are not given a chance to hear this near-Nestor of our editorial craft. I hope Miss Emily Woodward will lasso Jim and put him in her rodeo!

The Georgians of Manhattan.

The Southern Society of New York city has just had its 30th annual get-together. Notable leaders of that influential civic and social aggregation of southerners are those Georgians like George Foster Peabody, Bob Adamson, Joe Johnson, Telemon Cuyler, Justice William Harmon Black and a lot of others "too numerous to mention."

The southerners in New York business, professional and social life have been outstanding ever since the interstates war ended and men like Judge Roger Pryor, Peabody, John S. Wise, the Van Dykes and the Inmans went to New York to challenge new opportunities for place and fortune. Their numbers and influence have grown for half a century and now some of the most forceful characters in the public life of Manhattan are men and women of southern birth, culture and accomplishments.

It is heartening that those representatives of southern spirit and sentiment continue their personal contacts in their vast Babylonic home and keep alive the better traditions of their Dixie breedings.

Around and About

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Speaking of useless gifts, so far as the recipient was concerned, one was received at the office of Governor L. G. Hardman Friday. It was a carton of cigarettes sent to the governor by air mail by a Louisville, Ky., tobacco company.

"We hope each time you smoke one of these cigarettes that you will remember Louisville is the market center of the country and will soon become the crossroads of the airways," the letter said.

Inasmuch as Governor Hardman never smoked tobacco in any form and does not look with undue favor upon any person who does, the little gift will not be actually consumed by the governor, although he, of course, appreciated the kindly motive of the giver.

John Wilson, secretary to the governor, said the carton would not be wasted.

State Senator Millard Reese, of Brunswick, visited the capitol Friday on legal business. He retires from the legislature this year as his term in the senate expires when the new senate is convened. Many of his friends have indicated that Senator Reese is of gubernatorial timber and that he may be in the race in 1930.

Dr. Peter F. Balmsen, who once held the post of Georgia veterinarian, is a capitol visitor who shook hands with many friends on his visit.

"I've about retired from political life," he said. "I have a farm down near Americus and any person who has had experience in the farming line in Georgia in the last year or so knows that it requires a lot of time and attention to make a farm pay."

Another veteran Atlanta theater manager has passed out of the amusement business with retirement of W. T. Murray as manager of Loew's Grand theater. Mr. Murray has entered business for himself and has charge of distribution in three states for several specialties.

"I hate to get out of the amusement game but I feel that I can enjoy more business success in my new line," he said. He formerly was manager of the Rialto theater. He will be succeeded by "Mike" Mendey, who has been serving as assistant manager of Loew's Grand theater.

Georgia's American Legion will get to work at once to raise $10,000 for the erection of a legion memorial tower in Vogel Forest park at Neels Gap, according to B. M. Lufburrow, state forester.

"I went there with a committee of the legion recently and the committee became more enthusiastic over the proposition than even I was," he said. "The tower will serve as an observatory to locate forest fires and also will afford a magnificent view for tourists."

The governor's office added another picture to its gallery Friday. It is a drawing of the woman's college at Valdosta and was sent to the office by Dr. R. H. Powell, president of the institution.

Pat Mell, chief oil inspector and head racanteur of the state capitol, claims the unique distinction of being able to remember back to the time when "Just Because She Made Dem Goo Goo Eyes" was the popular song hit of the day. A man walked through the capitol lobby whistling a tune.

"Bless my soul but that's the first time I've heard that song in 25 years," said Pat.

"What song is it?" somebody asked.

"It's 'Goo Goo Eyes,'" replied Pat.

And for the benefit of the old-timers who admired that lilting tune he immediately supplied the words of the chorus as follows:

"Just because she made dem goo goo eyes,
I thought I'd won a home and copped a prize.
She is the best that is
And I need her in my biz
Just because she made dem goo goo eyes."

DOLORES HAS NAME CUT SHORT; REASON GIVEN, "BUSINESS"

Los Angeles, February 15.—(United News.)—A portion of the lengthy name of Dolores Del Rio was eliminated "for business purposes" when the Mexican film star appeared in superior court here late today.

Miss Del Rio petitioned the court to change her name from Dolores Asunsolo De Martinez Del Rio, pointing out that the latter was not suitable for business use.

Miss Del Rio, the former Dolores Asunsolo, is the widow of Jaime Martinez Del Rio.

RESERVE BANKS RENEW WARNINGS

Measured by the Associated Press index of 50 industrials, which touched a new low for the year, today's reaction was the second largest this year, being exceeded only by the drastic decline on February 7 which followed the warning against the excessive use of speculative credit by the federal reserve board. It reduced the aggregate quoted value of all listed securities by more than a billion dollars. The bond market also experienced a sharp decline, the Associated Press combined bond price average touching the lowest level in more than two years.

Similar declines took place on the New York curb market, where several of the losses ran from $5 to $17 a share, and in the other leading securities exchanges of the country.

Failure of the directors of the New York Federal Reserve bank to raise the 5 per cent rediscount rate after yesterday's protracted meeting, and the drop of $101,000,000 in brokers' loans, brought a flurry of buying at the opening which carried many issues up $1 to $8 a share. It quickly became apparent, however, that federal reserve authorities were making their credit restriction policy effective in other ways, and the market turned reactionary before midday, with the decline accelerated by the successive advances in the call money rate.

Absence of any "distress selling" or wide-open breaks was attributed to the high margin requirements effective in most of the leading commission houses, and the support accorded by short covering on the part of professional "bear" traders.

TWO ATLANTA FIRMS IN BIG DAIRY MERGER

Ice Cream, Ice and Dairy Plants in Three States Involved.

Merger involving more than $4,000,000 of dairy, ice cream and ice companies in Alabama, Florida, South Carolina and Georgia, into a company to be known as the Formost Dairy Products company, which now holds options on two Atlanta firms, was announced Friday in Associated Press dispatches from Augusta and Jacksonville.

Officials of the Gate City Dairy company and the Jessup and Antrim Ice Cream company Friday night admitted Formost company held options on their companies which expire Monday, February 18. However, the merger with these two companies has not been completed, it was said.

Announcement of the merger was made by Burdette G. Lewis, Greencove Springs, Fla., manager of the J. C. Penny-Gwinn corporation, which is the principal party to the consolidation. Mr. Lewis will be president of the Formost company.

The merger includes between 25 and 30 dairy and ice cream companies in the four states. Augusta and Macon establishments of the company will be key plants from the standpoints of production and distribution, it is said.

Wire dispatches said the Atlanta Ice Cream company also would be included in the merger, but C. G. Duncan, manager of that company, said negotiations for his firm had fallen through.

Companies said in wire dispatches to be included in the undertaking were:

Georgia—Jessup & Antrim Ice Cream company, Gate City Ice Cream company, Atlanta; Joseph Costa company, Athens; Georgia-Carolina Dairy Products company, Augusta; Augusta Creamery, Kinnett-Odom company, Macon; Columbus Dairy company, Americus Ice Cream company; Tifton Ice Cream company; Flowers Ice Cream company, Thomasville; S. B. Breedlove Ice Cream company, Valdosta; Georgia Milk company, Waycross; Crescent City Ice Cream company, Gainesville; Purity Ice Cream company, Rome, and Ashburn Creamery, Ashburn.

South Carolina—Rogers Ice Cream company, Columbia; Hub City Ice Cream company, Spartanburg.

Alabama—Jersey Ice Cream company, Birmingham, and the Kratzer Ice Cream company, Montgomery.

ALLEGED HOLDUP VICTIM ARRESTED, AND THEN FREED

Arrested on a "suspicion" charge after reporting that he had been bound and robbed Friday afternoon by a lone bandit in the store at 17 Decatur street, where he is employed, R. B. Evans, 20-year-old clerk, was released Friday night after detectives had investigated his story.

Evans told Detective John W. Lowe that he had just finished waiting on a customer in the Lester Men's Shop when a man in overalls, whom he supposed was a customer, walked up to him and thrust a gun in his face.

Evans declared that his wrists were bound tightly by the bandit, who then rifled the cash register of $123 and disappeared. The clerk also said that a negro customer entered the store as the bandit was leaving. The negro, Evans reported, freed him so that he could call the police. L. Raines, manager of the store, had stepped up to the corner drug store when the affair occurred.

Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole said that Evans was held pending investigation of his story.

Colonel Lindbergh has engagements to confer in Washington with two leading officials of commercial aviation, Paul Henderson, former assistant postmaster-general and vice president of the Trans-Continental Air Transport, and Casey Jones, head of the Curtiss Flying Service. Jones, is one of the leading civilian pilots of the country and is a member of the advisory committee of the Trans-Continental Air Transport, of which Lindbergh is chairman.

STOPS AT GEORGIA COAST FOR LUNCHEON.

Sapelo Island, Ga., February 15.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh interrupted a flight from Miami to Washington today long enough to dip his wings for a fallen comrade and take lunch with a distinguished group of financiers on the Howard E. Coffin estate.

The noted trans-Atlantic aviator was on his way to the capital again at 1:48 p. m. after spending two hours on the island which afforded President Coolidge two weeks' recreation during the Christmas holidays.

After his take-off from Miami at 7:37 a. m., Colonel Lindbergh dropped out of heavy clouds at Sea Island, Ga., at 11:15 o'clock. He skimmed the beach sands for a quarter of a mile over the spot where Paul Redfern vanished in the southern sky on an August day, 1927, in the first and fatal effort to link the two Americas by air.

Other guests who attend the luncheon were George le Boutillier, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, of which Keyes also is president; Carl Fisher, millionaire Florida real estate operator; Caleb Bragg, New York and Palm Beach sportsman; L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson railroad; Colonel Edward A. Deeds, director of the National City Bank of New York, and Robert H. Davis, also of New York.

Expressing regret that he had to hurry to Washington and forego a pheasant hunt arranged for him, the colonel accepted a brace of fowl from Mr. Coffin, and said he would have them for dinner in Washington this evening.

A drive around the island and a short cruise aboard Zappala, the Coffin yacht, completed Colonel Lindbergh's stay. He said his goodbyes while he inspected his ship and warmed the motor, and was away with typical Lindbergh informality, expecting to reach the capital by nightfall.

Real "Southern Hospitality"

:: New Yorker Dines on Fried Chicken at Cathcart Home ::

No Fable, Tompkins Learns

BY LOYD A. WILHOIT.

That ancient and famed hospitality of the south—the warming chivalry of fried chicken and beaten biscuits—was found Friday night by Lionel Tompkins, seeker of Atlanta's soul, to be not just ancient and famed, but a modern day reality, mellowed by the age of years and tradition.

Connoiseur of the bizarre and strange, Mr. Tompkins has lunched with a young Atlanta architect; with a member of the Atlanta detective force; with an Atlantan contemplating suicide and he has flown by starlight over Atlanta in an airplane with a young writer.

Friday night he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Cathcart, of Laurel avenue, an old southern family, whose invitation to dinner was extended Mr. Tompkins in response to his published desire to enjoy fried chicken and beaten biscuits in true southern style.

Mr. Cathcart, who is head of a large local transfer company, told his guest that the hundreds of people who removed to Atlanta each month came from no particular section of the country but from all parts.

"I was quite intrigued," Mr. Tompkins said, "to learn just how much truth there was in the fabled opinion of the southerner for the 'damn Yankee,' but to my amazement, I found that the word was practically unknown to the southern family. There no longer seems to be any sectional feeling in the south, and I certainly could not have been treated more royally had I been the Prince of Wales."

"Atlanta not only is a city of marvelous business institutions, and of clear-thinking, friendly people, but a city which welcomes strangers."

Mr. Tompkins' visit to the Cathcart home fulfilled the last of the series of five experiences here he planned for himself to find the spirit and the soul of Atlanta. He is a writer from New York and plans to make Atlanta his home.

Your Broadway and Mine

BY WALTER WINCHELL.

New York, February 15.—Two chorus girls, who were bitter enemies for a whole season on tour, met when the new traffic regulations halted them at 45th street yesternight.

"You look," said one of them sarcastically, "as if you hadn't had a dinner since I saw you last."

"Yeah," growled the other, as she sized her up and down, "and you look as if you had been at dinner ever since!"

Added to our list of gags on Arthur Caesar is the one that happened in the old Chantee club. Caesar selected Julius Tannen (who can swing a nifty line of vitrol himself) when Julius entered the place.

"Ah-hah," ah-hah'd Caesar, as he wet his lips and clapped his hands. "Let's have that battle of wits now!"

"Very well," calmly replied Tannen. "Wait until I check mine, so it'll be a fair fight."

ZIEGFELD'S MIDNIGHT FROLIC.

Before a distinguished group of stage, screen and literary celebrities gathered at midnight, F. Ziegfeld reopened the historic midnight roof and revealed another of his handsome frolics. It is headed by the Duncan sisters, recently returned from continental triumphs, and the supporting bill offers Helen Morgan, Paul Whiteman and the most sensational acrobatic dancing quartet this spectator ever bravo'd.

They are named Charlotte Ayers, Malinoff, Karrell and Rasch. Theirs is a spectacular routine, unfolded at a lightening pace, and each of their swift routines left the auditors gasping. Miss Ayers is gracefully hurled, tossed and thrown from one male to the other, and their walloping finish brought bravos and roof-lifting applause.

The hair-raising finale finds Miss Ayers used as a skipping rope, with two of her escorts turning her over and over, with the fourth member jumping. It is a thriller, indeed.

ANOTHER FORM OF CRITICISM.

It was in one of the whoopee parlors, early yesterday yawning. A hula dancer violently tossed her torso in front of a drunk's table. The unappreciative stew growled:

"The nearest she ever got to Hawaii was a can of pineapples!"

SOCIETY OF CHICAGO DRAWN INTO RACKET

spent this time administering to wealthy patients. She said he was modest and unassuming at these times, but that when night came he seemed to be possessed by some diabolical influence.

Gunmen drew their usual deep veil of secrecy about their heavily-guarded haunts and federal and city officials clashed in their theories and motives as all forces of the law moved unsuccessfully today to learn why, how and by whom seven men were lined up against a wall and massacred in a hail of lead and steel.

A "millionaire coroner's jury" of public-spirited men came willingly forward in an effort to clear the shadows of gangland, the crime was reenacted at the St. Valentine's day shambles, but the investigators tonight admitted they "had not found the guilty ones."

Police Are Accused.

That beer war was behind the slayings, all forces agreed, but which phase was responsible puzzled the officials. Another gang, possibly one from an outside city, was incensed because "Bugs" Moran's followers had "hi-jacked" their liquor trucks and wrought bloody vengeance.

F. D. Silloway, assigned to the case by the prohibition department, caused a heated clash between his office and that of Commissioner of Police William F. Russell when he said he had "confidential information" that policemen were involved in the slayings.

He suggested that the officers may have been connected with a liquor syndicate and participated in the killings because they did not receive their "pay-off."

This drew the fire of Commissioner Russell and he demanded the names of any of his officers suspected.

"What we want is facts, not theories," Russell replied to Silloway. "We are interested in anything that points to a solution of this awful affair, but don't want to spend our time chasing unsupported rumors."

Witness Saw "Cops."

John Pendergast, of the detective bureau, joined Russell in discrediting Silloway's theory and said the latter was "barking up the wrong tree."

Silloway's views, however, coincided with a statement of Police Sergeant Al Hoffman, who questioned Frankie Gusenberg shortly before the gangster died. Gusenberg was the only one of the seven victims alive when police arrived at the "firing line" yesterday.

The sergeant quoted Gusenberg as saying "I was shot by two coppers." This was linked further with a statement made by a woman who saw the murderers leave the garage after the massacre. She told police that two of the men wore police uniforms, but had no stars.

Russell advanced the belief that the woman had seen two policemen removing the dying Frank Gusenberg to a police ambulance.

Widows, sweethearts and "molls" of the seven victims, witnesses and those who might be on the "in" were questioned for several hours today, but the law met a wall as hard to penetrate as the brick interior against which the seven members of the Moran gang were placed and mowed down in a volley of machine-gun, shotgun and revolver bullets.

The coroner's jury after visiting the massacre scene questioned relatives, witnesses and suspected associates of the murdered men but, failing to gain any important information, adjourned to meet again on February 23.

Raid All of Gangland.

Relatives said they knew little about the business of their dead kinsmen and all thought they had been law-abiding citizens until notified yesterday of the slaying in the S. M. C. Cartage company garage in North Clark street.

While the coroner's investigation was under way, federal, city and county officers, moving in squads, conducted one of the most thorough searches of the underworld ever undertaken in Chicago. Beer flats, gambling houses, dives and every suspected haunt of gangsters and beer runners were searched.

But gangland was "hiding out." The officers anticipated a scarcity of men to be found in the places where the clicking of poker chips and glasses and the hilarity of hoodlums and their women, mingled with a heavy aroma of cigarette and cigar smoke, formerly could be found with ease.

Recent week-end raids in which thousands of suspicious characters and known gunmen were rounded up had thinned the ranks of habitues of the dives and there were few to come under the gaze of the law today.

Reconstruct Crime.

More than a score of men were taken to headquarters for questioning but whether they knew anything of the massacre was not learned. The code of silence was once again sacredly intact.

When the coroner's jury, state's attorney aides and uniformed policemen went to the scene of yesterday's garage, the gang attack was reenacted purely through the deductions made by investigators, as no eye-witness was left to tell.

Frank Gusenberg, brother of Pete, also a victim, could have told but he, too, kept the code of secrecy until the breath of life departed. Policemen and state's attorney assistants acted the roles of raiders and victims.

The coroner's jury was shown how the men, alighting from an automobile, dashed into the garage, lined their seven enemies against the wall and let loose their deadly missiles in fierce accuracy and numbers. The jury was shown how the men fell to the floor, how one man's head lay across the feet of a dead companion and how another slumped across a chair.

Coroner Herman Bundesen's report was at hand to tell that each of the seven bodies had been pierced by from 25 to 30 bullets and that most of the firing was done after the men had fallen under the first fusillade.

Is Complete Job.

The coroner and his assistant had worked all last night performing autopsies on the bodies. It showed that the raiders had taken little or no chance that any of their enemy would be left alive.

Apparently the seven had fallen from wounds in the chests and abdomen but other wounds indicated their assassins had continued to fire as the victims lay on the floor. Bullet holes in the wall were made by steel-jacketed bullets that had passed through their bodies or from shots that had missed their mark.

In reconstructing the crime, four of the bodies faced to the front and three to the wall. This might or might not indicate the position of the men as they faced the firing squad, investigators said, as the men may have turned in the opposite direction as they fell.

On the surface tonight the gunmen had done a complete job, covered up their tracks perfectly and made their "get-away."

"MOLLS" SEEK ESTATES OF SLAIN GANGSTERS.

Chicago, February 15.—(United News.)—"Gangland ladies"—petrels of underworld romance, threatened tonight to disrupt investigation of Chicago's first gang massacre when they besieged offices of the state's attorney for information concerning the estates and heirs of their henchmen's sweethearts assassinated yesterday by a rival "rum racket" firing squad.

While the bodies of the seven lay cooling on slabs in the county morgue the "mob molls," clad in expensive furs and gaudy jewelry, milled about the halls of the county building awaiting to claim the remains of their love.

Refined and Pretty.

First among the gangster sweethearts to seek police aid in obtaining information was Mrs. Myrtle Gorman. Youthful and pretty with an air of refinement, she presented a strange contrast to the tinseled type of the underworld.

She entered the office of Deputy Police Commissioner John Stege and asked for information concerning the marital status of her "friend, Pete" Gusenberg. Unable to stand the nervous tension longer she broke down and sobbed a wierd tale of love and underworld duplicity.

"Honest, commissioner," she cried, "I didn't know 'Pete' was a gangster. He told me he was a real estate man and I believed him because he was such a gentleman. There was never a sweeter boy than he was, always looking after me. I never knew what it was to want anything.

Knew Nothing of Racket.

Outside the door there were two other girls. They were known only by their first names, Lucille and Ruth. They glared at each other with open hostility when it became known that they both had come to claim the body of "Frankie" Gusenberg. Both denied knowing "Frankie" was a hijacker. To them "Frankie" had been a salesman.

There was Mrs. Heyer. It was all news to her when police told her Adam Heyer had served prison sentences for robbery and operating confidence games. He told her he was in the trucking

North Carolina Also Turns to Study of Job of Completion of 3,200-Mile Highway Program.

BY J. HARRY JENKINS,
Associated Press Correspondent.

Charlotte, N. C., February 15.—(AP) Highways and taxes, problems as old as civilization, yet problems that are ever new, today held the attention of the legislatures of the Carolinas with important and far-reaching changes in method being worked out or planned.

Taxes in North Carolina and speed in completing the 3,200-mile state highway system in South Carolina were the ruling factors. Material amendment or alteration of highway plans appear imminent regardless of the factors behind the various moves.

North Carolina does not assess any property tax for purposes of state government. Nevertheless there is no limit to county taxes. County taxes run the gamut—government, schools, roads and all other needed funds. These taxes have acknowledgedly grown burdensome and the end not yet in sight. So experts on governmental affairs set their minds on some method of relief.

The method hit upon in North Carolina and with the administration approval was an increase in the gasoline tax, this increase to be devoted to paving county roads. A dozen bills went into the legislative hopper and out of it came to the house a composite that called for a five-cent gasoline tax—one cent more than at present—the added cent to be devoted to county roads and the counties to reduce taxes by the sum this would raise plus $500,000 to be diverted from the state highway fund. The gasoline tax raises $2,500,000 for each cent levied and in this way county taxes would be reduced $3,000,000. Not only would the $3,000,000 be prorated among the counties on basis of population, but an additional $500,000 yearly would be spent under direction of the state highway commission where needed, bringing to the counties a total of $3,500,000 from state funds for county roads.

Passed House.

The North Carolina bill has passed the house and now is in the senate.

The South Carolina problem is one that was solved in North Carolina at the time the 6,000-mile state highway system was projected and started. It is to give entire control of the state highway building to the state highway commission, relieve road districts of their bonded indebtedness and to speed the paving of trunk lines to county seats through issuance of $75,000,000 worth of bonds over a period of four years.

South Carolina has a 5-cent gasoline tax, which with automobile license fees is used to pay for building and maintenance of roads, as does the gasoline and automobile tax in its sister state to the north. But the system has been a pay-as-you-go one and the road paving program is far from completed.

The stump in the road in South Carolina has been one of constitutionality. Theoretically the bill is favored by a majority in each branch of the legislature. Actually this may not be. South Carolina has a county delegation legislative system, each county having a certain number of members who form a county legislative commission. Some of these delegations are split and since the bill was introduced at least one member nominally favoring it has announced that he would not be bound to support it just because he was down as a sponsor.

Hearing Date Set.

The measure is before the senate ready for debate and set as a special order for Tuesday, February 19. It is in the house judiciary committee and nobody knows when it will come out. The judiciary committee has heard all sides and named a subcommittee of five to examine into the constitutionality of the measure in view of the constitutional provision providing a state-wide vote on state bond issues. This subcommittee last night announced three to two that the bill was constitutional.

The committee has not yet decided whether the majority or minority subcommittee report will prevail.

AMENDMENT OFFERED TO BOND MEASURE.

Columbia, S. C., February 15.—(AP) An amendment to the $75,000,000 highways bond issue bill was introduced in the South Carolina state senate today to provide for submitting the question to a vote of the people of the state. Indications were that introduction of the amendment and mention of a similar one being prepared was a forerunner of opposition to the measure.

Artificial Shortening Must Be Designated As Such, Ruling Holds

Sale of all vegetable oil and nut oil shortenings and animal fat compound shortenings not classified as oleomargerine or butter imitations was placed under a ban in Georgia Friday, through an order issued by Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture. Commissioner Talmadge acted on a recommendation made by J. Frampton King, state chemist.

The recommendations were made by Mr. King after he had made an investigation of the situation and had found that in many places such artificial shortenings were being sold as real butter.

IN DESPAIR OVER FINDING RELIEF TURNS TO SARGON

Eleven Years' Struggle for Health Now Ended and She Gains Six Pounds After Taking Only Two Bottles.

"Thanks to Sargon my eleven years' struggle for health is over and I am now a well and happy woman. My gratitude to the medicine is unbounded.

MRS. MARY WHITTAKER.

"I despaired of ever finding relief from the dyspepsia that had practically made me a semi-invalid. I would no sooner eat a meal than my stomach would begin to sour and bloat. The gas would press up into my chest until I could hardly breathe and my heart would skip beats until it frightened me. One day I had one of these attacks down town and I had to go into a drug store and stay there a long time before I could leave. I tried many different treatments and medicines without benefit. I took so much soda that it lost its effect on me.

"A day never passed that I did not suffer tortures from this dyspepsia and nervousness. At night I could not lay on my left side; if I did my heart acted like it would stop beating and I had to jump up or turn over quick, or I believe it would have stopped.

"Sargon helped me from the very first day and I have not had one of those spells since. I have only taken two bottles but I can eat and digest perfectly anything I want. I have gained six pounds. I can sleep on my left side now just as well as on my right. I have no more trouble with biliousness and constipation. I am never nervous now, and I feel so strong and well that there is nothing too good I can say for Sargon. It is just wonderful."

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. Mary Whittaker, highly esteemed resident of 217 West California St., Oklahoma City.

The Sargon representative is at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, where he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of the medicine. Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills may also be obtained at the other Jacobs' stores all over Atlanta. —(adv.)

The orchestra is under the direction of O. L. Dayton, Jr., of Dade City, Fla. Its members: Bill Benton, Macon; Jimmie Lawton, Macon; Hamilton Middlebrooks, Macon; Logan Bloodworth, Macon; George Dayton, Dade City, Fla.; O. L. Dayton; Chris CoCroft, Thomasville; Milton Blum, Jersey City, N. J.; Bob Elmore, Macon, and Emmett Bullington, Macon.

The comedians are: James D. O'Neal, of Macon; Tom Vickery, Hartwell; Norwood Jones, Macon. John I. Bailey, Macon, is interlocutor. George Dayton offers flute solos, and Mr. Bailey is the vocal soloist.

THREE ATLANTANS WIN COMMISSIONS IN RESERVE CORPS

Nine Georgians—three from Atlanta—are included in a list of 50 applicants from the eight southeastern states which comprise the Fourth Corps area, who have been given commissions as officers in the organized reserve corps, according to an announcement from headquarters of the area at Fort McPherson.

Augustus S. Loyless, son of Mrs. Donald A. Loyless and a graduate of the University of Georgia, class of '28, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the infantry. Murray H. Hubbard, of Atlanta, also was made a second lieutenant, infantry, while James F. Morison, Atlanta, was commissioned a captain, specialist.

Other Georgians given commissions were:

Hugh F. J. Arundel, Statesboro, second lieutenant, veterinary corps; Albert S. Burton, Forsyth, first lieutenant, infantry; Willie O. Byrd, Augusta, second lieutenant, infantry; James O. Couch, Forsyth, second lieutenant, infantry; Bryant E. Wilcox, Augusta, captain, infantry, and Leon M. White, Milledgeville, second lieutenant, infantry.

DR. T. P. CLEVELAND TO BE LAID TO REST IN ATHENS SUNDAY

The Rev. Thomas P. Cleveland, D. D., oldest Presbyterian divine in the south, will be laid to his final rest in Athens on Sunday, following funeral services to be conducted Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Central Presbyterian church, Atlanta. Dr. J. C. Patton and the Rev. C. P. Allen will officiate and the body will lie in state at the church from noon today until the hour of the service.

Dr. Cleveland died early Thursday at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Frances Cleveland Smith, at 1006 Highland View, N. E. He was one of the most beloved ministers ever to hold a pastorate in the south. He was the last surviving graduate of the Princeton class of 1858 and was a relative of the late ex-President Grover Cleveland. He was 82 years old.

During the war between the states Dr. Cleveland served as chaplain of the Tenth Georgia regiment. He had been made chaplain for life of Camp 159, United Confederate Veterans and was major and chaplain general of the north Georgia division of that organization. Members of Camp 159 will act as escort of honor at the services this afternoon.

REVENUE DIVISION DEPUTIES WILL AID DRIVE ON '28 TAGS

The state revenue department will cooperate with police chiefs of cities and counties in enforcing the automobile license tag law and in locating automobiles which do not bear a 1929 license, it was announced Friday by George H. Carswell, secretary of state. John M. Vandiver, state revenue collector, will place a force of special deputies in the field who will devote their entire time to the location of cars which do not bear the new tags.

Secretary Carswell has received assurances of cooperation from Chief of Police James L. Beavers, of Atlanta, George M. Mathiesson, Fulton county chief of police, and other police officials throughout the state.

It is probable that the drive against the people who have not purchased tags will begin some time next week.

Armstrong, Visiting City, Lauds Growth; Says Business Good

C. A. Armstrong, sales manager of S. C. Johnson & Son, manufacturers of floor wax polishes, Friday was a visitor in Atlanta, conffering at the Atlanta branch at 16 West Peachtree street, N. W., with A. L. P. Smith, manager.

Mr. Armstrong, who has headquarters at Racine, Wis., has been on a tour of southwestern and southern branches of S. C. Johnson & Son, and will be here until Sunday night, when he will return to the Wisconsin city. He reported that business in the south and southwest is excellent and that his company is gratified with the growing volume of its sales in these sections. The local branch covers the states of Georgia, the Carolinas and Alabama.

"It has been four years since I was in Atlanta," Mr. Armstrong said, "the last occasion being the opening of our big warehouse here. I notice many signs of rapid growth and development on all sides. Apparently Atlanta is in every way an up and coming city."

DR. C. A. SHELDON WILL GIVE ORGAN CONCERT SUNDAY

An unusually interesting program has been arranged by Dr. Charles A. Sheldon, city organist, for the free organ recital to be given at the auditorium Sunday afternoon.

These recitals, a feature of Sunday afternoons in Atlanta, begins promptly at 3 o'clock and last for one hour. There is no charge for admission and all Atlantans and visitors to the city are invited to attend.

RETHBERG RECITAL TO BE FEATURED BY VARIED PROGRAM

Madame Elisabeth Rethberg, who appears in recital at the Woman's club auditorium Monday night, has arranged a program for the Atlanta concert which is remarkable for the widely variant types of numbers. Included in the list of composers represented are Weber, Gounod, Hahn, Fourdrain, Schubert, Brahms, Strauss, Puccini and a group of songs of English masters.

Sale of seats for the Rethberg recital, which is one of the civic concert series presented by the Atlanta Music club, is now on at Phillips and Crew Piano company, to continue there through Monday until 5 o'clock. The box office at the club auditorium will open at 7 o'clock Monday night, while the concert will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

TIDEWATER OFFICE REMOVAL UPHELD BY HIGH TRIBUNAL

Recent action of the state board of game and fish in moving the tidewater headquarters from Darien to Brunswick was upheld by the supreme court Friday in a decision handed down in a case appealed from the McIntosh superior court. When the board sought to move the headquarters last summer the city of Darien sought an injunction to prevent the removal on the ground that the city had made certain concessions which amounted to "vested rights" to the headquarters. The trial court denied the injunction and this decision was affirmed by the supreme court Friday.

BANK DEPARTMENT LOSES $3,200 SUIT FOR ASSESSMENT

The supreme court Friday handed down a decision relieving Mrs. M. D. Cox, of Dublin, of liability for an assessment of $3,200 made by the state banking department against 36 shares of stock in the Bank of Dublin, which recently failed. The court held that the stock had been purchased for Mrs. Cox without her knowledge by the president of the institution, who recently died. The supreme court affirmed a decision of the trial court.

HISTORICAL BODY EXPECTED TO MEET HERE NEXT YEAR

Atlanta will serve as host to the members of the Georgia Historical society at its ninety-first annual meeting, to be held next year, according to present indications, it was reported Friday by Miss Ruth Blair, state historian, who returned from the session held in Savannah during the week.

Miss Blair said no definite action has been taken in the matter, but she felt certain the society would decide to hold its next annual meeting in Atlanta. The society has never met in any city except Savannah.

HANCOCK BEGINS TERM

Former Lakewood Cashier Assigned to Chaingang.

P. W. Hancock, former cashier of the Lakewood bank, who was sentenced to serve from six to seven years when he pleaded guilty several days ago to a charge of embezzling $53,488.98 from the bank, Friday was assigned to the north convict camp in Fulton county for work on the public roads. The assignment was made by the state prison commission.

Liquidation Begun.

The state banking department Friday began the liquidation of the Bank of Maxeys, in Oglethorpe county, it was announced by A. B. Mobley, superintendent of the department. The liquidation is voluntary on the part of the officials of the bank who telegraphed the department asking that it take the bank over and liquidate its assets.

RESPONSIBLE HEAD FOR GEORGIA URGED

Dr. Dodd Says State Has Nominal Leader Who Has No Real Power.

The great problem facing state governments today is to insure efficient handling of ever-increasing lines of business and still retain popular control, declared Dr. Walter F. Dodd, of Yale university, in his address Friday afternoon at a luncheon given by the Georgia League of Women Voters, honoring the citizenship conference which has been in session here this week.

Mrs. Wellington Stevens, president of the state league, presided at the meeting, which was attended by approximately 200 prominent representatives from all over Georgia. Dr. Dodd's talk, which was a feature of the program, was preceded by the introduction of a number of prominent women and Dr. Theodore Jack, chairman of the men's council of the league. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Lamar Rutherford Lipscomb, ninth district chairman.

In discussing problems of state government which are confronting Georgia and most of the other states, Dr. Dodd declared that they are greater today than ever before, due to the fact that states are doing more and spending more money and that the limit has not yet been reached.

He stated that one of the great difficulties in Georgia is that the governor while the nominal head of the state is without any real power. He pointed out that the large number of elective officers and the 109 bureaus and departments presented a situation which made it practically impossible for anyone to be held responsible for their actions. Unifying the business of the state with a responsible head is the only solution, he declared.

"Georgia has taken three important steps in the right direction," he stated. "These are formation of a budget and investigating committee, establishment of a state auditor's office, and the law providing that all money collected in the state shall be turned into the state treasury and expended from there. These are advances in the line of progress, but the movement for improvement must be continued."

Alleged Slayer Indicted.

Henry Varner, negro, Friday was indicted by the Fulton grand jury for the murder of Ben Searcy, negro, on February 9 at North avenue and Emmett street. Searcy was shot four times with a .25 calibre automatic pistol, it was said.

Burglars Get $2,000 in Loot At Hiram, Ga.

Hiram, Ga., February 15.—(Special.)—Several stores were burglarized at this place Thursday night. The general store of Shipp & Rakestraw was the heaviest loser. The safe was blown and about $2,000 in cash and checks taken. Several suits of clothes and silk dresses were missing from the dry goods store of Clarence Turner. Other stores entered lost little, if anything, of value.

The burglaries were not discovered until the places were opened for business this morning.

There is no clue as to the identity of the perpetrators.

ATLANTA OPERA STORIES READY IN NEAR FUTURE

Work is progressing rapidly on the ninth annual edition of "Stories of Atlanta Operas," by Dudley Glass, a publication which has become an institution here in connection with the presentations of the Metropolitan Opera company, and the 1929 number will be off the press well in advance of opera week, it was learned Friday.

Mr. Glass, who is widely known in local newspaper circles, was for 18 years a musical critic here. In 1921 he began the publication of his "opera stories," giving interesting facts in connection with each of the operas to be presented and a complete synopsis of the plots, enabling opera patrons to follow the presentations with more pleasure.

So successful was the plan that he has continued the practice every year since then and already he has received a large number of inquiries in regard to this year's number, which will be most attractively arranged, with a striking cover by H. K. Mitchell, local artist, taken from the opera "Faust."

MARSHAL FOCH REPORTED BETTER

Paris, February 15.—(AP)—Marshal Foch passed a rather satisfactory day and was allowed to indulge his growing appetite with fillet of sole.

His doctors said that his condition was showing a tendency toward amelioration, but it was decided to have a general consultation of his four physicians tomorrow in order to review his illness in all its aspects.

ENGINE TROUBLE HALTS ALTITUDE MARK ATTEMPT

Wright Field, Ohio, February 15. (AP)—After remaining aloft for two hours and 20 minutes in a flight to set a new altitude record, Lieutenant Harry Johnson, Selfridge field flier, landed here at 1:50 p. m. today.

Johnson attained an estimated altitude of 35,000 feet. Trouble with the supercharger on the plane forced him to descend after reaching 35,000 feet, several thousand feet under the present altitude mark. Lieutenant Johnson suffered no ill effects from the flight and plans to make a new attempt as soon as repairs to the plane device are made.

ROAD WINS CASE

Dismissal of $25,000 Damage Suit Is Upheld.

Dismissal of a suit for $25,000 damages, brought by Mrs. T. H. Watson against the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad by the city court of Macon, was upheld by the supreme court in a decision handed down Friday. The lower court's dismissal of the plaintiff's petition previously had been sustained by the court of appeals. The suit was brought in connection with the death of the husband of the plaintiff who was employed as a hostler in the Macon yards of the railroad.

2 More Members of Council Lend Impetus to Movement To Erect Alabama Viaduct

Alderman Williamson, of Ninth, and Councilman Chosewood, of Third, Support Project.

Northern and southern section of the city joined hands again Friday in urging construction of the proposed Alabama street viaduct, from Forsyth street to Haynes.

Alderman Oscar H. Williamson, of the ninth ward, and Councilman Charles L. Chosewood, of the third, strongly supported the movement, which in the past several days has enlisted the active support of practically every leader in the local government and which received the backing of some of the city's largest taxpayers who are located in the district where the improvement would be erected.

City-Wide Benefit.

"Establishment of the viaduct would round out Atlanta's series of bridges and would be of inestimable city-wide benefit," Mr. Williamson said. "To my mind it is one of the most needed improvements which could be projected and at the same time would be of universal benefit to the city.

"With completion of the new Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts, the need for the proposed new structure extending over the Spring street viaduct will be even more apparent than it has been in the past, and I can not urge its inclusion in the proposed new $8,000,000 bond issue too strongly."

Connecting Link.

"The proposed new viaduct would afford a connecting link in Atlanta's bridges which would be of great value to thousands of Atlantans," Mr. Chosewood declared. "The time has come when one section of the city can not be neglected without a detrimental reaction to all others.

"Those who own property in the immediate section which the bridge would serve deserve the careful consideration of authorities who are to formulate the bond issue items to be offered to the people of Atlanta sometime this spring. It is important, the most important item which has yet been suggested in so far as city-wide affect is concerned."

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction; representatives from practically every ward in the city, and leading business men already have voiced their favor of the proposal.

LARGE AUDIENCE ENJOYS FROLICS AT '81' THEATER

Despite the cold and rain of Friday night, one of the largest crowds of the past few weeks enjoyed "Miss Inez," which was presented at 81 Decatur street in a midnight frolic for white persons only. Every act on the program was above the average and it was one of the few shows in which every act received a hearty applause. An encore was called for after every part, but a limited time prevented a repetition of any of the acts.

To single out any particular act would be an injustice to the others, but to some patrons, the work of Sol Speights, Oscar Jones and George Allen, comedians par excellence, probably outshone the rest of the characters. Their presentation of the cabaret scene in the last act was one well worthy of remembering and literally left the house in a storm.

Opening with a "bang," the first act was a general signal for an outburst of applause which rarely ever calmed down until the final curtain fell in the last act. Instead of getting weaker as the show progressed, the Friday night program grew stronger, ending with a real climax.

Erlanger.

"Ned McCobb's Daughter" at the matinee today and that gripping and stirring dramatic masterpiece, "John Ferguson," tonight. With these two bills the highly successful season of the New York Theater Guild Repertory company will be brought to a close at the Erlanger theater. Not in years has a company of such outstanding merit and composed of artists of such a brilliant caliber been seen in Atlanta.

Coming to Erlanger.

Who, except Guy Bolton and Fred Thompson, co-authors of "Rio Rita," which comes to the Erlanger theater next week, would have thought of setting their "big" act in a floating cabaret on the Rio Grande river? The Messrs. Bolton and Thompson have, up to date, utilized almost every device for stage novelty, but in "Rio Rita" they have sprung a genuine surprise by vivifying a sprightly scene upon an ancient barge, transformed into an ultra-modern cabaret.

Keith's Georgia.

"Captain Lash," the Fox film starring Victor McLaglen, who made his first great smashing hit in "What Price Glory," also a Fox picture, will close tomorrow at the Georgia theater. His present vehicle is a romance of the high seas and of ports at the end of a voyage made thrilling by a love affair between an ocean liner's fifth engineer and an adventuress. There is a mystery and one fight after another and an unusual love affair between the hero, McLaglen, and the heroine, Claire Windsor.

Howard.

Metropolitan.

Taken from Arthur Somers Roche's famous novel, "The Hardboiled Angel," showing for the last time today at the Metropolitan, is the story of a girl who wanted money and was willing to get it via the matrimonial route. Sally O'Neill and Donald Reed have the leading roles, with Lilyan Tashman in the cast. "Hawaiian Nights," a Vitaphone presentation, "The Joy Riders," a Photophone comedy, and Fox Movietone News form the short program at the Me...

BIG EXPRESS MERGER WINS I. C. C. APPROVAL

New Company Will Take Over Nearly All Business of Country.

Washington, February 15.—(AP)—Full approval of railroad plans to consolidate virtually the entire express business of the country in the hands of a single corporation, the Railway Express Agency, Inc., was given today by the interstate commerce commission.

The Southeastern Express company, operating in southern territory, is not included in the consolidation.

Under contracts which the commission approved, the Railway Express Agency will issue 1,000 shares of capital stock and $32,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds and will acquire all of the property of the American Railway Express company. Profits from express service will be divided among railroads in proportion to the business which they contribute and the nominal issue of capital will be divided among the 86 lines which are members of the Association of Railway Executives.

The new arrangement takes effect on March 1, all property acquisitions having been made tentatively by the railroad representatives prior to submitting the issue to the commission.

In view of the early date for the establishment of the new system, the commission hurried its consideration of the project. The facts were submitted on February 6 and the program was approved February 11 by a vote of the commission, with no members dissenting, for announcement today. Practically all of the express business has been handled by the American Railway Express company since 1920, but the contracts governing it expire March 1. The new arrangement will take effect in time to supersede the old one.

AUDITOR FILES REPORT ON PHILIPS' LIABILITY

Washington, February 15.—(AP)—Herbert L. Davis, special auditor for the District of Columbia supreme court, has filed a report fixing the liability of John L. Philips, former republican state committeeman of Georgia, and of Frank T. Sullivan, lumber merchant of Buffalo, N. Y., for sales of lumber from army cantonments after the armistice.

Davis found that Philips was liable to the federal government for $1,380,825 principal and interest to June 3, 1927. Of this amount, Sullivan was held jointly liable with Philips to the extent of $947,610.73.

The men were acquitted of criminal conspiracy charges growing out of an alleged defrauding of the government in the sale of the lumber. The government then brought the civil proceedings which terminated June 3, 1927, when Justice Jennings Bailey decided Philips and Sullivan were liable to the government for the money received from the sales and certified the matter to the auditor to reach a figure as to the total liability.

Other persons held in smaller amounts under the decree, on which the auditor had only to compute interest, include the Metropolitan bank and S. S. Chambers, of Newark, N. J., executors of George M. Chambers; Lee L. Hereell, lumber merchant, of Washington, D. C.; Mitchell A. Touart, Jr., of Pensacola, Fla.; Mrs. Lottie Eitzen, executrix of Gus Eitzen, a former partner of Touart, and Charles Philips, of Georgia, brother of John L. Philips.

ELIHU ROOT SAILS ON 84TH BIRTHDAY TO AID COURT GROUP

New York, February 15.—(AP)—Elihu Root, who is 84 years old today, will sail for Europe at midnight on the Italian liner Augustus to accept an invitation of the League of Nations to sit with jurists to revise the statute of the world court. Although not acting as a representative of the United States government, he is expected while in Europe to try informally to lay the groundwork for acceptance of the American reservations.

At the home of the former secretary of state it was said he was in excellent health. He planned to spend the day quietly with his son, Elihu Root, Jr., and his daughter-in-law.

"Work renewed the lease on the strength of a 14-word opinion from a solicitor in his department," Walsh told the senate. "I doubt whether he even read the contract. And now he is studiously endeavoring to shift the responsibility to me."

Nye Defends Accused.

Chairman Nye, of the public lands committee, who has worked until now in apparent harmony with Walsh on the oil cases growing out of the Harding administration, replied to Walsh's opening statement. He contended the Walsh report was unduly severe in its criticism of the two departments involved and emphatically denied newspaper charges that he is seeking to defend Work and Donovan.

"By rejecting this report," Nye said, "we will be confessing that although there may have been errors, blunders and perhaps a degree of poor judgment by the two departments, nevertheless the eventual result was the cancellation of the Sinclair contract and this result was obtained by the efforts of the department of justice."

Says Walsh Approved.

Senator Robinson, republican, Indiana, sought to shift part of the responsibility for renewal of the Sinclair contract from Work to Walsh himself. He showed that the senator wrote a letter to W. G. Williams of New York shortly before the contract was renewed declaring an opinion that Work could not avoid the renewal unless the original contract was shown to be invalid. He also charged that Walsh in another letter approved the so-called Cat creek contract containing a renewal clause similar to that in the Sinclair contract.

"Senator Walsh would censure two departments of the government for doing exactly what he did in this case—changing his mind," said Robinson.

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, denied that the letters referred to showed that Walsh approved the renewal. He said the letter concerning the Cat creek contract was sent out by Walsh's secretary as a routine matter and without Walsh's knowledge and that the other could not properly be construed as an approval of the course later followed by Work.

Robinson is expected to resume the discussion tomorrow and a vote is not expected for several days.

Dry Law 'Noble Experiment' Declares German Educator

:: DR. MERCK IS CURIOUS OVER RESULT ::

BY C. M. McMILLAN.

"Your prohibition is a noble experiment, but I could not be a good German if I were dry," said Dr. Walther Merck, Germany's most prominent educator, in an interview Friday afternoon at the Biltmore on American and German problems.

Dr. Merck, who was sent to Atlanta by the Carnegie endowment for international peace to address the Southeastern Citizenship conference in session at Emory university, discussed prohibition, reparations, education, and America with enthusiasm, and a manner that showed that he was well-informed as to all world events. He studied in England before and since the war, and he speaks the English language very much like an Englishman.

The noted educator is the chairman of the National Educational association at Hamburg, Germany. In 1928 he was the democratic candidate for the reichstag, and upon his defeat, decided to come to America to study educational conditions here. He has been here only a month, but will remain five more months. This is his first trip to the south.

Fond of Beer.

Dr. Merck frankly admits that he partakes of the liquors and beers, and assures Atlanta that it is handicapped in having nothing better than near-beer. However, he says he admires the dry virtues in others, and is looking forward with consuming curiosity and wonderment to the outcome of America's attempt at prohibition.

"America must be commended for what it is trying to do," he said Friday, "but it has serious difficulties. Chief of these is human nature. Drink is a weakness of human nature, I believe."

In regard to the reparations commission now in session in Paris, Dr. Merck has greatest hopes for successful outcome.

"It has a hard job before it. It must first fix the ultimate amount of the debt. Then it must commercialize the debt, that is, put it into terms of bonds. And lastly, it will have to see that our currency system can stand the test.

Losers Always Pay.

"No, Germany does not wish to escape the reparations. Our people were losers, and 'losers are always payers.' But the debt must be reasonable and definite. We can not go on indefinitely paying with no assurance that we will ever pay up. The coming generations of Germany would not do it. No nation would.

"What Germany resents most is the part of the Versailles treaty which places entire blame upon Germany for the world war. Of course, no thinking man believes that today. At least, that's what the rest of the world tells us. Yet that onus has not been removed, and it serves as a knife to keep the wound in Germany's heart open."

DR. WALTHER MERCK.

Dr. Merck paid high tribute to the American educational system, adding that it, too, is a "noble experiment."

"Democratic education," he said, "as you have it in America, is but an ideal for Germany. Twice bills have been presented to the German reichstag for free education, and both times it has met defeat."

America's Two Souls.

In speaking of the antagonistic attitude of the European press toward America, he expressed the belief that "Europe is looking only at the materialistic soul of America. This is unfair, for I believe that all men have two souls. And so has America. America faces the danger of 'tremendous prosperity,' which might eventually lead to its downfall. However, I believe that America's other soul will undoubtedly come forward with its power, and serve to balance the American mind. I believe in America and believe that it will become more internationally minded."

Dr. Merck will address the Southeastern Citizenship conference at 11 o'clock this morning, this being the closing address of the meeting.

Jesse Exum, local parachute artist, again will attempt to break the southern record Sunday afternoon, when, if weather permits, he will seek to land from an altitude of 6,000 feet, which would shatter the present mark by 500 feet. In the event of high wind, however, Exum will content himself with the usual drop of about 2,000 feet. Other aerial events will be included in the usual Sunday afternoon carnival, including some stunts and a formation flight over the city.

Although nothing has been heard from Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, the most famous benedict-to-be of the day, anent his visit to Atlanta, local aviation officials were going ahead with their plans to receive the noted flier. No definite arrangements have been completed, but it is understood that a royal welcome awaits the "viking of the air," should he decide to include this city in his itinerary.

CADETS' ROMANTIC PLANS TO 'GET RICH' ARE FRUSTRATED

Indianapolis, February 15.—(AP)—Four cadets, A. W. O. L. from Culver Military academy at Culver, Ind., whose plans to "go to Santa Domingo and get rich" were frustrated, today awaited arrival of an academy representative to straighten out their affairs.

The four are Jay Roy Hunt, Jr., 18, of Hollywood, Calif.; Samuel Barron Stevens, 16, of Rome, N. Y.; Richard J. Schuler, 16, of New York city, and Juan Suarez, 17, of Porto Rico.

Placing stuffed dummies in their beds to deceive the inspecting officer the youths slipped away from the academy Wednesday night. Late yesterday they were arrested at Valley Mills, Ind., while en route to Evansville on a bus.

The boys explained they were tired of school. They were held here in default of bonds but finally released on their own recognition.

Hunt is the son of a motion picture director. The fathers of Stevens and Schuler are Wall street brokers and the elder Suarez is a Porto Rican sugar plantation owner, the boys said.

WOMAN SENTENCED TO SERVE 20 YEARS FOR BANK ROBBERY

Owensboro, Ky., February 15.—(AP) Mrs. Grace Browder, accused jointly with her husband, Carl Browder, charged with holding up and robbing the Farmers' bank of West Louisville, January 9, last, was found guilty by a jury in the Daviess county circuit court today and was sentenced to serve 20 years in the penitentiary, the maximum penalty under the law. The jury was out 25 minutes.

Carl Browder was tried Tuesday, the jury in his case failing to agree when one juror held out for a three-year penalty.

The Browders were arrested in Atlanta.

Geneva failure. This government did not feel warranted in taking this initiative since the abortive Geneva conference was held at the suggestion of President Coolidge, but the United States warmly welcomes the move from Great Britain.

Secretary of State Kellogg read the statement of the British ambassador shortly after its issuance this morning with the greatest interest. He declined comment, however, except to say that he had no information on the subject from the British government, but that the United States had always welcomed such proposals in the past. Mr. Kellogg stated that the United States had notified all the powers signatory to the Washington treaty that the conference scheduled in 1931 under this pact could be called as early as desired that year.

Coolidge To Talk.

There were indications that President Coolidge would make known his views later in the day, but at the regular white house press conference at 4 p. m., no statement was forthcoming concerning the president's attitude.

The statement was received at the capitol with such surprise that senators and representatives generally reserved comment. Such a statement from an ambassador was held to be so unusual that members of both houses mostly preferred to study the document at leisure. Discussion of it, however, probably will take place later on the floor of the senate.

"America has always been out in the open and ready to confer on limitations of armaments at any time," Chairman Britten, of the house naval affairs committee, said, in commenting on the ambassador's statement.

The British diplomat's statement, though it is understood to foreshadow negotiations that eventually will include all the principal naval powers, is of immediate and particular interest to the United States.

It is understood to show that Great Britain intends first to secure an agreement on principle with the United States before discussion of details with all the powers. Such an agreement, it is held, would be of the greatest world importance as it would serve to wipe out the antagonism that has developed between the two greatest naval powers over the disarmament question.

If an agreement can be reached between the United States and Great Britain and perhaps Japan on the agenda for another conference, the way then would be clear for useful negotiations between all the powers, it is believed.

Cabinet Holds Key.

The British cabinet in London, however, holds the key as to when England will actually begin conversations with the United States. The disarmament question has become a political issue in Great Britain, the opponents of the conservative government charging that the present British government is responsible for the strained situation with the United States.

Therefore, whether conversations open with Washington before or after the British general elections scheduled four or five months from now, is a question that must be decided by the Baldwin government. It is believed likely that the first step in the actual negotiations may be a reply from Great Britain to President Coolidge's note rejecting the Franco-British naval accord but leaving the door open for further negotiations. In this case, there is a bare possibility that the reply may be sent in the immediate future.

However, the main negotiations of course will be carried on under President Hoover, and it is generally felt that with a new government in Washington and a new government probably in Great Britain before a conference is actually held that a new page will have been turned in the disarmament question.

The statement by Sir Esme was read with intense interest in all diplomatic circles, although comment was reserved. Speculation largely centered on when and where the conference, which it is believed would be a final result of Sir Esme's statement, would be held. Many thought that another conference might well be held in Washington, in view of the success of the first conference here.

SHIP BUILDING DATE SET BY AGREEMENT

No Funds Desired for Program During Current Fiscal Year, Stated.

Washington, February 15.—(AP)—President Coolidge's decision to initiate the 16 warship construction program in the fiscal year beginning July 1, instead of at the present time was reached under an understanding from house and senate leaders that no funds were desired for this work during the current fiscal year.

The views of the chief executive became known today almost simultaneously with a recommendation to the senate by its appropriations committee that $700,000 be provided immediately in the navy department supply bill to commence building of the first six of the warships. The committee proposed that of the $12,370,000 requested by Mr. Coolidge to start the building program, $700,000 be allocated for work during the current fiscal period which continues until July 1.

Meanwhile, at the other end of the capitol a move was launched during the day looking to a boost in the amount suggested by the president to initiate the program. Chairman Britten, of the house naval committee, announced that as soon as the senate has completed work on the navy supply bill which carries the cruiser appropriation, he would institute an inquiry to determine if the budget bureau did not 'arbitrarily" cut down the appropriation proposed by the navy department for getting the building program under way.

Are Satisfied.

Senate naval advocates, however, appeared satisfied today with the $12,370,000 appropriation. They contend that the big thing is to get the program started immediately. To that end the appropriations committee indorsed the proposal of its subcommittee to make $700,000 of the appropriation immediately available.

Mr. Coolidge's belief that congressional leaders were not desirous of funds for the present year was based upon conferences with members of the house and senate.

However, his budget recommendation of funds for the next fiscal year was interpreted in some quarters as an attempt to forestall construction at the present, despite a provision of the new construction act that five cruisers be laid down before July 1.

Under the act, five of the vessels are to be laid down in each of the fiscal years of 1929, 1930 and 1931. Because of the condition of the treasury, Mr. Coolidge is anxious that construction be postponed until after July 1.

He believes it makes little difference whether five of the vessels are started in June of this year and five more in June of 1930 or the first five in September of this year and the second five in September of 1930. He feels that what little difference exists would be lessened if construction is begun in July of this year and next year, respectively.

The amount of appropriation which he recommended was in accordance with his understanding of what would be satisfactory to the navy department.

In the senate there have been fears of a fight against any appropriation for the cruisers but leaders were confident tonight of getting the navy department bill through early next week. It will be taken up tomorrow or Monday.

INDUSTRIAL BUILDING PLANNED FOR U. S. PEN

Washington, February 15.—(AP)—Legislation to make available $250,000 of the Atlanta federal penitentiary working capital for construction of a building to permit establishment of additional industries there was recommended to congress today by President Coolidge.

The recommendation said that it was planned to undertake the spinning of yarn required for the manufacture of canvas and various types of cotton fabrics and the additional room was needed for looms used in the manufacture of sheeting, nainsooks and various types of light cotton fabrics.

Proposal to erect an industrial building at the Atlanta federal penitentiary at a cost of $250,000 was hailed Friday night by Warden John W. Snook as one of the most important measures yet placed before congress in regard to the local institution.

Mr. Snook declared there are about 500 prisoners at the institution for whom there is no work because of overcrowded conditions, and added that even if new prisons are constructed to relieve this condition the new industry would be of advantage to the government and also to inmates of the prison.

"Many of the prisoners have families who suffer because the breadwinners are incarcerated," Mr. Snook said. "Prisoners under the present plan earn a small amount which could be sent their families if they could be provided with remunerative employment while at the institution. The new industry would furnish this opportunity.

"The proposed new structure would be an addition to the textile mill now in operation at the prison and would save the government thousands of dollars in the manufacture of such materials as it now uses."

POLICEMAN SEEKS TO REGAIN ALLEGED BRIBE MONEY

London, February 15.—(AP)—Attorneys for George Goddard, the former police sergeant, who was recently imprisoned for accepting bribes from night clubs, today served a writ on Lord Byng, police commissioner of Scotland Yard, for the return of about $60,000 of their client's money, which was seized by the government, the funds were taken from safe deposit boxes.

Goddard was found guilty coincidentally with Luigi Ribuffi, a restaurant owner, and Mrs. Kate Merrick, mother-in-law of two peers, and herself a proprietor of night clubs. He was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment while each of the others was given 15 months. Besides conspiracy to bribe, Mrs. Merrick and Ribuffi were convicted of illegal sale of liquor.

Son Has Fasted 23 Days To Drive Devil From Father

:: FATHER BLAMES REVIVALIST FOR FAST ::

Lima, Ohio, February 15.—(AP)—Fred Conrad, 27, today entered the last week of life allotted him if he continues a hunger strike, now in its twenty-third day, aimed at "driving the devil" from his father, George Conrad, who stands at the bedside for hours begging his son to take food in the hope of saving his life.

Conrad's father blamed the Rev. Mr. Ray Dodson, revivalist, for his son's fast. He has despaired of inducing his son to eat, and declared he believed the minister the only person capable of obtaining his consent to take food. Conrad weighs 145 pounds, 55 pounds less than he weighed when he took up the fast. Physicians have given him not more than a week to live if he continues.

OGLETHORPE STADIUM FINANCING DISCUSSED

Plans for financing the proposed new athletic stadium for Oglethorpe university were discussed Friday night at a business meeting of the alumni association of the university. Speakers included Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president; Walter Gordy, president of the alumni association; Harry Robertson, football coach, and Rev. Firley B. Baum.

Work on Hermance field, now laid out, will be continued with money obtained from the sale of life passes to all events held in the new stadium. It is proposed to sell from 500 to 1,000 life passes at $100 each. The seats will all be grouped in the center of the stadium and each seat will bear the name of the owner on a brass plate.

No funds will be solicited to continue the construction of the stadium; the life pass plan furnishing the sole method of financing completion of the athletic field. Cost of the first section of the stadium is estimated at $100,000, other sections to be added as the need arises.

When the stadium is completed, it probably will be the only one in America constructed of granite and trimmed with limestone, it is said. Athletic officials of the school now are at work on a schedule that calls for increase in the number of games played in Atlanta.

It was announced Friday night by Dr. Jacobs that alumni of the school and every former student will be guests of Oglethorpe at a banquet to be held May 17 in the interest of the stadium financing plan.

STARTS SERVING 3-MONTH SENTENCE AFTER OVER 3 YEARS

Miami, Fla., February 15.—(AP)—Three and one-half years after he was sentenced to a prison term of three months E. O. Weimer, former cafe owner at Hialeah, has started to serve his term. The sentence, issued on a conviction for illegal possession of liquor, also carried a fine of $500.

The case has been contested in every branch of the state's courts, and a number of technicalities have been brought up by Weimer's attorneys to save him from the penalty. The circuit court denied his final plea here yesterday.

WALLACE DANIEL AGENCY WILL HOLD CONFERENCE HERE

The sales force of the Wallace W. Daniel General agency opens an all-day conference today at the Biltmore hotel, for the purpose of studying insurance sales problems. Wallace W. Daniel will preside over the conference, Educational Director Tushingham, of the Philadelphia office of the Provident Mutual Insurance company, will be the principal speaker.

JEANNETTE M'NEIL CAPTURES KEITH DANCING CONTEST

Friday night was a lucky night for little Jeannette McNeil, diminutive Atlanta juvenile dancer, who won both the nightly dancing contest awards at 7:30 o'clock and the finals for the week held at 8:30 o'clock in the Danny Dugan contest for local talent at Keith's Georgia theater where Dugan is headline feature.

Little Miss McNeil received a gold medal for winning the night championship over a large field of contestants and then an hour later was declared by audiences the winner of the week over champions of the four preceding nights. She was awarded a large silver loving cup almost as big as the winner.

CATHOLIC SCHOOL CLOSED AND TEN NUNS ARE EXILED

Mexico City, February 15.—(AP)—The department of interior has closed the Catholic school "Jeanne Cheard" here and evicted 10 nuns charged with leading a community life in the school. Convents are prohibited in the Mexican constitution.

The mother superior, Maria Concepcion Solis, said that she and her nuns belonged to the order of the Incarnate Word.

They were warned they would be punished if they violated the religious laws again.

Trotzky Believed En Route to Angora For Safe Keeping

Constantinople, February 15.—(AP) Departure of a soviet steamer early this morning in the direction of Mudania, across the Sea of Marmora in Brusa, Asia Minor, gave rise to the belief Leon Trotzky might be aboard. Under Turkish law only Turkish boats are permitted to ply between Turkish ports.

Several hours after the steamer had sailed there was no proof that the former commander of the red army was aboard, but suspicion continued strong that he would be landed at Mudania or Ismid in time to board a night train to Angora.

It was reported that Trotzky had expressed bitter oppostion to Angora as a place of banishment, pleading that instead he might be domiciled on the nearby Princess islands. These jewels of the Sea of Marmora were used long ago by banished Byzantine princes who spent their last days among fragrant pine groves but within distant sight of the hills of Constantinople.

MONTANA GRAIN MAN DECLINES SOVIET OFFER

London, February 15.—(AP)—Having turned down an offer to become a sort of agricultural dictator in soviet Russia for five years, T. D. Campbell, wheat grower from Montana, arrived in London today en route home. He had visited Russia on the invitation of the soviet government to give advice on agricultural problems.

He described the soviet offer as giving him virtually supreme control of the government's 15,000,000-acre farm project, besides which his own 95,000-acre holdings in the United States seemed like a little cow pasture.

"Russia's scheme of state farming is a tremendous project—as big as the plan for the Panama canal appeared when it was first suggested—and it is by far the greatest thing ever contemplated in the history of the world's agriculture," Mr. Campbell told the Evening Standard.

In Moscow he saw 5,000 young Russians being trained as tractor drivers and was informed that the soviet project would provide work for 100,000 persons in the busy season. Some individual farms in the vast scheme cover from 100,000 to 50,000 acres and within three years the soviet plans to purchase $400,000,000 worth of agricultural and roadmaking machinery.

"As a practical farmer accustomed to big undertakings I think the scheme is feasible," he said. "It is the first real recognition of the advantages of industrial agriculture which must come in every country to solve the agricultural problem."

Campbell added that his own interests in the United States prevented him from accepting the soviet offer.

TWO-YEAR BATTLE FOR FREEDOM WON BY FLORIDA MEN

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 15.—(AP)—Their two-year battle for liberty won, Stephen A. Guilfoyle, and Dave S. Kloss, local detective and bank clerk, respectively, tonight laid plans to take up their lives where they left off two years ago when they were suddenly taken from respectable positions and tossed into jail for a $25,000 jewel robbery which they did not commit.

Kloss, son of D. S. Kloss, ex-president of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association, will probably return to Tyrone, Pa., his home. His father now in Tampa, will accompany him. The senior Kloss has dissipated a small fortune and his life savings in freeing his son.

Guilfoyle, whose wife and married daughter reside and work here, will probably go to work in St. Petersburg to provide for the two members of his family who stood by and comforted him in his every hour of trouble.

UNEMPLOYED MEN MARCH ON LONDON FROM ALL BRITAIN

London, February 15.—(AP)—Six contingents of unemployed men are now converging on London after marching from various industrial centers in England and Scotland. They plan a demonstration here on February 24.

They have been given generous aid en route and notwithstanding the bitter weather few seem to have abandoned the march. On the other hand there has been little increase in their numbers and the total of those arriving is not likely to exceed a few hundreds.

MICH. LABOR MEN ASK REFERENDUM ON PROHIBITION

Lansing, Mich., February 15.—(AP)—The Michigan Federation of Labor in convention here has gone on record as favoring a referendum on prohibition in the next state election.

A resolution adopted yesterday asks for a referendum on the question and suggests that the state legislature take steps looking to a modified law. The liquor law was called "one that has made drunkards out of mere drinkers and has been ineffective in solving the liquor problem."

SENATE CONFIRMS FEDERAL JUDGES FOR SOUTH FLORIDA

Washington, February 15.—(AP)—The nominations of Halsted L. Ritter and Alexander Akerman to be judges of the southern district of Florida were confirmed today by the senate.

Stops Grippy Aches And Pains In 3 Minutes

Jaycees Pledge Their Help at Meeting of Steering Committee, Headed by Judge Max Land.

Cooperation of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce in the drive to obtain location of a national home for soldiers and sailors in or near Atlanta was pledged Friday at a meeting of the steering committee headed by Judge Max Land, of the industrial commission.

C. F. Deiter, representing the junior chamber, decided that the organization will assist in any way possible following action of the board of directors in indorsing the movement through which it is hoped to establish a $2,000,000 institution here.

More than a score of leading Atlantans gathered at the meeting of the steering committee for the purpose of pushing Atlanta's claims in the city hall Friday afternoon. They were enthusiastic and declared that every effort would be made to press the Gate City's efforts to "sell" the proposal to congress.

Interest Is General.

Sam C. Crane, secretary of the National Soldiers and Sailors' Home committee, reported that interest is general throughout the city and added that practically every official in the government is of the opinion that such a home should be established in the south.

"The only thing left for us to do is to convince our representation in the national congress that we are looking to them to get that home for Atlanta," Mr. Crane declared.

Alderman Sam T. Huiet, of the third ward, concurred, as did every other member of the steering committee. Mr. Huiet is chairman of a special committee named by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale to advance Atlanta's claims to the proposed structure.

Wood Indorses South.

General George H. Wood, of Dayton, president of the board of managers for the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, has written a letter to Mr. Crane, declaring that 85 per cent of the veterans now are composed of those who fought in the Spanish-American or world wars and unequivocally indorsing the south as the place for location of the new institution.

Senators William J. Harris and Walter F. George, of Georgia, and Congressman Leslie J. Steele, of the fifth district, will be swamped with a deluge of letters urging immediate action.

Members of the junior chamber will assist in arousing the public to the the importance of pressing the matter because of the fact that Florida and Mississippi now are engaged in an effort to have the home located in their state.

They will personally visit the offices and homes of leading and influential Atlantans for the purpose of getting 10,000 of them to send letters to the district's representatives.

Senator Harris is the author of the first bill providing for location of a soldiers and sailors' home in the south and designates Atlanta as the place at which it is to be located.

FRENCH CHAMBER DENIES ROYALIST LEADER AMNESTY

Paris, February 15.—(AP)—The chamber of deputies, by a vote of 320 to 255, today rejected a socialist resolution that would have accorded amnesty to Leon Daudet, royalist leader who is a fugitive in Belgium; communists who now are in prison after being elected to the chamber and two autonomists who are being prosecuted in Alsace.

It has been more than a year since Leon Daudet has held a place in public interest. He went to Belgium in June, 1927, after escaping jail by a hoax, he had been imprisoned on charges of libel preferred by a taxicab driver in whose vehicle Daudet's son met a mysterious death.

MOTHER TUCKS SIX CHILDREN IN BED; TURNS ON GAS JETS

New York, February 15.—(AP)—A 35-year-old mother tucked her six children into bed for a morning nap today and then, when they were all asleep, she turned on every gas jet in the apartment, including those in the stove.

CHEVROLET DEALERS HEAR HIGH OFFICIALS

More than 500 Chevrolet dealers Friday night closed a one-day convention in Atlanta at the Biltmore hotel with a banquet attended by high officials of the company, who spoke to the assembled dealers. Fred W. Gorman served as master of ceremonies and presided over one of the most elaborate programs of entertainment ever presented in Atlanta at a similar affair.

M. D. Douglas, assistant general sales manager of the Chevrolet company, and the group of high company officials brought with them complete stage equipment and theatrical properties with which they conducted a graphic visual sales demonstration for more than 500 automobile dealers, bankers and sales executives from all over Georgia.

A meeting at the Erlanger theater Friday afternoon, which started the Atlanta conference, was one of the most unique of its kind ever held here. Chevrolet officials took the leading parts in playlets designed to show the most modern sales methods in use today, giving the dealers an opportunity to discover how they can best make a profit out of the management of their Chevrolet agencies at the end of the year.

Carload of Show Properties.

An entire carlond of show properties was brought here from Detroit to make the presentation possible, this equipment including drops, lights, cars and elaborate curtains, together with a crew of stage hands for handling the show backstage. Officials of the company pointed out that more equipment was necessary for this show than for the average musical comedy that goes on the road.

R. K. White, Atlanta zone manager for the Chevrolet company and host for the group of officials attending the meeting here, stated that all indications pointed to one of the most successful years in the history of the automobile business, and the whole industrial horizon shows nothing but a successful year in all lines.

The views of Mr. White were backed up by the statement of Mr. Douglas, who helped to market 1,200,000 Chevrolets last year.

Speakers on Program.

Associated with Mr. Douglas in Friday's program were William Blees, manager dealers' finance and accounting; J. H. Blackmore, assistant sales promotion manager; T. E. Chancellor, assistant manager of the truck division; J. P. Little, manager service department, and Will Power, manager show productions. Officials of the Atlanta zone who welcomed the visiting party included, in addition to Mr. White, R. W. Peek, assistant sales manager; F. W. Gorman, sales promotion manager; E. M. Smith, office manager; E. A. Randall, manager service department; F. C. Garrard, car distributor, and E. L. Miller, accounting manager. A large number of bankers from all parts of Georgia were also in attendance at the meeting.

JASCHA HEIFETZ'S VIOLIN MAKES HIM $150,000 YEARLY

Washington, February 15.—Jascha Heifetz makes $150,000 a year with his violin. The amount was revealed in appellate proceedings about his income tax. Officially the instruction his father has given him for five years is valued at $72,000 and his mother's service as business manager at $62,000. His father gets $25 to $30 a lesson and among his pupils is the son of Efrain Zimbalist.

necessary time to make a complete investigation. Most legislatures have done this by appointing a committee consisting of members of the senate, members of the house of representatives and a group of citizens named by the governor.

"This committee has the right to employ expert help and legal advice submitting a printed report accompanied by charts, statistics, and a complete plan with the necessary laws drafted to make changes needed. Serving with this committee there should be an educational committee and a committee on institutions and all three should report together and in my judgment report at a special session of the general assembly called for that purpose.

"Some objections have been voiced as to the power proposed for the executive. I, as yet, do not see the force of these objections. The people elect the governor and he should be given the power to carry out his platform pledges. The legislature and the executive must be trusted and power placed with them if our grave problems are to be wisely and happily solved. I favor a longer term for the governor and a reduction in the number of state officials.

"We may trust too much to a system of balances and checks thereby producing stalemate rather than progress. In all questions of taxation and income and the wise expenditure of that income through appropriations, we must lay aside all partisanship.

Clearness Is Urged.

"All incomes of whatever nature raised by authority of the state without deductions of any kind should go into the treasury. The appropriation act should be clear, definite and precise. Accounting officers under bond should not be required to construe laws, especially when no relief exists for them if they pay out money illegally even if done under legal opinion furnished by the state. Allocations of every nature should be discontinued and appropriations made for fixed definite amounts.

"When we set up such a procedure in Georgia, we have gone a long way toward establishing what we term 'responsible government.'"

Among the other activities of the conference Friday, Adamantios T. Polyzoides, Greek newspaper editor, concluded the last of a series of three discussion groups on the subject "Ten Years After the Versailles Treaty." During the morning Dr. E. J. Woodhouse, University of North Carolina, and expert on county government, discussed with representatives at the conference on "County Government in Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia." In the afternoon, Dr. Walther Merck, German educator, made his first appearance before the conference conducting a discussion group on "Foreign Relations in Germany."

Today the conference closes. In addition to the address by W. T. Anderson, Dr. Walther Merck will address the conference on the subject of "Foreign Relations of Germany." His will mark the official close of the conference, though a subscription luncheon will be held at the Atlanta Athletic club at 1 o'clock.

The conference opening on Tuesday night has been in session throughout the week. It has been attended by hundreds of citizens of all walks of life.

also sold to Mr. Lawson his interest in their newspapers and retired from the publishing business. He was made vice president and a year later president of a newly organized bank, and many public honors were thrust upon him. He declined a nomination for the mayoralty of Chicago.

In 1893 there came a call back to journalism which meant more to Mr. Stone than all these honors. The New York Associated Press, which had been organized among New York city papers in 1848, was menaced by a growing rival known as the United Press. To meet this competition those in the management of the Associated Press had purchased privately a controlling interest in the United Press and made a secret agreement that the two should work in harmony.

The prospect offered a fight against tremendous odds. Mr. Stone accepted the position of general manager. Mr. Lawson was made president, and together they went to New York to do battle and won.

The Associated Press of Illinois became involved in difficulties when it attempted to discipline one of its members, the Chicago Inter-Ocean, for a violation of its rules by suspending service to the paper. The matter was carried to the courts, the supreme of Illinois finally ruling that the Associated Press of Illinois, under the terms of its charter, was charged with a public duty and that it could not withhold news from a member and must serve any newspaper that desired its report. This was fatal to a cooperative organization intended to be self-governing. Accordingly, the organization went out of business and a new organization, the present Associated Press, was founded in 1900 under a charter from the state of New York. Its headquarters were established in New York city. Mr. Stone was made general manager of the new association and Frank B. Noyes, of the Washington Star, president.

In order that Americans might have a report of foreign affairs gathered by distinguished Americans, Mr. Stone organized a foreign service, opening offices in European capitals and manning them with American newspaper men who sent their dispatches direct to the United States.

What Mr. Stone perhaps considered his most important contribution to journalism was the successful campaign to establish legally the principle of a property right in news.

In the only book he wrote, "Fifty Years a Journalist," Mr. Stone revealed intimately a career of extraordinary usefulness that brought him into contact with the foremost men of his day and gave to him great influence upon his profession and, through his profession, upon the public both at home and abroad.

Enjoy Catalina Island Visit

BY LILLIE MAY ROBINSON.
Special Staff Correspondent.

Hollywood, Calif., February 15.—Catalina Island—rendezvous of beauty—was the principal item on the program of entertainment today for the national winners of Mary Pickford "Coquette" contests, including Miss Mae Everitt, winner of The Constitution's contest.

The 50 women—newspaper women and contest winners, all their lives had heard and read about Catalina, one of Southern California's most famous beauty spots. Something about the very name is intriguing. It seems to spell spray-splashed rocks and rugged beauty set in the midst of a pounding sea. And Catalina is all that we expected.

After an early breakfast at the Roosevelt hotel, we were driven through Hollywood and Los Angeles to San Pedro, a quaint fishing port whose harbor is filled with boats from the seven seas. There the big steamship Avalon lay at anchor waiting for us. We crowded up the gang plank and onto the decks.

Arriving at the island, down the gang plank we piled in noisy hilarity. On the wharf, queer little roller coaster cars were waiting for us. We climbed into them and were trundled away to the beautiful St. Catherine hotel, perched on a hillside at the ocean's edge. There we lunched and later explored the island from one end to another, returning to Hollywood.

On a trip through the curving roadways of Beverly Hills, the homes of all the various movie stars were pointed out to us, and how thrilling it was to note and contrast the homes of Gloria Swanson, Marion Davies, Tom Mix, John Barrymore, Norma Talmadge, H. B. Warner, Corinne Griffith, Lon Chaney, Harold Lloyd, Will Rogers and many others.

Lita Grey's white Spanish bungalow is situated on a level lot, surrounded by low shrubbery, while her former husband, Charlie Chaplin, lives in a canary-colored two-story house built on an extremely high hill, almost hidden from view by stately palms. Incidentally, his touring car was being polished in the backyard as we passed.

Then, the motor trip wound up in the climb of Misty mountain to the home of Fred Niblo. The English language does not contain enough words or sufficiently colorful words to describe this stately mansion with its wonderful gardens, and the grandeur with which the house is furnished.

Just as we were leaving Beverly Hills, Hobart Bosworth passed us on the bridle path, mounted on the beautiful white horse which we are told he rides for miles and miles each day.

has been operated on a business basis which not only made possible but invited financial disaster" and gave Carnes "authority to borrow unlimited money" which has "eventuated in a tragic disruption of the board's affairs."

Other Southern Baptist groups have outspokenly denounced the action of the mission board, a resolution signed Monday by 27 members of the Norfolk-Portsmouth (Va.) Baptist Ministers' conference characterizing it as a "flagrant and outrageous miscarriage of justice." The resolutions censured the board for agreeing to the sentence imposed and suggested that a full statement of affairs was needed to overcome the impression that "much information was being withheld by the board."

MISSION BOARD HIT BY CAROLINA BAPTISTS.

Raleigh, N. C., February 15.—(AP)—The executive committee of the general board of the Baptist state convention of North Carolina, in session here today, adopted resolutions condemning "without reservation" the action of the home mission board of the church in its handling of the Clinton S. Carnes case.

The action of the board was characterized as "a flagrant miscarriage of justice," and, a statement declared, "all members of the home mission board who participated in the handling of the Carnes case, having forfeited to such an extent the confidence of the denomination at large, should be required to sever their connection with the board."

The statement was signed by Dr. J. Powell Tucker, of Raleigh, chairman, and concurred in by members of the committee.

The statement declares the home mission board "has for several years apparently been operated on a business basis which not only made possible but invited financial disaster" and gave Carnes "authority to borrow unlimited money" which has "eventuated in a tragic disruption of the bard's affairs."

The case should be reopened, the statement adds, and that until the meeting of the Southern Baptist convention in May "we would urge that the executive committee of the Southern Baptist convention should take entire charge of the affairs of the home mission board."

REPARATIONS MEETING RECESSES TO MONDAY

Paris, February 15.—(AP)—The second Dawes committee, as Chairman Owen D. Young has named the present reparations commission, today completed its preliminary examination of the big problem which it faces and adjourned until Monday.

The holida, was decided upon in order to give the various international experts opportunity to think over the mass of figures and arguments which have been presented this week by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht on behalf of the German viewpoint.

Miraculously escaping death, four persons received minor injuries, while a negro was seriously hurt Friday night in what police said was the worst automobile crash of the year, when the automobile driven by the negro plunged into one driven by H. H. Fuller, of 642 Moreland avenue, on Forrest road near the belt line, completely demolishing both cars.

Mr. Fuller said he was driving east on Forrest road when the automobile driven by the negro, William Edwards, of 192 Chestnut street, rounded a curve and crashed into his machine. Woodrow Fuller, son of Mr. Fuller, received a broken nose and Mrs. Fuller and another son, James A. Fuller, suffered several bruises and lacerations.

Edwards was taken to the hospital where he was treated. A case of reckless driving was lodged against him.

An unidentified negro, driving a large sedan, late Friday afternoon struck down and slightly injured Miss Viola Allen, of 219 Woodward avenue, and J. A. Foster, of 230 Woodward avenue, at Hunter street and Central avenue. The negro did not stop, but police obtained his license number. Miss Allen and Foster were released after treatment at Grady hospital. Patrolman J. H. Flurry investigated.

ROBERT JONES, JR., HEADS PRINCETON ALUMNI IN STATE

Robert H. Jones, Jr., prominent local attorney, was elected president of the Princeton Alumni association of the state at the annual meeting of the organization Wednesday, it was announced Friday. E. K. Large was elected vice president and Joseph W. Cooper, secretary-treasurer.

William W. Lyons, W. E. Jones and Robert S. Sams were named on a special committee in connection with the Princeton athletic club trophy to be competed for by local preparatory schools. Hugh Richardson, Jr., was named chairman of the school committee for the state. Dr. A. H. Armstrong, of Georgia Tech, was principal speaker.

SCARFACE AL CAPONE TO STAY IN FLORIDA

Chicago Racketeer Has Conference With Miami Official.

Miami, Fla., February 15.—(AP)—"Scarface Al" Capone, Chicago racketeer, left his palatial Miami Beach home long enough yesterday to answer questions by Acting District Attorney Louis Goldstein, of New York, and to assert to newspapermen that he intended to stay in Florida indefinitely.

The nature of Capone's conference with Goldstein, held in the office of County Solicitor Robert R. Taylor, was not disclosed by any of the principals, although it was learned unofficially that New York authorities considered the conference of great importance to their investigation of the killing of Frankie Uale, or Yale, in Brooklyn, July 1, 1928.

Capone has been questioned before regarding his knowledge of the death of Uale, who was said to have been a lieutenant of the Chicago gang leader before a reported break between the two shortly before his death.

Capone refused to discuss the conference with Goldstein. "I was unable to find out what it was all about," he said. "All I did was answer a lot of questions that probably wouldn't interest anybody."

Asked if he intended to leave Miami soon, Capone replied: "I'm having a good time down here and I expect to remain indefinitely."

PASTOR PROVIDED FUND FOR BETTING ON FLORIDA RACES

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 15.—(AP)—Indications that testimony developed here today in the hearing on an application for injunction to close the St. Petersburg dog racing tracks, will be used as a basis for an appeal to Governor Carlton to remove Sheriff Gladstone R. Beattie from office, were seen when attorneys for the plaintiff questioned witnesses closely as to the attitude of Sheriff Beattie toward the alleged gambling at the track.

Dr. Lincoln McConnell, who attacked the alleged gambling from his pulpit in the First Baptist church, testified that the sheriff had made no move to stop the gambling at the track.

The first part of the hearing was ended today when the plaintiff rested its case after the introduction of several witnesses who testified as to placing money on the dogs. One witness said the money for betting was provided by the Rev. Mr. McConnel, who also paid all his expenses in connection with his seven trips to the race track.

RUSSIAN DANCER, GIRL OF 17 YEARS, TO BE DEPORTED

New Orleans, February 15.—(AP)—A 17-year-old Russian dancer was held here today at the United States immigration station awaiting deportation to France.

She was taken from the stage of a local theater yesterday, where she was appearing in a dance act under the name of Lola Blanche. Her real name is Lola Myrnashiski.

Two years ago she entered the United States with a Russian theatrical company which was to remain in this country only six months.

When the time limit expired Lola obtained an extension by posting a $2,000 bond. She could not be located when the extension expired.

"I was just too busy with my stage contracts," the dancer explained when asked why she had overstayed her time. She said her mother lived in Washington.

NOTED AMERICAN MEN RECOVERING FROM FLU IN PARIS

Paris, February 15.—(AP)—Two prominent Americans were definitely on the road to recovery after influenza attacks today.

General John J. Pershing was able to get around his room in a dressing gown. So far, however, he is receiving no visitors.

S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations, is keeping indoors merely as a precautionary measure and has seen some friends. He plans to leave for Berlin Monday or Tuesday.

HUSBAND DRUNK YEARS; VIOLA DANA GRANTED DIVORCE

Los Angeles, February 15.—(AP)—Viola Dana, screen actress, was awarded a divorce in superior court here today from Maurice "Lefty" Flynn, former Yale football star. She said her husband was "intoxicated for two and a half years of our three years of married life."

Miss Dana and Flynn were married in June, 1925, and separated last December. The actress did not request alimony, stating that she did not know where Flynn was living.

REVOLTING CHINESE NATIONALIST FORCE SOLDIERS DEFEAT

Chefoo, China, February 15.—(AP)—Revolting nationalist soldiers at Lunkow, Shantung, have driven loyal nationalist troops eastward and probably will meet them in battle near Fushanhsien, six miles west of Chefoo.

Meanwhile communications with Hwanghsien and Tengchowfu have been severed, although conditions were reported quiet in both cities.

The missionary women at Hwanghsien have been evacuated to Chefoo, the men remaining, while both men and women remained at Tengchowfu.

The United States consul at Chefoo, Leroy Webber, offered to mediate between the opposing forces but has received no reply.

The Japanese wireless late today confirmed news of the safety of foreigners at Hwanghsien and Tengchowfu, stating that both cities were quiet.

The nationalists are bringing up large amounts of ordinance west of Chefoo but fighting has not yet been reported.

MIAMI MAIL FLIER RESCUES 7 FROM DISABLED YACHT

Miami, Fla., February 15.—(AP)—Seven visitors from Cleveland who were aboard the yacht Caliph, owned by Robert J. Laudermann, of New York city, were taken from the disabled craft several miles off Bimini this afternoon by Harry Rogers, superintendent of the Miami-Nassau division of Pan American Airways, Inc., who was returning to Miami with the regular mail plane. The visitors were landed at the Pan American airport here at 5:15 p. m.

Rogers, who was the object of a search Wednesday afternoon and evening that enlisted Colonel Charles Lindbergh, coast guard and naval vessels and airplanes, turned the tables today when he passed over the yacht and noticed the distress flag. The yacht's engines had become disabled and although there was no immediate danger for the passengers, the water was slightly rough.

The rescue was effected after Rogers landed his plane near the yacht, the passengers being transferred by means of a small boat.

ARMY ORDNANCE EXPLOSION KILLS THREE, HURTS FIVE

Norfolk, Va., February 15.—(AP)—Three men were killed and five injured in an explosion late today at the army ordnance depot at Pig Point, near Portsmouth. The dead are Clyde Curling, John Duncan and Sam Freeman, all civilian employees.

The injured, who were removed to the naval hospital at Portsmouth after the explosion, are Warrant Officer R. Q. Andrews, seriously burned about the face and body; and four civilian employees, Geffries Washington, William Copeland, Julius Brown and Charles J. Wright.

DUCHESS OF YORK IS CONVALESCING FROM INFLUENZA

London, February 15.—(AP)—The Duchess of York, wife of the second son of King George, is convalescing satisfactorily from an attack of influenza. A bulletin issued today, however, added that it would not be advisable for her to fulfill engagements for the next week or two.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH SLAYING GOES ON TRIAL

Tells How Husband Bought Furs for Other Woman With Insurance Money.

Somerset, Ky., February 15.—(AP)—The story of a small town husband who bought furs and diamonds for a city woman with money collected on an insurance policy when his wife's clothing and furniture burned was told today by Mrs. Ida Cross Perkins, who testified in her trial for the killing of the other woman last August.

Mrs. Perkins, petite mother of two young daughters, related to the jury every detail of the circumstances leading up to the killing but declared she remembered nothing of shooting Mrs. Pearl Decker Owens, of Louisville, as she sat beside her husband, Logan Perkins, in the day coach of a train.

Life went along smoothly for some time after she was married to Perkins 10 years ago and when she was 17 years old, the witness said, but after a few years another woman came into their lives and there was trouble. "I felt so terrible I shot myself," she said, "and for a long time Logan treated me well."

In the summer of 1927, the wife said, she learned that her husband was friendly with Mrs. Owens. "On Christmas eve I answered the telephone at home," she said, "and Mrs. Owens told me to tell Logan she was mad at him and that he couldn't spend Christmas with her. From that time on life was a misery to me, but Logan promised he would stay away from her. Then I saw her one day in Lexington and she told me that he gave her diamonds and furs, things I have never had."

The wife said she felt certain that $600 insurance collected when their home burned went to Mrs. Owens, because she never had the use of any of it and because her husband's salary as circuit court clerk would not permit such purchases.

"One day he came into the house and told me he had to go to Somerset on business," she continued. "He showed me a telegram he said he had received. I was suspicious, and the telegraph operator later admitted it was a fake, and that he forced her to write it.

"I got on the train at a coal chute near here and went to Danville. Mrs. Owens was in the station there. We sat a few feet apart, but she did not see me. When she boarded the train, I got on too. I fell asleep. When I awoke my husband was sitting beside her, and she had her arms around him. That is all I remember until after I was arrested.

"Yes, I remember I had a pistol," said Mrs. Perkins in answer to a question.

A near-tragedy was averted in the courtroom, when two women sitting inside the rail during the trial engaged in an altercation over domestic affairs, and one drew a pistol.

CHARGES DISMISSED

11 Counts of Criminal Libel Against Editor Fail.

Miami, Fla., February 15.—(AP)—Eleven charges of criminal libel against J. H. Wendler, editor of the Hialeah Herald, were dismissed in criminal court here today by Judge W. F. Brown. When the cases were called for trial, attorneys for the state asked for time, saying sufficient evidence had not been collected. The court held it was unfair to the defendant to allow the charges to hold against him longer, they having been pending since February 3, 1928. The suits were brought by the mayor and city council of Hialeah.

Fifty Members of Society Will Meet Prominent Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunsicker, notable visitors from Allentown, Pa., who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Kline at their apartment at the Biltmore on East Fifth street, will be central figures at the brilliant dinner-dance given next Monday evening by their hosts at Brookhaven, the Capital City Country club. Fifty members of Atlanta society have been invited to meet these charming Pennsylvania visitors whose friendship with Mr. and Mrs. Kline had its beginning in the schoolday years of the foursome, when they first learned 'readin, 'riting and 'rithmetic in the first grade.

Invited to meet Mr. and Mrs. Hunsicker are Judge and Mrs. Luther Rosser, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ramspeck, Mr. and Carl Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Chandler Harris, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Ashby Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Franke, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Beall, Mrs. Harold Gilmore, of Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allcorn, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Baker, Mrs. Clifford Hatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hart, Mr. and Mrs. William Akers, Dr. and Mrs. Klatt Armstrong Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles LeRoux, Mr. and Mrs. George West, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Lew McCardle.

Many other social gaieties will revolve around Mr. and Mrs. Hunsicker with Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay Moore's dinner given in compliment to these visitors Tuesday evening, February 19, at their home on Peachtree road, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leroux have planned their party for Mr. and Mrs. Hunsicker at the Biltmore Wednesday evening, February 21. After concluding their visit to Mr. and Mrs. Kline, Mr. and Mrs. Hunsicker will depart from Atlanta on a trip to Havana.

College Park Music Club Holds Meeting.

College Park Music club met Wednesday at the Woman's club, Mrs. D. C. Lyle, presiding, and Mrs. Harry S. McCowan, the program chairman, presented a program featuring "Women Composers," dedicated to Mrs. Florence Gholson Bateman. Mrs. F. L. Beers gave a talk on "Women Composers." A song was rendered by a double trio of the College Park chorus. Clarence Wall, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Wall, rendered several vocal numbers followed by selections by Mrs. Bateman, including several of her own compositions, with Mrs. McCowan accompanying at the piano. Mrs. Bateman was presented with a lovely basket of flowers as a token of the club's appreciation.

West End Club To Plant Trees.

At the meeting of the West End Woman's club Wednesday afternoon, presided over by Mrs. Chester Johnson, president, Mrs. Norman Sharp, president, and Miss Rosa Woodberry, parliamentarian of the city federation, were distinguished guests. Mrs. Sharpe spoke of the work of the federation of women's clubs, and Miss Rosa Woodberry gave a very instructive parliamentary drill. Mrs. J. C. Brown, music chairman, presented Mrs. W. N. Baggett in several songs. Mrs. Brown also led the club in singing "My Georgia Land." Mrs. J. R. Curtis, and Mrs. G. C. Barrow acted as hostesses for the afternoon, and served refreshments.

The club went on record as favoring the Atlanta to College Park highway, the paving of Ashby street, opening of the Mitchell street viaduct, and building a viaduct at Alabama street from Forsyth to Haynes street.

The club will plant six trees on the Stone Mountain highway in memory of deceased members: Mrs. George Singer, Mrs. R. A. Myers, Mrs. H. H. Turner, Mrs. A. R. Burt, Mrs. A. G. Helmer, and Master James Ponder, the donor of the marble cornerstone of the club house.

The Arnold dance scholarship was presented to Miss Elaine Settle through Mrs. W. G. Baskin, scholarship chairman.

Mrs. Earl Cox and Mrs. Robert Catlin gave a very beautiful and successful Valentine party on February 14.

Harry S. Edwards Will Address Writers' Club

Harry Stillwell Edwards, famous Georgia writer, will be guest of honor and principal speaker at the February banquet of the Atlanta Writers' club Thursday evening, February 21, at 7 o'clock, at the Atlanta Athletic club.

Mr. Edwards first gained nation-wide fame as an author when his novel "Fathers and Sons," won first prize of $10,000 in a national contest held by a large eastern publishing house. Since this time Mr. Edwards' short stories, poetry and other writings have been widely printed, his charming negro story, "Anias Africanus," being, perhaps, the most widely reprinted negro story in the world today.

Miss Helen Knox Spain has arranged a delightful program of music for the occasion.

Roselle Mercier Montgomery, famous New York poet, who was scheduled to address the club this month, has been detained in New York on account of serious illness in her family, and has been forced to postpone her trip south until a later date. Mrs. Montgomery's new volume, "Many Devices," has just been published by D. Appleton & Co., New York, and is being widely heralded by critics.

Miss Gerry Corley Is Honor Guest.

Mrs. Guy L. Corley entertained at a children's party Tuesday afternoon at her home on Elmira Place, complimenting her little daughter, Gerry, who celebrated her twelfth birthday. Heart dice was played and a Valentine contest was enjoyed, after which prizes were given. The exquisitely appointed table held as a centerpiece a birthday cake decorated in hearts and roses holding twelve candles. Candles in red roses burned unshaded on each end of the table. Mrs. Corley was assisted in entertaining by her cousins, Mrs. H. W. Crowe, Mrs. Jack Yarbrough, Mrs. Arthur Martin and her daughter, Miss Ara Corley.

Mrs. Orr Honors Miss Evelyn Brown.

Mrs. Patt H. Orr was hostess Thursday at a linen shower at her home in East Point in honor of her niece, Miss Evelyn Brown, a bride-elect of next week.

Homer Watkins, well-known Atlanta attorney, delivered an address on "George Washington" Friday afternoon at the meeting of the Joseph Habersham chapter, D. A. R., at Habersham Hall.

Miss Nina Hornady, beloved member of the chapter, who originated the observance of Georgia Day, gave a brief talk on the origin of this day and told of the part played by the chapter in passing necessary legislation for the proper and fitting celebration of the anniversary of the founding of the state.

The twenty-ninth anniversary of the founding of the chapter was observed by talks by charter members. Tribute was paid to the founder, Mrs. William Lawson Peel, by Mrs. Warren D. White, Mrs. W. F. Dykes and others. Mrs. W. H. Kiser, daughter of Mrs. Peel, presented lovely flowers to the chapter in loving memory of her mother.

Mrs. Lamar Etheridge, chairman to music, presented James de la Fuente, young Atlanta violinist, in a program of violin music. He was accompanied by his mother, Madame de la Fuente, of the Valeska de la Fuente School of Music.

Mrs. J. C. Gentry, general chairman for the annual "Kettle Drum," announced that it was a pronounced success and that a large sum of money had been realized for the chapter. Tea was served following the meeting, and the birthday cake was cut by the officers and past regents. Mrs. T. J. Ripley, third vice regent, presided, as Mrs. Irving S. Thomas, regent, was out of the city.

Fairburn Garden Club Features Civic Improvement Program

Fairburn, Ga., February 15.—The Fairburn Garden club, entering upon its third year of organization, has made a splendid record under the leadership of Mrs. W. T. Roberts, president, and its activities have aroused unusual interest in gardening and floriculture throughout the entire county. While the club was organized primarily for the benefit of the individual member, the work has been extended to include civic improvement. A city park has been made and planted, the school campus has been developed, and a memorial gateway is in process of completion at the cemetery grounds. The club is a charter member of the Georgia Garden club, and has entertained many speakers and officers of prominent garden clubs over the state.

"Tulip Day" will be observed during the spring, and many visitors will be attracted to view the pageant and inspect the various individual gardens in which hundreds of vari-colored blossoms will abound. The club sponsored a successful benefit bridge party, the proceeds of which will be used in carrying on the work of civic betterment, and a lecture and an exhibition of stereoptican pictures of famous gardens will be their next enterprise.

Mrs. Roberts is a leader of exceptional ability, and her personal charm, together with her knowledge of flowers, brings her in much demand as a speaker. She was recently on the program of the Palmetto Garden club and is scheduled to speak before the Carrolton and Marietta Garden clubs at an early date. Officers and members of the Fairburn Garden club are as follows: Mrs. W. T. Roberts, president; Miss Marguerite Hearn, vice president; Mesdames Emmett Wooddall, secretary; Willie Stubbs Winter, corresponding secretary; Thornton Camp, treasurer; J. W. Amoss, H. T. Bledsoe, J. G. Brock, Emma Bedgood, Fred Camp, Lawrence Camp, E. L. Cochran, Hollin Collins, C. M. Edge, R. T. Golightly, J. A. Hill, H. A. Hodges, C. A. Johnson, W. B. Jones, Dudley Lambert, Young Longino, E. WHY, LAURA...I CAN'T BELIEVE IT!
SO IT DOES! I NEVER SAW SUCH WHITENESS
IT'S EASIER ON THE CLOTHES THAN SCRUBBING, AND IT'S A LOT EASIER ON ME

AND

Rinso's thick, creamy suds are so safe

Watch a Rinso washing . . . and see if you'll ever permit old-fashioned laundry soaps to be used on your clothes again.

When you see how snowy-white Rinso gets the clothes—and how it saves them from hard washday scrubbing—you'll insist on this safe, granulated soap always. No scrubbing, no boiling, the gentle Rinso way. No wonder clothes last longer. No wonder the makers of 36 leading washing machines say, "Use Rinso for safety and for whiter washes."

Because it's so compact, one cupful of Rinso gives more suds—does more washing—than two cupfuls of lightweight, puffed-up soaps. Get the BIG household package today.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

DANNY MEADOW MOUSE DOES HIS PART.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Jealousy doth move to rage
—Old Mother Nature.

Though Danny Meadow Mouse seemed to be merely having a good time, leaving all the care of the big family to Nanny Meadow Mouse, he really was keeping a watchful eye on that little home all the time. He was never very far away from it. You see, he was anxious. Trouble of some sort might come and if it did he wanted to be around.

Several times when Nanny came out to get a hasty bite to eat, Danny started to go in to look at the babies. But each time Nanny objected and each time Danny gave up. "They are mine, aren't they?" he protested. "Why shouldn't I go in to see them?"

"You may when I am in there with them, but not at any other time," replied Nanny. And with this Danny had to be content.

Now, Danny had discovered that there were other Meadow Mice living under the big haystack. He had met two or three and he had found plenty of signs of others. None of them, however, appeared to be living very near to Danny's home, and so far none had tried to pay that home a visit. In fact, Danny doubted if any of the others knew just where that home was. He knew, however, that sooner or later that sung little home would be discovered. It was bound to be.

In this Danny was right. That home was discovered and by a Meadow Mouse quite as big as Danny. Danny wasn't at home at the time. He was off getting something to eat. On his return, as he drew near the home where Nanny and the babies were, he heard sharp, angry squeaks. He hurried then. What he saw when he came in sight of that little home was a strange Mouse doing his best to get in, while Nanny was doing her best to keep him out.

Great rage took possession of Danny. It was a jealous rage, and there is no rage quite so great as jealous rage. With a sharp squeak of anger he rushed at that strange Mouse. The stranger turned and in half a minute they were locked together, rolling over and over and hitting with their sharp teeth and digging each other with the claws of their hind feet.

Now, the stranger was fully as big as Danny. He was younger and quite willing to fight. There was nothing cowardly about him. In fact, he seemed to be enjoying that fight. Danny soon realized that here was a Mouse who would not be easily beaten.

With a sharp squeak of anger he rushed at that strange mouse.

"I've got to win," thought Danny. "I've got to win! If he should win he would fight Nanny, and he might be too much for Nanny. Then he would go in and kill those babies. I've got to win!"

Danny was right about the matter. The stranger had every intention of doing just what Danny thought. Had he been able to get into that nest where the babies were, the would have been very likely to kill some of them and perhaps eat them. Strange Mice do such things.

But Danny wasn't giving him any chance. Danny was biting and kicking for all he was worth and the stranger was doing the same thing. They rolled over and over and though Nanny watched for a chance to rush in and help Danny, they moved about so fast she didn't get a single opportunity. After a while both were out of breath. They lay there locked together and just panted. Then they resumed fighting.

At last the strange Mouse began to try to get away. He was beaten and he knew it. Danny let go for just an instant. The other Mouse pulled away suddenly and then scrambled to his feet and darted off. Danny Meadow Mouse watched him go. Then he sat down and began to lick his wounds and smooth his fur. He had done his part for Nanny and the babies and he knew it.

HUNGRY WILD ANIMALS LEAVE PEAKS FOR FOOD

Denver, February 15.—(AP)—Thousands of starving wild animals that instinctively have deserted the snow-covered ranges and mountains of the Rocky Mountain region in search of human aid, today were being cared for by state game departments.

Along the Union Pacific railroad's tracks in Sweetwater county, Wyoming, a herd of five to six thousand antelope consume carloads of hay dumped there by the state. The timid, fleet-footed animals, usually off like a flash at the least sign of a human, devour the feed unafraid while men mingle among them.

Preparations to feed 100 elk at Millville, Utah, were being made by the Utah game department. The animals entered the town yesterday.

A large bull elk, roped by a state senator near Boise, Idaho, was held captive on the state capitol grounds at Boise. It will be freed in the spring. Employees of a sugar factory at Logan, Utah, lassoed a young elk and led it to a pasture. It will be cared for the remainder of the winter and then released to return to its wild home.

Millions of game birds also were being fed by various wild life organizations in the region. A flock of ducks too weak from hunger to fly, was reported at Lyons, Colo.

To conserve food for game birds, an attempt will be made Sunday at a rookery near Boise to kill a million crows by dynamite.

ADVANCE OF POCKET VETO CASE IS ASKED

Washington, February 15.—(AP)—The government today requested the supreme court to advance for early argument a case presenting the question of whether pocket vetoes by the president operate to kill bills sent to him in the closing days of a congressional session.

The case is that of the Okanogan and other tribes of Indians in the state of Washington against the government. It presents a situation similar to that involving the Muscle Shoals bill, which received a pocket veto at the close of the first session of the present congress.

Solicitor-General Mitchell said in a brief that the case was "of public importance" and that counsel for the Indians concurred in his motion to advance. The two sides can be ready for hearing during the week of March 5, he said.

The controversy is over whether failure of the president to sign a bill after the close of a first session of congress acts as a veto, or whether the section of the constitution dealing with the subject referred to final adjournment of a congress. The Indians sued for lands under a bill which the president failed to sign. The court of appeals refused to entertain their suit.

Senator Norris and other proponents of the Muscle Shoals measure also assert that the pocket veto did not kill the bill but that it had become law without the president's approval.

GREYHOUND OPENS ATLANTA-NEW YORK AUTO BUS SERVICE

Inauguration of the Atlanta-New York bus line took place Friday, when one of the huge motor coaches, operated by the Greyhound Lines, Inc., began the first leg of the trip. J. C. Steinmetz, southern district manager of the company, announced that two busses would leave the city daily, connecting directly with the New York busses at Augusta.

The New York line will cover 1,140 miles, beginning at Jacksonville, and time of the run will be 33 hours, including stops.

Philadelphia, Richmond and all other intermediate points on the coastal highway route of the company will be visited by the new service and the network of lines controlled by the Greyhound company will be extended further by absorption of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit, and the Camel City lines.

One bus will leave Atlanta at 11 o'clock in the morning and another at 9 o'clock at night, making the connection with the New York line at Augusta, one of the transfer points.

Extension of the lines westward to New Orleans, San Antonio and to Los Angeles now is under way, Mr. Steinmetz announced. The lines now reach Montgomery, a trip of six and one-half hours, for a fare of $5. Fare to Los Angeles will be $38, it was said.

"Bus officials have practically completed the survey and schedule changes precedent to placing a two cents a mile fare over the entire system," Mr. Steinmetz said. "We are making the change as soon as it is possible at every point and within the next few days it will be effective throughout the nation."

COOLIDGE GIVES MEDAL OF HONOR TO RESERVE HERO

Washington, February 15.—(AP)—President Coolidge today presented a congressional medal of honor to Chief Gunner's Mate Frank W. Crilley, of the naval reserve, in recognition of an act of "extraordinary heroism" in connection with the sinking of the submarine F-4 off Honolulu in April of 1915.

The submersible was on the bottom at a depth of 250 feet and Chief Gunner's Mate William F. Loughman, a diver, had been at work on the submarine for more than two hours and in ascending his lines became fouled. Crilley immediately donned his diving suit, which, it was pointed out in the citaton, was of the old type and not readily adaptable to deep sea work, and went to his comrade's aid. After two hours beneath the surface Crilley was able to free Loughman.

Loughman was present at today's presentation. Secretary Wilbur and Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of naval operations, also were spectators.

HEAD OF ROTARY ARRIVES IN ROME TO EXPLAIN ORDER

Rome, February 15—(AP)—J. D. Sutton, of Tampico, Mexico, president of Rotary International, arrived in Rome today, but refused to indicate whether he would attempt to explain the significance of "Rotary" to ecclesiastical authorities at the vatican.

He said he preferred not to talk in advance upon the subject out of deference to the personalities he would see while here.

Sutton expects to remain in Rome for a week or ten days, sailing from Cherbourg on the Berengaria February 27.

The consistorial congregation yesterday handed down an opinion that Catholic clergymen would not be allowed to belong to rotary clubs. A previous editorial in Osservatore Roman, which is used for semi-official vatican announcements, decried a "negative" attitude of rotary as regards religion.

SENATOR LARRAZOLO IS REPORTED BETTER

Albuquerque, N. M., February 15. (AP)—United States Senator O. A. Larrazolo, of New Mexico, near death yesterday following an attack of apoplexy, was said to have improved slightly early today. His physicians said he had a fair chance to recover. The senator formerly was governor of New Mexico.

BEAUTY FASHIONS

A CHARMING FROCK FOR YOUTHFUL FIGURES.

This pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18, and 20 years. To make the dress for an 18-year size will require 4 yards of 39-inch material. The width at the lower edge with fulness extended is about 2 3-4 yards.

PLAN TO CHANGE DECATUR STREET NAME IS TABLED

Proposal to change the name of Decatur street to East Marietta was tabled Friday afternoon by vote of the streets committee of city council after a number of persons supporting and others opposing the change had spoken.

Action of the committee followed a motion by Alderman Claude E. Buchanan, of the eighth ward.

Annual contract to lay concrete sidewalks, driveways and gutters for the city was recommended for the MacDougald Construction company as low bidder. Mr. MacDougald's bid was $90,750 as against $91,750 for the Meador Construction company.

The Meador company will furnish loose tiles for sidewalks at .165 cents each, while the Pine Mountain Granite company will furnish granite curb at .67 a foot. R. E. Suggs was recommended for curved granite tile at .69 cents a lineal foot.

Other routine matters also were considered.

HE WAS LIFELESS AND DESPONDENT

But ALL-BRAN made him wide-awake and well — doctor prescribed it

CONSTIPATION ruins hopes, saps strength. Yet thousands of sufferers have found the way to relieve and prevent this disease. Read how this man rid his system of constipation.

"During the three years before ALL-BRAN cured me, I experienced more embarrassing moments than I care to tell of. Being lifeless, dull, loggy and despondent, I could not keep my job. My friends didn't want my company and I was tired of being asked 'What in the world is the matter with you?'

"After spending much money for treatment, I finally found a doctor who advised me to eat ALL-BRAN three times a day. I did this for three months and I didn't need to be told that I looked better . . . I felt better and acted better . . . I am still using ALL-BRAN every morning and have no trouble now whatsoever." (Name and address upon request.)

Guard against constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to prevent it—to relieve it. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Far better than habit-forming drugs and pills.

ALL-BRAN is 100% effective. Doctors recommend it because it promotes natural elimination. Serve it with milk or cream. Use it in cooking—muffins, bread, etc. Delicious recipes on the package. Grocers sell it. Restaurants, hotels, dining-cars service it. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Alliance Players To Present Plays.

The Alliance Players, under the direction of Mrs. Mord Foote, who recently made their debut, will present two plays at the Jewish Orphans' home Sunday evening, February 17, at 8 o'clock. The club members are Miss Louise Lichtenstein, Miss Sylvia Hirsch, Miss Dorothy Feinstein, Miss Jenny Klein, Miss Mollye Klein, Miss Sarah Gordon, Paul Goldman, Harry Wingrow, Joe Cuba, Hyman King and Dave Goldwasser. The two plays to be given Sunday will be "Sorority" and "His Second Girl."

The Alliance Players presented their first plays recently at the Jewish Educational Alliance. The purpose of the club is to bring out the better elements of dramatics and in the future to be able to present at least one play every month and perhaps travel to the neighboring cities in Georgia.

Tuesday evening the girls of the club presented the play "Sorority" before the members of the B'Nai B'Rith at the Standard club, where the banquet and annual election of officers took place.

R. J. McKinney To Address Felicians.

The second of a series of lectures by R. J. McKinney, director of the High Museum of Art, to the Felicians, will be given at the meeting Monday afternoon, February 18, at 3 o'clock, at the museum, 1262 Peachtree street.

This illustrated lecture on Michael Angelo, St. Peters, the vatican and the Sistine chapel will be of unusual interest just at this time as the eyes of the world are now turned towards the papal-Italian affairs. The Felicians and their friends are invited to attend.

Youth Forum Hears Prominent Speakers.

"Is the Religious Revolt of Modern Youth Constructive?" will be the subject discussed by the Atlanta Youth Forum Friday, February 22, at 8 o'clock at the chamber of commerce building. Two of Atlanta's outstanding speakers, Rev. J. Wilkie Collins and Dr. D. Witherspoon Dodge, will address the forum on this occasion.

Steadfast Class Is Entertained.

The Steadfast class, of the English Avenue Methodist church, was entertained at a Valentine party at the home of their teacher, Mrs. H. J. Penn, 770 Ponders avenue, Thursday evening, February 14. A True Story

"Seems Too Good To Be True"

"I HAVE HAD a wonderful experience with Cardui, and I am indeed glad to tell women who are suffering from ill health about it," writes Mrs. R. A. Webb, 2309 McKinney Ave., Dallas, Texas.

"I first started suffering when I was about thirteen years old. I had severe pains in my side and back, and would have to remain in bed for several days at a time—without energy for anything. Nothing seemed to relieve me.

"I wouldn't give up—I still felt like there was something that could be done. Some friends who came to see me asked if I ever took Cardui. I told them I had taken almost everything else but Cardui. So they insisted that I order a bottle while they were there, and I did. After I took the third bottle, I had a good appetite, began gaining in strength and began to think life was really worth living.

"Sometimes when I think back over my condition it seems too good to be true. I only weighed 90 pounds when I was in such health, and now I weigh 125 pounds."

TOUCH

BY ARTHUR B. REEVE.

INSTALLMENT V.

Now I felt safe to run back to the place where I had strung the wire over the line. I slipped out and hurried up the track in the other direction. It was much easier to pull that wire off the others than it had been to get it over them. In an incredibly short time I was back again in the station.

The telegraph was ticking busily again. Now I could hardly wait until Kennedy arrived with Butler. Meanwhile I was going into the waiting room to wash my hands and make myself a little more presentable before the arrival of Kennedy and Butler.

Soon I heard the honking of a horn. It was Kennedy and Butler, and Butler was impatient to be off. I watched the hilarity of Butler, I must confess, with a little scorn. I wondered, also, at Kennedy's plan.

"Hello, Jemeson! All set?" called Butler, goodnaturedly.

I noticed as he stood there, that his clothes had a good deal more attention given them than many of the ranchers out here gave. That made me think he was Fat Barr, with his eastern care of his clothes.

Kennedy looked at me with a question in his eyes. He found the answer in my returning glance. His face lighte hopefully. He said nothing but stolled over toward the telegraph offie.

"That's queer," Kennedy had returned, fowning and rather vexed. "Rinehart isn't here. Did you see him, Waer?"

"No; I wasn't looking for him. Not there? Mebe he'll be back right away. I though they were not supposed to leave th place for any length of time."

"They're not," Butler confirmed my remark by shaking his head vigorously.

I loobd at the station clock. It was ahost nine. Well, then, the train to Junction City would soon be pulling in and possibly a message would ave to be sent. If Kennedy would only do something! Rinehart might b back any moment, change his mind, esperate to prevent any accident.

"Rinehart will be back," asserted Butler confidently. "He'll be here before the 9:05 rolls in. He knows the rule of the office. No use worrying over that man's job."

Suddenly through the open grating of the missing telegrapher's room came the ticking, ticking of a message. I listened anxiously. Now we were up against it! What would we do if it were something that needed an answer and we couldn't answer? Over the wire we could hear ticking BH ... BH ... BH. It was the call for Baiting Hollow.

None of us said a word. Both Craig and I knew enough to know what that meant, as I realized now that Butler knew. Would he betray his knowledge? His face was a study, stony, blank. If he knew, he was keeping all that to himself. If he were Fat Barr, I thought, what an actor he was!

Again we heard BH ... BH ... BH ... Rinehart was still away. Kennedy stood startled, impassive, waiting. If that were his game, I would play it likewise. But I was on my toes with excitement suppressed. What was the message? What was the trouble? Might it, after all, be something inconsequential?

Suddenly, as if in despair at getting the operator, Rinehart, himself, the message began to come over the wire. One could have heard a pin drop in that room, save for the ticking of that instrument. It was not an ordinary silence. It was portentous, fraught with horror, breathing of calamity.

"Has 247 gone through yet?"

I glanced at the clock. The minute hand showed one minute past nine. With bated breath I waited for the rest of the message.

"Freight wreck between Baiting Hollow and Junction City. For God's sake, hold 247. Answer. J. C."

We looked at each other solemnly. Craig and I knew the purport of the message. Did Butler know? He still seemed calm, unaffected. Something must be done to shake him.

"Good heavens, Waiter! What shall we do? I can read—but I can't send!" Kennedy looked wildly at me.

Butler turned to me as if seeking what I was able to do. "I can't do either. What is it?" I managed to gasp.

I was desperate when Kennedy blurted it out. To think of having a thing like this happen the very time I pulled a trick on poor Rinehart!

Butler was pacing up and down the floor, worried and undecided. Suddenly he turned to both of us, hesitated, then started toward the instrument.

"Well, I used to send—a little bit," he managed to ejaculate, almost incoherent with pent-up emotion. "I'll answer if I can."

Ticking at the key, we heard Butler sending over the wire, "JC ... JC ... JC ..." There was a pause, then an answer. Again he was at the key. "247 late. Will hold. B. H."

Suddenly Craig dashed out of the railroad station. Neither Butler nor I thought anything of that under the stress of this new circumstance. It might be something perhaps with regard to the approaching train 247.

Out on the platform Butler and I were straining our eyes and ears, waiting nervously for the first signs of 247. Up and down, out on the tracks, even, we paced. I knew the train would stop. What if this time it didn't? All sorts of wild thoughts raced through my mind.

There she was!

At last, up the tracks we could see the headlight along the shiny rails, coming closer, around the bend. The shrill whistle cleft the night air. It must stop. That was the only thought in my mind.

The train slowed down with much fuss of air brakes and hissing of escaping steam. There was a thankfulness in my heart at the saving of lives.

Butler's arm was raised to catch the attention of the engineer. I was running, beckoning the conductor. We must warn these men of the danger. Butler shouted.

He was abruptly interrupted. Kennedy had returned from the hotel across the street suddenly, and was standing relentlessly in his path.

"That will do, Butler. You'll come with me on 247. Mary's waiting for you at Junction City. Buster needs you—desperately!"

"Who's Mary? Who's Buster? Who are you—really? Come clean!"

"Hen Butler of Baiting Hollow. That's who I am. Everybody here knows me!" The man muttered it sullenly.

"Like the devil you are! You're Fat Barr. You sent the world series in 1914. There's no wreck on the line. Mary sent that message from Junction City, where she is working. It's a trap. You fell into it—and answered it. Mary just telephoned to me at the hotel she'd recognize that touch on the key among ten thousand!"

TO AN ORIOLE

HOW falls it, oriole, thou hast come to fly
In tropic splendor through our Northern sky?

As some glad moment was it nature's choice

Or did some orange tulip, flaked with black,
In some forgotten garden, ages back,

Yearning toward Heaven until its wish was heard,
Desire unspeakably to be a bird?

THE DIAL TWISTER.

Albert Stoessel, distinguished American composer-conductor, violinist and educator, will lead the second nation-wide symphony concert to be broadcast in the General Electric hour over WSB and coast-to-coast networks of the National Broadcasting company tonight.

Stoessel, on this occasion, takes the place of Walter Damrosch, regular conductor of the radio symphonies heard each Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

The concert will include two excerpts from Stoessel's own composition, "Hispania," a suite of four pieces. He has selected a serenade and dance as best suited for performance by the great symphonic group organized specially for these broadcasts.

The guest-conductor for this concert is head of the music department of New York university, and director of the Bach Cantata club. His complete program for the radio follows:

Suite from music for royal fireworks:
Alla Siciliana ..... Handel
Bourree
Menuetto
En Bateau ..... DeBussy
Fetes
Hymn to the Sun
The Bumble Bee ..... Rimsky-Korsakoff
Dance of the Tumblers
Two excerpts from suite "Hispania"
La Media Noche (Serenade)
Jota (Dance) ..... Stoessel
Magic Fire Music
Third Act Introduction, "Lohengrin" ..... Wagner

* * * *

"Anna's Death," from Grieg's "Peer Gynt" suite, poignantly describes the grief of Peer when he returns home after long wandering to find his mother dying. The Purol band's interpretation of this intensely emotional piece will be a high point in the concert to be broadcast through WSB and the N. B. C. system this evening at 7 o'clock.

Edwin Franko Goldman and his band will conjure up thoughts of horns, barking dogs and cracking whips in "A Hunting Scene," by Bucalossi. Another distinctive selection will be "Spanish Dance No. 5," which is the composition of the Polish master, Moszkowski. There will be a cornet solo by Del Staigers.

The complete program for this broadcast follows:

Anna's Death, from "Peer Gynt" ..... Grieg
Jolly Peter ..... Kersten
Band
Carnival of Venice ..... Staigers
Cornet Solo, Del Staigers
A Hunting Scene ..... Bucalossi
Spanish Dance No. 5 ..... Moszkowski
Central Park (March) ..... Goldman
Band

Tscherepnine's glittering "Scene de Ballet" from "Le Pavillon d'Armide" will be played as a feature in the White House dinner music to be broadcast through WSB and the N. B. C. system tonight.

Opening with Halvorsen's "Arrival of Bojaren," the orchestra, under the direction of Hugo Mariani, continues with Grainger's arrangement of the traditional Irish tune from County Derry, also called "Londonderry Air;" the inspired Prelude to Wagner's lyric opera "Lohengrin," and closes with a special symphonic arrangement of Savino's "Smile."

The complete program follows:

Arrival of Bojaren ..... Halvorsen
Irish Tune from County Derry
Arranged by Grainger
Prelude from "Lohengrin" ..... Wagner
Pirouette ..... Finck
Smile ..... Savino

A half-hour program of favorite dance tunes will be broadcast by Phil Spitalny and his Hotel Pennsylvania orchestra over WSB and the N. B. C. system tonight at 6 o'clock.

The complete program follows:

New World Symphony
Don't Be Like That
The Spell of the Blues
Hymn to the Sun
One Step to Heaven
The Song I Love

* * * *

Dancers throughout the nation will take the floor to the tune of "Everybody Step" when the program of the Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra is broadcast from coast to coast over WSB and the N. B. C. system at 9 o'clock tonight.

As usual, there will be a group of four waltzes: "Jolly Fellows," "Chinese Lullaby," "Together" and "Beloved," and a medley of popular Broadway hits from "Sally."

The usual number of current favorites will be heard, and the famous air, "Tell Me, Pretty Maiden," will recall pleasant memories of days when the song of the "Floradora Sextette" was being whistled throughout the nation. At the opening and closing of the hour its theme tune, "This Is My Lucky Day," will be played with vocal accompaniment.

The complete program follows:

Everybody Step
When Summer Is Gone
Bright Eyes
I Ain't Got Nobody
Jolly Fellows
Chinese Lullaby
Magnolia
The Doll Dance
Dance, Little Lady, Dance
Wotta Life
Medley of Song Hits from "Sally"
Together
Beloved
To Know You Is To Love You
Tell Me, Pretty Maiden

Initial Round Cage Tourney Here Is Fast

BY HERB CLARK.

Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi, and South Carolina won their first round games in the third annual Dixie tournament for the southern schools for deaf mutes, Arkansas taking the measure of Florida, 19-13; Alabama defeating Georgia, 21-9; Mississippi winning from Tennessee, 23-18, and South Carolina scalping their neighbors from North Carolina to a 30-22 tune.

With the first round of the third annual Dixie basketball tournament for the schools for deaf mutes in the south a matter of history, it looks as though the Arkansas Leopards, twice winners of the title in previous tourneys, would be a prime favorite to repeat in the present battle. Only two other schools seem to have a chance for the honor, these being Alabama and South Carolina. Mississippi, the other victor in the first round games, won with great difficulty from the Tennessee crew, and do not seem to be of championship caliber.

Today's games will see Arkansas opposed to Alabama at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the first of the semi-final battles, while Mississippi will face South Carolina at 3:30 o'clock for the privilege of meeting the winner in the other bracket for the title at 8 o'clock this evening.

Consolation Games.

A consolation tournament will be held this morning, with games scheduled for 9, 10 and 11 o'clock. Florida and Georgia will furnish the excitement in the first game, with Tennessee facing North Carolina at 10 o'clock. The final game of this minor tourney will be played at 11 o'clock, and will see the two winners opposed.

As a preliminary to the title match tonight, a game has been arranged which calls for a battle between the First Presbyterian church five and one of the losers in the semi-final round of the big tournament. The Presbyterian team numbers on its squad many Tech stars of lesser ranking, including Tom Jones, Earl Dunlap, Ed Herron, Father Lumpkin, and others.

The psychological factor entered largely into the victory turned in by Coach Bell's champions, the Florida aggregation being evidently over-impressed with the fact that they were facing an outfit which had previously proved its ability to win games.

Leopards Take Lead.

The Leopards got off to an early start, and though they had plenty of opposition from the 'Gators, led 9-6 at the half. The defending champs came back in the second period to again repulse the thrusts of the Floridians, winning by a final 19-13 margin.

Goodwin, of the Arkansas outfit, was high point man with 9 points, and was closely followed by Visida, of the 'Gators, who tallied 7 markers. These two lads were easily the stars of their respective teams in all-round play as well as in scoring.

The Alabama mute team, flashing a powerful offensive and using an impregnable five-man defense, won handily from the Georgia aggregation, holding a 21-9 advantage at the end of the game.

The Georgians started off with a bang, and held the lead for the first few minutes, but the fast floor game of the 'Bamans swept them off their feet and gave Coach Wren's lads a 13-6 lead at the half. The 'Bamans still further proved their superiority and won the right to clash with Arkansas tomorrow in the second period, rushing over the court to come through with a 21-9 victory.

Wall, with 9 points, and Pate, were the Alabama stars, while Parker led the Georgians.

Third Contest.

The third game, with Tennessee and Mississippi as the contestants, proved to be the closest, though not the best, on the program. The scoring was nip and tuck throughout, with Tennessee jumping off to an early lead, only to see it vanish as the lads from the Magnolia state put on spasmodic bursts of speed to take the halfway honors, 12 to 9.

The Mississippi crew maintained a fast pace all during the second period, and at the end of the game found themselves on the long end of a 23-18 count. McMullen starred for the winners, while Rogers was best for the Tennessee crew.

The last battle on the evening's schedule saw South Carolina eke a 30-22 victory over the North Carolina outfit.

The South Carolinians had things all their own way during the first half, going to the sidelines with an 11-1 advantage easing them on. They seemed to take this too much to heart, however, and as the second period got under way, found themselves with a slim three-point margin as their lead. Following this, they came back to life to match each opposing goal with one of their own, and in the closing moments spurted to pull away to win by 8 points.

Johnson led the South Carolina outfit in scoring with 16 markers, and he and Richardson looked best for the winners, while Sherrill starred for the losers.

M'RAE IS WILLING TO APPEAR BEFORE PRISON COMMISSION

Macon, Ga., February 15.—(AP)—M. L. McRae, former sheriff of Montgomery county, today declared he would go before the state prison commission at its meeting next Tuesday to deny charges that he aided Griffin G. Grinstead, under death sentence for the slaying of a county policeman, to escape from the state penitentiary in April, 1927, and subsequently protected him as a fugitive from justice for fourteen months.

McRae declared the statement that he had aided Grinstead an "audacious falsehood." At a recent meeting of the prison commission attorneys for Grinstead, after a formal hearing, told the prison commission their client had made an affidavit charging that McRae aided in his escape from the prison and protected him for fourteen months.

Grinstead's affidavit was said to have contained a charge that McRae visited him in the Bibb county jail in August, last year, and gave him $20. W. C. Cooper, Jr., counsel for Grinstead, said that Joe Stripling, assistant Bibb county jailer, made an affidavit that Grinstead had given him $20 to keep for him, after McRae had visited him.

McRae, who retired from office January 1 and now lives in Florida, said he would go before the prison commission to deny the charges.

NO GUMSHOE DRYS NEEDED IN ARMY, COLONEL DECLARES

Baltimore, February 15.—(AP)—Colonel Oliver S. Eskridge, commandant at Fort Leonard Wood, asserted tonight that a "bootleg ring" exists at the fort.

He made the announcement in discussing the results thus far obtained by a board of officers he appointed to investigate the death of Private Samuel A. Forcey last week. The board reported death was due to acute alcoholism, but that the liquor consumed by the soldier was not of a poisonous nature. Two non-commissioned officers are being held in connection with Forcey's death.

"In almost all places where large groups of men are together in this country, there is a bootleg ring as at Fort Leonard Wood," Colonel Eskridge said. "Just as in such other groups its members are extremely loyal to each other.

"For this reason it is most difficult to get evidence. We in the army do not like gumshoe methods.

"If we cannot get our evidence by playing above board the men involved in this ring will just have to go free. We seldom invoke the aid of the prohibition service."

MORROWS DEPART FOR COUNTRY HOME IN MEXICAN HILLS

Mexico City, February 15.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow with his wife and daughter, Anne, this afternoon went by automobile to Cuernevaca for a week-end at the Morrow country residence in the beautiful and historic resort where the courtship of Anne by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is believed to have taken place.

Miss Morrow and Colonel Lindbergh were there for several week-end family parties during visits of the aviator to Mexico. The city hall of Cuernevaca is the old palace of the Spanish conqueror Cortes and near the Morrow residence is a hotel which was formerly the palace of Emperor Maximilian and his Queen Carlotta during their short rule over Mexico.

The Morrows will return on Monday.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE PREPARES OPERA; DIRECTORS NAMED

Milledgeville, Ga., February 15.—(Special.)—Students at the Georgia State College for Women are practicing for their week of opera which will be given early in May during national music week under the direction of Miss Alice Lenore Tucker, head of the music department. She will be assisted by Mrs. R. E. Long, Mrs. L. P. Longino, Mrs. E. R. Hines, Miss Beatrice Horsbrough, Miss Christine Cotner, Mrs. W. H. Allen, Miss Helen Dasher, Miss Fannie Virginia McClure and Miss Maggie Jenkins.

Among the operas which the students will sing are "Ernani," "Martha" and "The Egyptian Princess."

PLAN TO DEPORT ALIENS CARRYING GUNS OR BOMBS

Washington, February 15.—(AP)—The house today amended the senate deportation bill to provide for the deportation of aliens convicted of carrying weapons or explosive bombs. The revision was aimed at alien gunmen and was accepted without a record vote.

Hitchcock's Team Wins Title

Del Monte, Calif., February 15. (AP)—Tommy Hitchcock led the San Carlos Cardinals to a 7-5 victory over the Midwick polo players to win the Pacific coast polo championship in the finals here today.

At several stages the game was a duel between Hitchcock and Erick Pedley, leader of the Midwick team.

It was a perfect day and a tremendous crowd of society notables and polo followers witnessed the fast and furious game and watched Lady Alexandria Metcalfe present the cups to the Cardinals at its conclusion.

CADET QUINTET OF RIVERSIDE G.I.A.A. THREAT

Gainesville, Ga., February 15.—(Special.)—Bowling over all ten of 11 opposing teams and piling up more than 400 points for the season, the Cadets of Riverside loom as strong contenders for the G. I. A. A. championship to be decided in the tournament to be sponsored by The Constitution in Atlanta next month.

With a "baker's dozen" of games played, ten won and one lost, now a matter of history, the scorebook of the Cadets shows that business has been picking up since the very first of the season. The North Georgia Agricultural Aggies, of Dahlonega, have been the only ones who have been able to tie the can to these fast-stepping Cadets since the hardwood season took the limelight. The farmers of the future took the big end of a 41-25 score, but they knew that they had been in a nip-and-tuck affair when the final whistle tooted.

The Flying Cadets have been impartial in vanquishing all comers. They have taken two games from Clarkesville, two from Grayson High and two from the frosh team of Georgia Tech's basket bunch. G. M. A. C. and the first-year team of Clemson college contributed one each to the won column of the Cadets. The North Georgia Aggies got an even break, winning one and losing one. Braselton High was defeated by the locals early in the season. All of which account for the 11 games played to date.

The young soldiers have gathered unto themselves a total of 413 points, while their opponents have amassed 273 counters. Of this number credited to the Cadets, the members of the Riverside team have individually contributed as follows: Harris 36; Broxton 16; Mason 37; Herrick 103. These constitute the forwards, the attacking squadron. Foster, at center, is high man with 164. At guard, Musslewhite has garnered 10 points, Freeman 21 and Henderson 26.

Mock, Mrs. Fraser Winners at Ansley

Mock and Mrs. Fraser carried off low gross honors of the meet, leading a classy field. J. T. Womack and Mrs. Lewis Gregg won low net honors and were trailed by Dr. G. W. Quillian and Mrs. C. C. Clower. John Gossard and Mrs. Williamson were runners-up for low gross honors.

Interest in golf at Ansley Park was somewhat stimulated by the announcement of Dr. Dan Y. Sage, of the club, that monthly tournaments would be held for the women members of the club.

Handball Champs Mix Today at 'Y'

Local handball enthusiasts can flock to the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon and enjoy plenty of entertainment in that sport free of charge.

The Atlanta Y. M. C. A. handball experts will meet the Augusta, Ga., champions on the local court on Luckie street in a series of matches. Both doubles and singles will be played. Boston and Cole will defend the local team's honors in the doubles while Curtis Mathews will take on the singles champion from Augusta.

The officials of the Y. M. C. A. announced that no admission would be charged and invite the public to attend the matches. Play will start at 3:30 o'clock.

Miss Hicks Wins Tourney at Miami

Miami, Fla., February 15.—(AP)—Miss Helen Hicks, the sensational young golfer from Salisbury, Long Island, won the Miami woman's championship today by defeating Mrs. John Arends, Chicago, 6 and 5, in the 18-hole final match at the Miami Country club.

Lomski Gets Decision As Detroit Crowd Boos

Detroit, Mich., February 15.—(United News.)—Despite the crowd's belief that he had lost, Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen, Wash., battler, was given a 10-round decision over Tuffy Griffith, Sioux City, Iowa, light heavyweight tonight.

The decision was booed more than any given here in the past year and Tuffy received one of the greatest ovations of his life as he walked from the ring wiping the tears from his eyes.

As a 'Baby' Ruth Takes Prize

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 15.—(AP)—Babe Ruth, king of home run hitters, last night donned a baby's long dress, wore a blond wig, carried a milk bottle and won first prize for the most cleverly burlesqued costume at the annual Beaux-Arts ball at the Jungle.

Ruth rode into the ballroom on a little red wagon pulled by a lady dressed in the accepted fashion of the gay 90's and tantalizing her ward with a bright red rattlebox. Ruth's costume was awarded first place by the judges without discussion.

Cadets Score As Game Ends To Beat Poets

Lanier Sees Victory Snatched Away in Last Seconds; Score Is 38 to 37.

A field goal scored with only a couple of seconds' playing time left gave the G. M. A. Cadets a one-point over the Lanier High School basketball team of Macon Friday afternoon in the G. M. A. gymnasium. The score was 38-37.

Hackney, Cadet center, made the goal that brought victory following a whirlwind game. G. M. A. secured a lead at the start of the game, but its defense crumpled and Lanier forged ahead to a lead of 10 points. The score at the half was 23 to 19. In the second half the Cadets came back with the defense improved and its passing working better. One goal and two shots in succession brought the College Park team to within one point of Lanier, which had scored a field goal.

Whirlwind Finish.

From then until the game's end the battle was on. Both teams presented a defense that was almost impenetrable, and the game turned into a whirlwind affair, with Lanier staying ahead by one or two points.

Finally, in the closing minutes, G. M. A. went head, but was overtaken by Lanier. With less than a half minute of play left Suddath, of the Cadets, sank a free try. The ball was worked down toward Lanier's goal and G. M. A. was given the ball for a throw-in.

Hackney Sinks Shot.

Pittman passed it to Hackney, who turned the ball loose in the general direction of the basket and it went in just as the whistle blew.

It was the second victory for G. M. A. over Lanier this season. Both teams played splendid basketball and demonstrated that they are going to be tough customers in The Constitution-G. I. A. A. tournament which will be held here March 13-16.

Pittman, of G. M. A., and Gooding, of Lanier, were high scorers for their teams, with 21 and 18 points respectively. Pittman played a good floor game and aided materially in the passing of the Cadets.

PIEDMONT LEAGUE.

The perfect record made in nine consecutive games by the league-leading quintet from North Atlanta Baptist will be in danger in tonight's series at the Y. M. C. A., as they are scheduled to meet their strongest rivals, the Center Hill Baptist five, in the opening game of the series at 7 o'clock. The Oakhurst Presbyterian boys are out to break their long losing streak in this series at the expense of the Tri-Mu Class in the other game of this league.

A game from the Dixie league will be played along with this series to permit the Black & Gold and Peachtree Christian quintet to catch up with their regular schedule and this will give the fans of this league a bargain bill as no extra charges will be made.

Peachtree Christian vs. Black & Gold (Dixie league), 8:30 p. m.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Two hard-fought contests were the basketball results of four teams' efforts displayed last night within the Epworth Athletic association. There was one girls' affair, and it ended in a well-earned victory for the Emory Nurses when they outscored Park Street, 19 to 4. The boys' mixup spelled a win for the St. Paul Feds over the Epworth outfit by a 25 to 19 count.

Walter Hagen To Play In German Golf Meet

New York, February 15.—(United News.)—Walter Hagen, captain of the American Ryder cup golf team, will participate in the German championships at Berlin, after the British open tournament, H. Portack, of the German tourist information office, announced here today.

Jack Butler Defeats Hakes in Final Match

Bill To Legalize Betting Introduced

Lansing, Mich., February 15.—(AP)—A bill to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse races in Michigan was introduced in the lower house of the legislature today. Its sponsor, Representative Alonzo B. Gren, of Alpena, declared it was designed primarily to allow betting on county fair races. It would authorize, however, two licensed tracks in Wayne county (Detroit).

Football Coaches Meet Secretly

Absecon, N. J., February 15.—(United News.)—Members of the intercollegiate football rules committee met here today in secret session to determine what, if any, changes are to be made next fall.

Meeting at the Sea View Country club, the committee is enforcing its announced policy of strict secrecy and none of its actions are to be made public before the meeting is adjourned.

The Football Coaches association unanimously favors revision of the rule to prevent the scoring of a touchdown by a man recovering a fumbled ball. The opinion is that the penalty is out of proportion to the importance of the misplay.

BULLDOGS HOST TO STRONG A. C. QUINT TONIGHT

Twelve players, composing the first-string team of the Atlanta Athletic club, will leave Atlanta today at 11 a. m. for Athens and an engagement there tonight with the Georgia Bulldog, whom the club defeated on the club court last Saturday, 43-29.

The game in Athens tonight will mark the first time that the club has played out of town this season. The Bean-coached five has not played since last Saturday, but has been working out every night, and will be in shape tonight.

The Athens crew will, in all probability, present a stronger lineup than it did last Saturday, when it faced the club minus the services of Jimmy Harris, Bulldog captain and scoring ace, who was out with an injured ankle. As it was, Georgia made a very good fight for the game, and is expected to provide the club plenty of opposition tonight.

The A. A. C. squad, though it has had one or two close calls, has not been defeated this season, and seems well on the road to an undefeated year. It has a defense that no one has yet been able to solve, while Pat Stephens, scoring ace, has been checked in only one or two games.

The following men are making the trip to Athens: Brewer, Stephens, Bell, Ridgway, McCrory, Player, Drew, Connor, Johnson, Preas, Scrivner and Kirk.

Conference Teams Form Cage Loop

Richmond, Va., February 15.—(AP)—R. A. Smith, graduate manager at Washington and Lee university, said today that southern conference schools in the south Atlantic section would send representatives to Roanoke on March 4 to discuss plans for a new basketball league. The meeting, originally programmed for tomorrow night, has been called off owing to the inability of two Carolina institutions to send representatives then, Mr. Smith said.

The league only tentatively planned as yet, is expected to embrace eight schools. The colleges interested, Mr. Smith said, are Maryland, Virginia, Washington and Lee, V. M. I., V. P. I., North Carolina, North Carolina State and Duke University.

Mr. Smith, who was instrumental in forming a baseball league among south Atlantic conference schools, is an outstanding advocate for the proposed organization.

Boys' Defeated By Columbus Hi

Columbus, Ga., February 15.—(AP)—A driving second half attack by the Columbus High Blue Devils abated the violence of Boys' High's Purple Hurricane here tonight and carried the home guard to a 41-to-30 verdict over the Atlanta team. The visitors led at the half, 22 to 21, but were badly outscored in the last stanza. Skeeter Newsome led the assault with 16 points, while Donohoo was high for the Hurricane with 9.

Physical Condition Of Race Horses Better

Chicago, February 15.—(AP)—Racing thoroughbreds will be in better physical condition this spring than ever, Dr. J. M. Kaiser, veterinary at most Chicago tracks, reports after a tour of inspection in the south.

"The annual visitations of influenza and fever have hit the horses early this year, and now they are recovered and fit for their training periods," Dr. Kaiser said. "It means that tracks having early seasons will have the services of many turf stars instead of having them laid up with illness."

Ryerson Meets Capo In Golf Finals Today

St. Augustine, Fla., February 15. (AP)—Jack Ryerson, of Cooperstown, N. Y., and Joe Capo, St. Augustine, won their way into the final round of the St. Valentine Golf tournament here today by eliminating C. V. Black, Cincinnati, 2 and 1, and C. C. Spades, Chicago, 5 and 3, respectively. They meet tomorrow in the 36-hole finals for the title and the W. R. Kenan, Jr., trophy.

Cubs To Doll Up This Season

Chicago, February 15.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs have ordered some natty new uniforms for the 1929 season.

A scarlet leather-lined coat with navy blue and leather sleeves will replace the old jackets and on the chest will be an eight-inch chenille bear. Home suits will be solid white with a "C" and cub bear on the left breast. Road uniforms will be dark gray, with a two-toned "Chicago" across the breast, red on blue. On the left sleeve will be a silk chenille bear.

Dunn Defeats Cecil Flowers At Auditorium

Roy Dunn, Macon colored puncher, plastered Cecil Flowers, Atlanta, around the ring in the auditorium Friday night in a manner convincing enough to impress everyone present that he fully deserved the decision awarded him following a 10-round battle which was the headliner of S. C. Roby's all-colored card.

The battle was rather draggy and not half as exciting as the affair between Tiger Taylor, also of Macon, and Cowboy Kid, of Atlanta, for the southern colored featherweight title. Up until Friday night this crown was in the possession of the Cowboy Kid, but after 10 speedy rounds in which the Tiger did muchly as he pleased with the Kid, the title went down to Macon.

Taylor Wins Easily.

It was Taylor's fight throughout with Cowboy being continually on the defensive. His defense consisted in his covering his head with both hands while Tiger socked at any uncovered spot with all his force.

There was one knockout on the program and it was rough enough to satisfy the most bloodthirsty of souls. The sleep-producing wallop Friday night was contained in the right hand of Captain Billy Lotz's boy, Happy Hunter. Happy, in the fourth round of his bout with Milton Wright, socked Wright in rather terrific fashion on the chin and the latter quickly assumed a horizontal position and it took some time for seconds to bring him around. This was the second bout of the evening.

Obie Is Victor.

In the first affair two colored boys built along elephantine lines pranced and danced around the ring for four rounds, doing very little fighting and when it was over Bearcat Obie, 235 pounds, had defeated Battling Conner, 230 pounds.

In the third bout Speedy Freeman and Seldon Heard, a doughboy from Fort Benning, battled for six rounds with the colored soldier enjoying himself and winning a decision.

Thomas Burke, Sprinter Ace, Dies

Boston, February 15.—(AP)—One of the greatest middle distance men of all time, Thomas E. Burke, who won the 100 and the 400-meter races at the first of the modern Olympic games at Athens in 1896, is dead from a shock suffered last Saturday.

He started his remarkable career as a school boy when, as a representative of English High school, of Boston, in the early 90's, he hung up record for the indoor schoolboy 600-yard dash that stood for many years.

When he went to Boston university he won the intercollegiate quarter-mile two years in succession and the next, 1899, while at Harvard, he ran away with the intercollegiate half-mile. He was the national A. A. U. quarter-mile title holder from 1895 to 1897, capturing the event in the remarkable time of 49 4-5 seconds.

He held the world's record for 600 yards at 1 minute and 11 seconds, a feat that stood unsurpassed for 14 years, until Mel Shepard lowered it by a mere fifth of a second.

Burke was 53 years old. For a time he practiced law, but his health failed him. In 1917 he was track coach at Mercersburg academy in Pennsylvania, and later was a sports writer on several Boston newspapers.

While a member of the staff of the old Boston Journal he met Ruth C. Bodwell, whom he married and who, with a daughter, survive. During the war Burke was a first lieutenant in the aviation service.

Terrors Will Play GulfQuint Tonight

Burke Terrors, independent basketball champions of the south for 1926 and 1927, will play the Gulf Refining company's quintet Saturday night, on the J. P. C. court. A real exciting preliminary game between two champion Sunday school teams will open the hostilities at 7:15.

The Burke Terrors always bring a strong team here from Nashville, Tenn., and usually get away with the biggest scores, but the Gulf has been going at a fast winning pace lately and will give the visitors some real competition.

The Calvary Methodist quintet won the championship in the Sunday School association and Western Heights is the only undefeated team in the Y. C. A. A. Both of these teams have good records and a real battle is expected.

Loss of Champion Jumper and Dash Man Will Be Keenly Felt at Tech.

Georgia Tech's athletic stock on the track market took a decided drop Friday when it was announced by Coach Hal Barron that Ed Hamm, world champion broad jumper, would enter a hospital Tuesday for an appendicitis operation. This will mean, according to Coach Barron, that the internationally famous track star will not be able to compete for Georgia Tech during the coming track season.

The loss of Hamm will mean the ss of a man who won three first ces for Georgia Tech in the South- conference track and field meet was expected to add many points Tech's total in the meet this spring. Coach Barron declared that Hamm's uble was of the chronic variety and s not brought on by any athletic leavor recently. The jumping ace been suffering from the malady several months and it has now ched a point where physicians feel operation is imperative.

Hamm is entered to run in the York Athletic club games next nday night. The operation will, course, force him to cancel the agement.

oreign Runners To Race March 16

New York, February 15.—(AP)—Two international races, one at a mile and the other at 5,000 meters, are on the program for the annual Knights of Columbus games at Madison Square Garden March 16.

In the mile, Ray Conger, Phil Edwards, Sam Martin and Galen Elliott already have entered and the entry blank of Eino Purje, young Finnish star, is expected soon. Purje holds several decisions over Paavo Nurmi at 1,500 meters, the metric equivalent of the mile.

Nurmi and Leo Lermond, Boston A. A. distance ace, are entered in the 5,000 meters and invitations have been extended, as well, to Edvin Wide, of Sweden, and Willie Ritola, of Finland.

Frank Brennan, director of the games, has also announced that he hopes to persuade Lloyd Hahn, former Boston A. A. flier, to reconsider his retirement and enter the mile event. Hahn won this event last year, defeating Conger and Dr. Otto Peltzer, of Germany, and also in 1927, beating Wide. Both times Hahn just missed the world's indoor record for the distance. In 1927 he covered the eight furlongs in 4:12 1-5, a fifth of a second back of the record. Last year his time in a sensational battle was 4:13.

Textile Tourney In Semi-Finals

Greenville, S. C., February 15.—(AP)—Woodside and Monaghan, of Greenville, S. C.; Beacon, of Swannanoa, N. C., and Avondale, of Alexander City, Ala., battled through to the semi-finals in class B of the Southern Textile tournament here today. The semi-finals will be played tomorrow afternoon and the finals tomorrow night.

The semi-finals in the boys' A and the girls' A classes will be played tonight with Piedmont, of Piedmont, S. C., meeting Pelzer, of Pelzer, S. C., and New Holland, of Gainesville, Ga., facing Lanett, of Lanett, Ala., in the boys.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

by DICK HAWKINS

Still Pluggin'

THE semester examinations at Georgia Tech are over and the Golden Tornado has won another victory. Coach Alex made this declaration Thursday with ill-concealed glee. One or two members of the squad narrowly escaped the axe but it didn't fall and thus far the squad is intact. After the loss of Frank Speer under the edge of the faculty guillotine there is cause for pleasure on the part of the coaches that no others were cut off during examinations.

Tech's prospects for next season are not at all bad if too many promising players do not lose their standing with the faculty or leave school from some other cause. Many a prayer will be offered by Tech supporters between now and next fall that certain members of the Golden Tornado don't get thrown for a loss by their propensity for cutting classes and like misdemeanors.

A Strange Dish.

THE conference basketball race continues to assume the proportions of a Hindustani puzzle and little hope for a solution until the tournament puts the teams through the cream-separator of competition. The defeat of Georgia at the hands of Clemson just adds a little more of the spice of uncertainty to the delectable dish.

Tech's defeat by Tennessee poured kerosene oil into a lot of delightful dope dishes and now Georgia falls to Clemson. If dope means anything at all the conference title now could be given to at least half a dozen worthy teams. But the dish would not be tasty. Too many raspberries or something.

TO PICK a winner right now would necessitate some such procedure as this: Washington and Lee's Generals will win, or will they? The Generals have a powerful team but they have only played a few conference opponents and the Wildcats of Kentucky beat them once. Well then, what about Kentucky? No that won't do because Tech beat the Wildcats and they have lost some more. Why, to be sure, how stupid. Tech is the choice. But Tennessee beat Tech and the Jackets haven't met the Generals for a test yet. Then let's select Tennessee. Fine, but the Vols were swamped by Georgia and the Bulldogs lost to Tech and Clemson and North Carolina.

And so, far, far into the night. You can rig up all the dishes you like and still have a tasteless mess. Ain't it interestin'?

Deaf But Not Dumb.

IT IS usually a bad practice to walk around with somebody else's chip on your shoulder but sometimes it is excusable and maybe this is one of the times. We object very strenuously when we hear the gentlemen now engaged in a basketball tournament at the Atlanta Athletic club called "deaf and dumb."

They ARE deaf and many of them ARE mutes but durn few of them are dumb. It has been our privilege to see the deaf lads play basketball, football and other sports and their handicap does not affect their game except to improve it. Some of these teams on the A. A. C. floor play good enough basketball to give any of them a run and even those who don't play so well can't be accused of being dumb. They may be deaf and some of them may be mutes but, by heck, they aren't dumb.

Birmingham-Atlanta All-Stars Play Tonight

With the purpose of evening matters up, the Epworth Star basketeers will meet the Birmingham Epworths tonight on Wesley court, upon the latters' visit here for a return engagement. This game evidences the height of the season for the local Stars, being considered the biggest game on the home schedule. In addition to the main event, a preliminary go between the girl Stars and the Y. W. C. A. will be played, getting under way at 7:30 o'clock. Nearly a hundred Birmingham fans will make the trip with the team.

The outcome of the boys' game has a decided bearing on the forthcoming Southeastern Epworth league tournament to be held at Chattanooga March 16. The Slagtown and the local squads appear at present to be the most outstanding of the entries for the basketball convention at the Tennessee city, and the result Saturday night will be marked with much interest. The Stars lost to Birmingham in Alabama and will therefore do everything possible to bring standings to an even level.

The coaches of both teams realize the importance of the game Saturday and will start their strongest lineups in anticipation of winning. Coach Johnston, of the local Epworthians, bases his hopes on a new combination from that used against the Slagtowns in their first embroglio, and will pick his starting five from Hutcheson, Baskin, Cook, Forster, Pharr, Smith and Martin. Birmingham's mentor, Dick Webb, will place the same quintet on the floor as started against Atlanta formerly—Cunningham and Klassen, forwards; Hudson, center, and Hopping and Vance, guards.

With this game the only one being run off in the city this week-end, a large crowd of fans is expected.

Mehlhorn Will Play In British Tourney

New York, February 15.—(United News.)—"Wild Bill" Mehlhorn announced through the United News today that he would enter the British golf championship early in May.

Mehlhorn, who is here to appear at the international golf show next week, said he planned to sail for England April 17.

Before leaving Mehlhorn will play in the four-ball matches at Miami, Fla., early in March, the La Gorce open at Miami Beach, Fla., and the north-south open at Pinehurst.

Chicagoan Gets Hole In One With Midiron

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 15.—(AP)—C. F. Greifenhagen, of the Edgewater club, of Chicago, scored a hole in one here this morning on the 14th hole of the Lakewood Estates Country club.

The veteran golfer was accompanied by Fred W. Willard, of the Lynewood club, of Atlantic City, N. J., when he scored the ace. The hole is a short drive, being 135 yards and was accomplished with a midiron.

Holdouts Few In Majors But Crop Is Select

Demands of November Turn Into Acquiescence in February, Writes Gould.

BY ALAN J. GOULD.

New York, February 15.—The crop of baseball holdouts has been unusually small this spring, but also somewhat select.

Comparatively little talk or argument about salaries has intruded itself upon the otherwise serene major league landscape, whether it has been due to more rigid censorship of the clubs over such affairs or to the smoother dispatch of such business.

Here and there, however, where some discordant notes have been heard, appear the names of such stars as the great dazzler, Arthur Vance, of Brooklyn; the equally as great Waner brothers, of Pittsburgh; Mickey Cochrane, of the Athletics, the American league's most valuable player, and Earle Combs, fleet Yankee outfielder. There have been a few others but, as is usually the case, the insistent demands of December and the ultimatum of January have faded into the acquiescence of February.

Likewise may the more experienced holdouts, if they are such, be expected to fall in line. Vance, except when he has had a holdover contract, can be counted on for some debate over salary matters with the Robins. As the highest salaried boxman in the National league, he may regard that as his prerogative.

The Waners, so the story goes, have pooled their demands to the tune of asking $35,000, or about double what the combined brother act received from the Pirate club last year. Since this is only half what Babe Ruth receives for his solo work, the Waners may feel their demands are no more than fair for a duet.

Cochrane's demands for a bigger salary, after his recognition as the league's most valuable performer, may be one reason why the American league magnates have had some discussion about abolishing the prize award.

Whatever holding out there is among the world's champion Yankees seems confined to the outfield, the name of Combs being linked with those of Bob Meusel and Ben Paschal as the only players not yet having signed contracts. But no alarm has been manifested in the Ruppert-Barrow sanctum over the situation.

Rogers Hornsby had no trouble coming to terms with his new employers in Chicago, while Eddie Roush's holdover contract prevents this veteran from having his usual debate over salary. Few springs have been complete without a demonstration of dissatisfaction by the Indiana farmer and centerfielder, now on the Giants' roster.

The twin thorns of the Yankee attack, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, have one and two seasons more to go on their present contracts, respectively. The Babe's $70,000 contract, signed with a great deal of flourish in the spring of 1927, has covered already two or his greatest years and may be increased when it runs out. Gehrig's salary, under a clause understood to call for an automatic annual increase, is $25,000 this year and will be $30,000 in 1930.

CUNNNINGHAM BALKS AT PROFFERED SALARY.

Oakland, Calif., February 15.—(AP) Bruce Cunningham, young right-handed pitcher, said today he would not report to the Boston Braves until the National league team had met his salary demands. Cunningham was with Los Angeles last season.

Class AA Circuit Will Open April 17

New York, February 15.—(AP)—In a stormy four-hour session which finally ended with all appearances of amicability, the assembled magnates of the International league today decided to start their season Wednesday, April 17, the day after the big league opening date.

The curtain is to be rung up by Montreal playing at Newark, Toronto at Baltimore, Buffalo at Jersey City and Rochester at Reading. Just two weeks later, on May 1, games involving the same teams will usher in the season in the northern half. The 168-game schedule closes on Sunday, September 22.

A vote of confidence in the ability of the Donnelly brothers, William and Frank, to handle the destinies of the Jersey City club was taken, and William J. Manley, who has been personal secretary to John Conway Toole, league president, was made secretary-treasurer of the circuit.

Giants Are Ready For Spring Grind

San Antonio, Texas, February 15.—(AP)—Thirty members of the New York Giants headed by Assistant Manager and coach, Ray Schalk, were here today ready to begin spring training.

The players accompanied by ten newspapermen, arrived last night. The remainder of the club members will report by March 1.

The players said they expected Manager John McGraw "to drop in any day." Charles Stoneham, president of the club, will arrive about March 3.

Chick Pilot Seeking Men For Infield

First and Second Basemen Are Needed by Memphis; Pitchers Look Good.

Memphis, February 15.—(AP)—Manager "Doc" Prothro, of the Memphis Chicks, has out a "want ad" for first and second basemen.

Excepting these positions, and a couple of outfielders, the 1929 edition of the Tribe, runner-up to Birmingham in the Southern association pennant race last year, is almost intact.

Several new faces, however, may be seen in the Tribe line-up when the season opens as Prothro has a number of youngsters anxious for tryouts.

Above all the Chick manager takes pride in discussing the prospects of his pitching staff. The playing-manager, who holds down the third sack, says the Tribe has the best hurling staff "on paper" that the club has had in years. The batterymen will report March 4, and the fielders, rounding out a squad of close to 40 players, will report a week later.

Best Pitching Bets.

The best pitching bets in Prothro's opinion are Clarence Griffin, veteran Chick, and Phil Weinert, coming outright from the Chicago Cubs in the deal for Danny Taylor, heavy hitting outfielder of last season. Weinert, a left hander, is looked upon by Prothro as probably the best portsider in the association this year.

Other moundsmen who will be in the fold are "Buckshot" May, a right-hander from San Francisco; Roscoe Shepherd, Fred Johnson and Kit May, brought over from last season, and Heving, Baylin, McCorkle and Blue, all newcomers. Harry Kelly was sold unconditionally to the New York Giants.

As for the catchers there are Barrett and Berger of last year's team, both rated high among the backstops of the loop. Barrett, at the time his leg was broken last season, was hitting around .340 and carried the brunt of the backstop work. The lot fell to Berger, however, when Barrett was injured, and he developed into a first rate maskman. The team is well fixed behind the plate, Prothro says.

Charley Engle will be back at shortstop. Although a formidable fielder, Engle has been one of the weak hitters of the team. He showed improvement late in the 1928 season, however. For reserve strength, the Chicks have purchased Ernie McNair from Meridian of the Cotton States league and he comes highly recommended.

.300 Hitters.

With Klugman, keystoner of last season, sold to Nashville, the Bluff Citians will probably depend on Roy Williams, with Knoxville of the Sally last season, and Harry Snyder, of Savannah of the Southeastern, to contest for the place along with one other player yet sought. Both Williams and Snyder are rated .300 hitters.

Prothro is also dickering for a first baseman. Hudgens, last year's initial bagger, is to be disposed of and Phil Lundeen, a .412 hitter in the Piedmont league, along with Sam Leslie of Meridian will both try for the opening.

Although hardly up to the strength of last year the outfield prospects are good. Tex Jeanes, former major leaguer, will be in the center garden with Farrell, utility of last season, and Allington, bought from Wichita of the Western league probably in the other spots. Oscar Felber, South Atlantic batting leader last season, may give the outfielding candidates plenty of trouble.

Florida U. Stars Sweep Net Play

Ormond Beach, Fla., February 15.—(AP)—The Florida-Georgia intercollegiate tennis tournament held under the auspices of the Ormond Beach Tennis club, developed into a clean sweep for the team from the University of Florida when the finals in both the singles and doubles events will bring together players from this institution tomorrow.

Gus Feuer, holder of the title from last year, easily gained his way to the singles final when he disposed of Lawrence Salley, University of Florida, 6-1, 6-3, after defeating John Jones, Stetson, 6-0, 6-0, in the quarter finals. Salley won his match from Ira Bradies, Stetson, 6-1, 6-1.

In the lower bracket Billy Fisher, Florida, defeated his teammate, Nick Polites, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4, to enter the finals, having previously defeated Merle Olson, Stetson, 6-0, 6-4. Polites reached the semi-finals by conquering Zurney Meredith, Stetson, 6-4, 6-1.

In the doubles Feur and Polites defeated Jones and Brandies, 6-0, 6-0, and Fisher and Salley won from Meredith and Olson, 6-3, 6-3.

Helen Hicks Winner Of Miami Golf Title

Miami, Fla., February 15.—(AP)—Her facility to gain early scores stood by Miss Helen Hicks, 18-year-old golfing star, as she polled a 6 and 5 victory over Mrs. John Arends, of Chicago, to win the annual Miami women's championship golf tournament here today.

The Salisbury, Long Island, girl had led her opposition throughout the play, having broken a course record at the Miami Country club to become medalist in her qualifying play, her 18-hole match with Mrs. Arends today showed the same brilliant play that has marked her other days in the championship.

Mrs. Arends took second honors for the second time here today. She was runner-up in the Miami Beach women's championship a short time ago.

Detroit Roque Player Loses at St. Petersburg

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 15. (AP)—E. M. Moon, of Detroit, Mich., after taking five straight victories in the national roque tournament here went down in defeat this afternoon before the classy playing of W. T. Conkling, of Earlville, N. Y., by a score of 32 to 17.

While Moon was losing to Conkling, Ervin Locke, 1927 champion, handed G. L. Gnagy, of Hamilton, Ind., a 32 to 11 lacing for his sixth straight triumph.

:: POP BOTTLES BANNED AT FIGHT ::

Miami Beach, Fla., February 15.—(AP)—Pointing the course of the Stribling-Sharkey elimination bout along the channels of harmony is transforming the Mauler of Manassa into the mediator of Miami Beach.

Jack Dempsey, in his latest step toward a peaceful arrangement of the details that make up the background for the fight, today issued an edict that there are to be no pop bottles in the Flamingo Park arena for juggling by fight fans who might allow their partiality and sympathy the bottle throwing stage.

Dempsey's order was to the effect that concessionaires will not be permitted to dispense soft drinks in bottles, and that they must serve their concoctions in paper cups or in other non-tossable containers.

The promoter kept step today in the referee selection conference between managers of the two fighters and the Miami Beach Legion post's athletic commission, but remained silent during the meeting.

"Pa" Buries Hatchet.

"Pa" Stribling buried the hatchet as far as referees are concerned, with his statement at the beginning of the conference that he, as a resident of the south, would withdraw his objections to the lack of southern names in the list of eligible referees under consideration.

With true southern courtesy, "Pa" eliminated his desires to influence the selection of third man in the ring, and advocated that the boxing commission of Massachusetts, Sharkey's state, be permitted to pick for final approval of the managers one man to act as referee and one as alternate. The south, "Pa" pointed out, is to be the scene of the battle, and he added that he believed that the north should be permitted to have its voice.

The other conferees agreed with the elder Stribling's suggestion, with the result that Dempsey telegraphed the Massachusetts boxing group the request that they name possibility as a referee and one as an alternate, submitting their recommendations by February 20.

Dempsey May Choose.

The names will be given to Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, and to Pa Stribling for final approval, Dempsey said. If they are unable to agree on the selection, the promoter said that he will make the selection himself. Young Stribling and Jack Sharkey got in some good work this afternoon at their respective training quarters, both of them going through short bouts and manipulating the light and heavy bags and skipping rope. The Boston sailor also participated in his roadwork earlier in the day.

The promoter of the fight took advantage of his last opportunity to hunt quail this season, and sallied forth into the back country for birds during the last half day that the game laws will permit activities of this sort.

Tickets disappeared today at approximately the same rate of speed they showed yesterday. As a result, a hurry-up call was issued from the Madison Quare Garden box office to all branch ticket offices in the country for a report on all unsold tickets.

The move was made to gain an idea of the number of ducats available for the central office in case it is found necessary to bring tickets here from outside to supply the requests made locally and mailed in here from outside.

A New Golf Par.

Apparently the time has come to set up a new type of par in golf. This par has nothing to do with the length of a hole or the score that is made. It goes even deeper into the ancient game.

Here is just one example. A few days ago a keen golfer explained at much length a phenomenon that had come to him on the sixteenth hole, where certain unusual details had taken place. I listened with at least a show of patience. Before I could offer anything in rebuttal he had presented another bizarre happening on the ninth hole where, after missing two shots he had holed out from a bunker to win a hole with a birdie. I thought I was all ready for him this time with a remarkable happening that had occurred to me on the eleventh hole. But I wasn't fast enough. He dug up another incident concerning a long brassie shot that hit the flag and bounded back a foot from the cup. I suddenly realized that I was 3 down. At the next start I made up my mind to break it seems to me there should be some form of par established along this line. One story at a time should be par and any one relating more than one incident before the other fellow has a chance should be automatically disqualified.

Hard to Enforce.

Whether or not any such rule or regulation could be enforced is doubtful. When the average golfer starts to tell you about what happened to him on the eleventh hole it will take more than a rule or a machine gun or a trench mortar to stop him. And this goes for a golf story.

Only a short while back a friend asked if he had ever told me the story about the So-and-so and the So-and-so at St. Andrew's. "Yes," I said, "three times." But the fanatical light was already in his eye and he went along with the full details just the same. Once you see the flaming light of incident or anecdote in the golfer's eye it is too late.

The opponent mentioned just above had about the only system. After he had related five of his episodes and incidents and I had gotten started again, he waved at a friend and suddenly hurried away. I tried to follow, but he had evidently been practicing quick starts. When I passed them later, he was telling his friend about the long brassie shot that struck the pin. And the friend glowered at me, probably because I had let him get away. At the end of four days I had heard about almost every shot he had played, without being able to unfold in return any of my own phenomena. A par of this type is entirely too difficult for any average orator to face.

The Chance for Action.

"I know," writes L. F., "that both Sharkey and Stribling can fight if they want to. But the question is: How much will they want to? Stribling, at twenty-four, is far better than Tunney was at twenty-four. No comparison. Sharkey can be about as good as he wants to be. But how much will they give out?" One detail is pretty sure. If either fails to crowd in his share of the action in this coming party, it will mean his finish as a card. If both fail they will both be through. There is a young Mr. Schmeling coming on, who will crowd one or both out of the big money picture if there is any tendency toward a combined wrestling and dancing act. Sharkey and Stribling understand well enough now that his next stand is to be the one that makes or breaks. No pair of fighters ever had a greater chance to surround a large lump of spotlight than these two have. They have all the makings for action and melodrama combined—skill, speed and the ability to punch. Taking all these details into consideration the chance for action in this next contest is first class.

Foreign Challengers.

Bob Fitzsimmons, the Cornishman, was the last foreign born entry to win the heavyweight championship. Most of the others were flops until Firpo came along. The Pampas puncher was the most sensational of all the invaders. Schmeling is the first of the German entries to make any headway up the grade. And when one figures up all his qualities he has a great chance to keep climbing. For that matter, many of the foreign entries, however crude, have been much more willing to fight than most of the native born stars. The latter have the "art of self-defense" to be just that. They have been able to see a dollar much more clearly than an opening around the chin. Schmeling is already more of a fighter than most of the heavyweights seen since Dempsey slipped out of the picture. He will be popular because he happens to believe that fighting means fighting—not wrestling and dancing.

Crowley's Successor Leaves for Georgia

Chattanooga, Tenn., February 15. (AP)—Frank Thomas, accompanied by his family, departed today for Athens, Ga., where he will assume duties as a member of the University of Georgia football coaching staff. Coach Thomas for the past few years has been head coach at the University of Chattanooga.

Tech Loses Star Guard For Season

Goldin Bursts Blood Vessel and May Not Return to Squad Until Next Year.

Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets, minus the services of Sid Goldin, star guard, will invade the loveliest village of the plains this morning in the hopes of repeating their previous performance of taking the scalp of the Auburn Tigers on the basketball court.

The Jackets will entrain at 8:30 this morning with the long ride and game awaiting them as the day wears on.

Goldin, whose charley-horse is reputed by many to be the cause of the recent Tech loss to Tennessee's Volunteers, has sprung a new ailment which bids fair to keep him on the bench the remainder of the season. The latest report from Sid's bedside is that he has a broken blood vessel in the lower part of his leg, and Mundorff, the Jacket mentor, has just about given up hope of getting Sid in condition for the coming tournament, though he may come round in the two weeks which remain before the battle starts.

Mundorff Very Busy.

Mundorff has spent much of his time in the past few practice sessions in working with Vance Maree, who wil be called on to take Goldin's post. The lad from Savannah has had some trouble in getting the ball off the backboard and out of danger with enough speed to cut down the number of shots which the opposing forces are taking at his basket, and as a consequence, Mundorff has stationed Vance beneath the hoop and sent ball after ball traveling towards the loop from the hands of his staff of forwards, who have instructions to follow their shots until Maree has come through to stop them.

Vance is reacting favorably to treatment, and will probably fill his duties well.

The Tigers are expected to present a real problem on this occasion. They will naturally be out for revenge with all their forces being concentrated for the attack. And the Jackets have been proven vulnerable. The Vols came down to face an unbeaten and apparently unbeatable team, but they sent the dope in all directions to put an entry in the red for the Techsters.

Tigers Improved.

The lads from the plains have improved in their last two games, taking the Mercer Bears into camp in two frays which showed the Tigers to be a coming quintet.

The Jackets will be forced to their limit to take the Plainsmen, though recent scrimmages at the Flat tend to indicate that the loss to the Vols has not broken their spirit, and has given them some additional fight.

Captain Heeke, Maree, Brooke, Coker, Hudson, Wages, Wilson, Williamson, Lewis, Manager Lunsford, and Mundorff will make the trip to Auburn.

Freshmen to Play.

Bill Fincher will lead his junior Jacket basketeers to Auburn for a game with the Auburn rats which will be played as a preliminary to the scrap between the varsities of the two schools tonight.

The Tech frosh have come out of their fog in the two practice sessions which have taken place since the rats went down before the Riverside Cadets last Wednesday, and it is expected that they will put up a real battle when they face the Baby Tigers.

Fincher's lads have faced the varsity in both these sessions, and have given the big squad stiff opposition on both occasions.

The freshmen have suffered a loss with the declaration of the faculty that Duke, who has ben used as a starting guard by Coach Fincher since the early part of the season, had not passed sufficient work to be eliigble.

Fincher is leaving with the varsity at 8:30 and is taking a 10-man squad, including Raines, Parkins, English, Waldrop, Yates, Sockwell, Griffith, Mathis, Friarson and Dawson. Manager McDonald will accompany the team.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, February 15.—(AP)—Sharp setbacks in wheat values took place today, but not until after the market had again outdone all top record quotations yet this season. Selling to realize profits developed on a big scale in the late dealings, and was accompanied by reports that Argentina is offering wheat to Europe 15c below wheat from North America. Furthermore, Missouri river markets were freely tendering wheat to come here.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 5-8 to 3-4c to 1 1-8c net lower. Corn finished at 1-4c decline to 1-8c gain, oats 1-2c off to a shade advance, and provisions unchanged to a downturn of 60c.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat, but received better support than wheat did on the late decline. Country offerings of corn were somewhat larger and primary arrivals today were 1,539,000 bushels against 939,000 bushels a year ago. Argentine corn shipments were the smallest so far on the crop.

Provisions had a downward slant as a result of hedging from packers and warehousemen, as well as because of lower quotations on hogs.

Anaconda Copper Runs Up New High But Falls Back

Total bond sales (par value), $10,029,000.

New York, February 15.—(AP)—Prices in the bond market continued their downward course today after a short rally in the early morning session, as money became scarce and the rate for call loans shot up to 10 per cent. Banks called $60,000,000 in loans. Most of this withdrawal was said to have been by out of town banks.

All sections of the list, except the secondary rails, yielded to the selling. Nearly a dozen issues established new lows for the year, and the Associated Press combined averages declined to their lowest level in more than two years.

Anaconda Copper 7s ran up to a new high at 209 3-4, but fell back under realizing sales and closed the day for a net loss of 5 points at 202 1-2. Anaconda 6s and Chile Copper 5s, however, improved fractionally. Porto Rican American Tobacco 6s continued their decline after their recent sharp rise, sagging nearly 2 points to 102 1-2. Hudson Coal 5s touched a new low.

Oils improved on excellent earnings reports for 1928. Humble 5 1-2s, Colon 6s and Sinclair issues were strong, the last on resumption of dividends on common stock.

The selling in the utilities was featured by a drop of 7 1-4 points by Public Service of New Jersey 4 1-2s. International Telephone convertible 4 1-2s after a fractional rise slumped nearly 2 points at the close. The 5s of Hudson County Gas, a subsidiary of Public Service of New Jersey, declined nearly 2 points to a new low for 1929 at 103 1-4.

American International 5 1-2s, a recent favorite, lost 1 1-2 points, and Alleghany Corporation 5s declined fractionally.

The decline in first grade rails was led by Baltimore and Ohio first general 4s, which sagged nearly 2 points to a new low for the year at 89 1-2. A poor earnings report sent Louisville and Nashville refunding 5s B to a new low for the year. Fonda, Johnston and Gloversville 4 1-2s led the advance in the secondary rails, with a gain of nearly 2 points.

New York, February 15.—(AP)—Relatively steady Liverpool cables and bullish week-end statistics were reflected by moderate advances in the cotton market today, but prices eased in the late trading under realizing. May contracts, after selling up to 20.10, or 13 points net higher, declined to 19.96 and closed at 19.99, compared with 19.97 at yesterday's close. The general market closed steady at a net decline of 2 points on March. Later deliveries were 1 to 2 points net higher.

Prices broke below yesterday's closing quotations on old crop months in the late trading. March sold off to 19.88 and July to 19.62, making net declines of 1 to 5 points on these positions. New crop months sold within 2 or 3 points of yesterday's closing quotations. The close was a shade up from the lowest on most months as a result of covering. The week-end figures showed a decrease of 142,424 bales in the world's visible supply of American cotton compared with a decrease of only 76,376 bales for the same week last year. Spinners' takings for the week were 321,132 bales, against 273,703 last year.

Exports today 13,421, making 5,904,789 this season. Port receipts 11,697. United States port stocks 2,103,544.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET STRONG.

New Orleans, February 15.—(AP)—The cotton market showed some strength early today, but the improvement met realizing and some selling later on the higher money rates and an easier stock market. May contracts after advancing to 19.49 eased off to 19.35 and closed at 19.38, or unchanged compared with yesterday's close. The general market closed steady net unchanged to 2 points lower.

In the final trading there was some covering and the close was 2 to 3 points above the lowest, with March at 19.27, July 19.40 and October 19.21, or unchanged to 2 points down compared with the previous close.

New York, February 15.—(AP)—The stock market experienced one of the most violent relapses of the year today, as call money jumped from 6 1-2 to 10 per cent, a rate that has not been surpassed since 1921, save during the recent money flurry caused by the January 1 shifting of balances, when it touched 12.

The sharp tightening of money resulted from withdrawals totaling $60,000,000 by the banks. Much of this was said to have been withdrawn by interior banks, and it was generally ascribed to the influence of the reserve banks. The day saw a general tightening of credit, bankers' acceptance rates rising 1-8 of one per cent for the second time this week, and time money moving up 1-4 of one per cent to 7 3-4 per cent for some maturities.

The reaction was the most violent since February 7. The Associated Press index of 50 industrials dropped 4.6 points to a new 1929 low, in contrast to a drop of 7 points eight days ago.

The market opened with a burst of strength, which appeared to be largely short covering resulting from the failure of the New York reserve bank to raise its rediscount rate last night. The fact that the directors were in session until about 7 o'clock, some three hours longer than usual, however, was interpreted as indicating that stren ous efforts are under way to carry out the reserve board's threat to choke off the supply of credit available for speculation. While the directors were very secretive as to what is taking place, rumors spread about Wall street that most of them had favored a higher rediscount rate, but met with opposition in Washington.

The federal reserve board's advisory council which consists of one member from each 12 reserve districts, meeting in Washington, issued a statement after the close of the market approving the board's action in asking the reserve banks to prevent diversion of reserve credit into the stock market, and suggesting that each reserve bank directly ask all its member banks to cooperate. "The council believes beneficial results can be obtained in this manner," the statement said. Wall street was inclined to interpret this as indicating that the council considers higher rediscount rates unnecessary for the present.

The trade and business news continued favorable. Several good earnings reports made their appearance, and Sinclair resumed dividend payments on its common stock. January exports were reported at the highest for that month in eight years. The weekly trade reviews reported satisfactory progress.

American Express dropped 12 points, while Allied Chemical, Byers, Chicago North Western preferred, General Electric, Johns Manville, Otis Elevator, Rossia Insurance, Standard Milling, and Union, Carbide were among issues losing from 6 to 10 points. U. S. Steel, American Can, American Sme ting, Consolidated Gas, International Harvester, International Nickel, Kennecott, New York Central, Packard, Simmons and Wright Aero receded about 3 to 4 points. Radio sold off 9 points, but recovered much of its loss.

American and Foreign Power and American Power and Light mounted about 7 and 8 points, the former to a new top, but lost most of their gains. New York traction issues were strong on expectations of a favorable decision in the 7-cent fare case. Union Tank Car was a strong point, rising 6 points to a new high, in buying influenced by large railway equipment orders.

The commodities markets were featured by a sourt of 2 cents a pound in crude rubber futures in excited buying after reports that American tire manufacturers had bought all of the available offerings of actual rubber in the trade. Wheat moved higher but encountered realizing, while corn was firm. Cotton moved in a narrow range.

In the foreign exchanges, the Canadian dollar dropped to another new 1929 low at 99.62 1-2 cents, making gold shipments to New York highly probable. Sterling and other European currencies ruled somewhat higher during most of the day.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 36

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

In the cabin by the beach two thoroughly terrified women crouched. The negress sobbed hysterically. The white girl, dry-eyed, was torn by fears and forebodings. They heard the almost incessant roars from the savage jungle. And now there came the sound of a heavy body brushing against the cabin's side!

Silence—then she distinctly heard an animal outside, sniffing at the door. They shuddered instinctively. A gentle scratching—the beast was trying to force an entrance. Now, silhouetted against the moonlit sky beyond, Jane saw the head of a huge lioness, its gleaming eyes fastened upon her in intent ferocity.

For twenty minutes the huge brute alternately sniffed and tore at the door. Then she launched her great weight against the timeworn window lattice. They saw a portion of it give way. Esmeralda fainted. The horrified prisoner within beheld one great paw . . . then its head thrust within the room.

Slowly the powerful neck and shoulders spread the bars apart . . . The girl rose as in a trance, seeking with ever increasing terror some loophole of escape . . . Suddenly her hand, tight pressed against her bosom, felt the outline of Clayton's revolver. Quickly she leveled it . . . and pulled the trigger. There was a flash of flame, a roar of pain. This was the shot heard by Tarzan and Clayton. Then Jane, too, fainted. But Sabor was not killed. She saw her prey resistless. Slowly she forced her great bulk through the opening. On this sight Jane again opened her eyes!

MILLION-DOLLAR PLANT MAY GO TO GRIFFIN

Griffin, Ga., February 15.—(Special.)—Griffin may land a new industry within the next few months if plans put under way here materialize. The new industry is a tapestry manufacturing company that makes tapestry for upholstering furniture and draperies. The company maintains a large factory of over 60,000 square feet floor space in a northern city and is planning on moving south.

E. L. Emerson, expert engineer of Robaret and company, of Atlanta, was in conference with a committee of the chamber of commerce. He brought statistics and reports to show that the mill is a $1,000,000 concern that is already established and doing a paying business.

Because of labor conditions and high rents, the company plans to move part of its plant to the south as an experiment. If this part of the business is successful then the entire plant will be moved.

President MacLemore, of the chamber of commerce, appointed a committee to work with Mr. Emerson in connection with locating this industry here. The committee was Seaton Bailey, E. P. Bridges, Findley Kincaid, Bill Cartledge, Robin Wheaton and Quimby Melton.

W. C. MOODY INDICTED

Larceny After Trust Charged in True Bill.

An indictment charging W. C. Moody with larceny after trust of $305 from R. L. Meador, of 87 Broad street, S. W., on July 27, was returned Friday by the Fulton county grand jury.

Another indictment returned by the grand jury charges G. W. Wellham with shooting at H. A. Stephens, of 261 Dodd avenue, with a pistol on February 5.

More Rainfall Seen for Today By Weatherman

The current month's most persistent rainfall, which began at approximately 10:30 o'clock Thursday night and continued throughout the day Friday, bringing the precipitation quota for the month up to normal figures, will not be halted until about noon today, according to the forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local bureau chief.

Bureau records Friday afternoon revealed that more than an inch had been registered up to that time, whereas the total for the whole rest of the month was just above .60 of an inch. Mr. Von Herrmann pointed out that at this season of the year such a rainfall was very likely to be pretty general all over this section and that for this reason a marked rise in the Flint and Chattahoochee rivers was to be expected, especially in their lower courses. He saw no cause for alarm in the condition, however, as the rivers at the present time are exceedingly low and there is little chance of their reaching flood stages.

With the predicted cessation of precipitation in rain today, clearing skies are expected and instead of a drop in temperature, Old Sol will return to the job and cause slightly warmer weather, bureau officials think. The temperature range Friday was from a minimum of 42 up to 46 and approximately the same figures are expected today.

Shifting wind and a falling barometer Friday afternoon indicated that a change in prevailing conditions was on the way and Mr. Von Herrmann stated that provided the weather acted as it should, Sunday would be an exceedingly pleasant day.

Another Texas disturbance is credited with causing the excess of precipitation here and the absence of any subsequent cold wave was explained by the fact that moderate weather prevails over practically the whole southern section of the country.

Until 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, the present rain had registered 1.1 inches, bringing the total for the month up to 1.76, just about the normal amount for this period. The temperature, however, is averaging between 2 and 3 degrees a day below the average figures.

Agricultural Display At Louisville Given Praise by Farmers

Louisville, Ga., February 15—(Special.)—The State Agricultural college has completed a two-day educational display for the farmers of this and adjoining counties, the effect of which will lend great impetus to the farming interests of this section. A steady stream of farmers viewed the display during Wednesday and Thursday.

The display covered several phases of agriculture, including dairying, hog and cattle, and poultry production, soil fertilization, forest preservation, and other allied subjects.

Experts from the State Agricultural college spoke on vital matters connected with farm life. The Thursday program was climaxed with a big barbecue spread by the citizens of this community for the visitors of the day and a picture show at the court house here last night completed what was said to have been the best and most successful farmers program ever put on in this county.

Money To Loan—Mortgages 40

A LOAN ON THE

"DISAPPEARING MORTGAGE PLAN"

MAKES IT EASY FOR YOU.

BECAUSE:

1. You steadily reduce the principal with a monthly payment that is less than rent.

2. You do not have the total principal falling due in one lump sum, which may be difficult to meet.

3. You are doing business with a company backed by 34 years' experience and $25,000,000 assets.

4. Unlimited funds are available NOW—Therefore, you receive your loan promptly.

5. $10 per month for each $1,000 borrowed repays both principal and interest until loan is paid in full. No more refinancing costs.

COME IN AND TALK IT OVER.

The Day in Finance

BY R. L. BARNUM

Copper and Utility Shares Open Strong Following Continuance of Same Rates.

New York, February 15.—Encouraged over the fact that the rediscount rate here was not advanced following the five-hour session of the New York Federal Reserve bank directors the longest session of the body on record, copper and public utility shares opened strong active and higher. However, the opening prices for Steel common and many other leading shares were the high for the day with the opening prices.

Before noon the banks here called $60,000,000 loans advancing the call money rate from the opening of 6 1-2 per cent to 8 per cent in the fourth hour and, to 10 in the last hour.

This and a further advance in the rate on bank acceptances by the federal reserve bank at Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and here, together with a further advance in the rate on bank acceptances by acceptance dealers brought about increased selling of stock which in the last two hours was the heaviest so far this year.

The weekly consolidated statement of the federal reserve system showed borrowings by member banks up to $3,52,000,000. This, with decreases of $19,000,000 in bills bought in the open market and $22,000,000 in holdings of government securities held unsettled confidence in the stock market.

The weekly brokers' loans statement showed a decrease of $37,000,000 by the banks here for their own account. Today's weekly statement of the New York Federal Reserve bank showed an increase in borrowings by member banks of $60,000,000.

These figures were considered high spots in the weekly brokers' loan and federal reserve statements. Borrowings of member banks in this district from the federal reserve bank here now stand at $184,000,000 against $114,000,000 a week ago and $123,000,000 a year ago.

Do Not Sell Them.

At the close of 1928 outstanding bank acceptances stood at $1,225,000,000, with the member banks holding only $48,000,000 and the federal reserve banks and foreign banks holding the balance. The federal reserve banks do not sell bank acceptances on the open market as is done in the case of holdings of government securities. What the federal reserve banks do in reducing their holdings of bank acceptances is to let such short term paper fall due without replacing it.

This is a powerful factor in the open money market policy of the federal reserve banks, for if the federal reserve banks reduce their holdings of outstanding bank acceptances the member banks must take care of such paper, thus reducing the amount of funds in the hands of the member banks available for stock market purposes. The federal reserve banks still hold $400,000,000 bank acceptances.

While directors and officials of the federal reserve bank here steadfastly refuse to discuss any phase of the unusual meeting held yesterday, it is understood the federal reserve board at Washington was in session from 2 until 7 o'clock and in close touch with the directors of the federal reserve bank here by open direct telephone.

In banking circles here it was widely reported today that the directors of the New York federal reserve bank favored an advance in the rediscount rate yesterday but that such action was withheld through strong arguments advanced by some members of the federal reserve board at Washington including Secretary Mellon. In banking circles here the feeling is growing that Secretary Mellon will not be able to long avoid criticism for recent activities in offsetting efforts of federal reserve officials to check stock speculation.

JOHN W. MEARS, 86, OF MONROE, MILL OFFICIAL, DEAD

Monroe, Ga., February 15.—(Special.)—John Wheeler Mears, Sr., 66 years old, for more than 20 years superintendent of the Monroe Cotton Mills and a well-known figure in Texile circles of the state, died at a hospital in this city at 1:10 o'clock this afternoon.

Although he had been in unsatisfactory health for about a year, Mr. Mears did not take to bed until Thursday night, his death occurring shortly after noon today and it came very unexpectedly.

Born in Burke county, Georgia, in 1863, Mr. Mears in early youth went to Augusta and learned cotton mill business, remaining in that city for a number of years. In 1896 he came to this city as the first superintendent of the Monroe Cotton Mills and with the exception of about seven years, spent in mill work elsewhere, principally in Lafayette, Ga., he remained in this position until his death.

Mr. Mears was a member of the First Methodist church of this city, and one of the most widely known and highly esteemed citizens of Walton county.

Surviving him are his widow, who lives in this city; his mother, Mrs. Ella L. Mears, of Augusta; one brother, James Mears, Augusta, and one sister, Mrs. Ed Griner, Augusta. He also leaves four sons and two daughters. They are John W. Mears, Jr., Chattanooga, Tenn.; W. L. Mears, Rome; Charles W. Mears, Monroe; Frank F. Mears, Atlanta; Mrs. Usher T. Almand, Monroe, and Mrs. R. R. Jackson, Atlanta.

Funeral arrangements are to be made tomorrow, upon the arrival of out-of-town members of the family. It is probable that the services will be held in this city Sunday.

Jumping Off Operating Table, Negro Flees From Working Doctor

New Orleans, February 15.—(AP)—While physicians were attempting to remove a bullet from his forehead, Curtis Foucha, 22-year-old negro, leaped from the operating table in a local hospital late last night and fled the building.

Pain of the bullet in his head was severe, but the negro liked that more than the probings of the surgeons.

Several hours later he was found in bed at his mother's home and returned to the hospital, where his condition was pronounced serious.

He was shot accidentally by his wife's 15-year-old sister. She took a revolver from a drawer and, thinking it was unloaded, pulled the trigger.

TAMPA DIPLOMA MILL CONDUCTOR DRAWS SENTENCE

Tampa, Fla., February 15.—(AP)—Dr. George A. Munch, convicted in federal court here this morning of selling fake medical diplomas and licenses, was sentenced by Judge Lake Jones to serve five years in the Atlanta penitentiary and pay a fine of $1,000. The jury was out 20 minutes.

During the trial several alleged fake diplomas and licenses, said to have been issued by Dr. Munch as secretary of the old Florida state eclectic medical examining board, were offered in evidence. Several physicians testified they paid Dr. Munch for diplomas and licenses to practice in Florida. The amounts ranged from $200 to $1,500.

SUPREME COURT'S ACTION ON PROHI ARREST IS ASKED

Washington, February 15.—(AP)—The supreme court was asked today by Vincent and Thomas J. Geraghty and Joseph W. Clark, of Baltimore, to review their convictions for violation of the prohibition act on their declaration that the search warrant under which they were arrested was invalid.

The men were convicted in June, 1927, sentenced to serve six months and fined $250 each. The conviction was affirmed on appeal and on January 18 of this year the circuit court of appeals granted a 25-day stay to apply for a review by the supreme court.

It was contended that the circuit court rendered a decision "in conflict with its own decisions on the matter of search and seizure," the brief declaring that the warrant, issued on the sworn complaint of one Robert Speller, "did not properly describe the premises where the sale was alleged to have been made."

Settles Tax Suit.

Savannah, Ga., February 15.—(AP) Judge W. H. Barrett, in United States district court here today, signed the order of settlement in the income tax case against W. H. Haar, and others, involving liquor sales' incomes in which $135,000 is accepted upon agreement of the parties. This ends the suit which was originally for $1,900,000 and subsequently reduced to $238,000 by amendment, save that the details of payment are still to be carried out.

Mortuary

IRA M. ATKINS.
Rome, Ga., February 15.—(Special.)—Ira M. Atkins, 73, died suddenly Wednesday night at his home at Six Miles Station. Mr. Atkins worked in Lindale and went to work Tuesday but Wednesday was not well, though he was not thought to be really ill. He was a faithful member of the Baptist church and is survived by his widow and ten children and many grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon from the South Lindale Baptist church. The Rev. J. H. Johnston will conduct the services. Burial will be in the Lindale cemetery.

ANNELL HOLCOMB.
Rome, Ga., February 15.—(Special.)—Annell, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Holcomb, died Wednesday at her parents' home after a short illness. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon from West Rome Baptist church, conducted by the Rev. Tom Collins. The little girl is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Collins, well-known Romans.

AVENELLE SELMAN.
Rome, Ga., February 15.—(Special.)—Funeral services were held Friday morning from Old Armuchee Baptist church, for Avenelle Selman, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Selman, who died Wednesday night at the little girl's parents' home near Summerville. The Rev. J. E. Smith conducted the services. The little girl is survived by her parents and the following sisters and brothers: Geneva Selman, Grace Selman, Nan Selman, Walter Selman, Claude Selman and Charlie Selman, all of Detroit, and Sarah Selman, Pauline Selman, Mildred Selman, Willie Selman, J. T. Selman and Ed Selman, of Armuchee.

DR. W. J. LANFORD.
Clayton, Ga., February 15.—(Special.)—Dr. W. J. Lanford, a well-known dentist of this place, fell dead at Tiger, Ga., four miles below here at a dance at Clyde Ramey's, given by the Ladies' Aid society. The ladies gave a supper which was followed by an old time country dance. Dr. Lanford had just gone through one set when he fell back and expired immediately. He had practiced dentistry here for something like a dozen years. He came here from Atlanta. This is the second dentist that has died here suddenly. Dr. McJunkin died in a similar manner some eight years ago. The doctor who was called in to see Dr. Lanford thought he might have died from heart failure or apoplexy. Funeral services will likely take place in Atlanta.
